100,000 Reds Protest West In Flare-Ups

U.S. Embassy Marched On In Moscow

MOSCOW (AP)—A massive mob of Russians smashed 275 windows in the U. S. Embassy Friday and splashed its walls with blue and green ink in a rowdy three-hour protest against U. S. troop landings in Lebanon.

More than 100,000 Muscovites, many of them streaming out of factories and offices, packed the 10-lane boulevard running past the embassy. A raucous human sea stretched for half a mile on each side of the building in the biggest demonstration in Moscow since the victory celebrations of World War II.

A Soviet television network televised the demonstration.

One of the demonstrators fired an air rifle at the 9th-floor office window of U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson Jr. The pellet, nearly spent, did not go through. No Americans in the building were reported hurt.

Take Shelter

U.S. personnel in the embassy took shelter in the rear of the building. Office furniture and equipment had been moved to the rear also. The demonstration had been expected.

It was the second day in a row the Russians had massed before the building. Thursday a comparative handful of 2,000 demonstrators massed in front of the building in a howling protest.

Thompson lodged no immediate protest with the Soviet government. Embassy officials indicated, however, one would be made after the damage had been tallied.

The demonstration raged more than three hours before a force of about 1,000 Soviet militiamen and soldiers made a determined effort to break up the crowd .About 300 militiamen were there at the start.

Every window on the first three floors of the 10-story building was smashed under a barrage of ink bottles, ball bearings, brickbats, poster poles, stones, and sticks that lasted more than one hour.

CHIEFS CONFER

Dulles, British Plan Strategy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — British and American diplomatic and military chiefs mapped joint strategy Friday for preventing the spread of anti-Western revolts in the powder-keg Middle East.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, flanked by military experts, conferred at length at the state department for the second day in a row.

Dulles invited Lloyd and Sidney Smith, the Canadian minister for external affairs, to continue the discussions with him at dinner.

It was understood the Anglo-American leaders concentrated their attention on Lebanon and Jordan, where U.S. and British troops have been stationed to prevent the existing pro-Western governments from succumbing to coups by pro-Soviet Arab nationalists.

Discuss Future

They also discussed future U.S.-British policy toward nearby Iraq, the oil-rich Mideast nation whose pro-Western government was toppled in a bloody revolt earlier this week.

Oil from Iraq is the life blood of industry in Britain, France, and Italy. The United States has charged that the Iraqi revolt was encouraged by President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the pro-Soviet united Arab republic.

Dulles went to his second round of conferences with Lloyd directly from a cabinet meeting presided over by President Eisenhower.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Dulles gave the meeting a review of the grave Mideast crisis "as it stands this morning."

Gen. Nathan F. Twining, the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the man mainly responsible for U.S. troop movements in the troubled area, also attended the 90-minute cabinet meeting.

Denies Report

Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy and his top military aides also participated in the subsequent meeting with Lloyd.

Hagerty denied a published report the United States and Britain have agreed not to interfere with the revolutionary junta now ruling Iraq so long as it does not interrupt the flow of oil to the West.

This retreat is not to be confused with the annual Monroe District Retreat held in Chemin-a-Haut state park near Bastrop in September.

Nasser Gives Vows Of War Amid Cheers

Pledges To Fight 'To Last Drop' With Aggression

CAIRO (AP) — President Nasser declared Friday night that aggression will be met with aggression in the Middle East and that no power can destroy Arab nationalism.

"We will not fear the threats of fleets and atomic bombs," the President of the United Arab Republic said, "because these bombs and fleets will disintegrate and Arab nationalism will remain.

"We are prepared for all eventualities and the worst, but we will befriend those who befriend us and meet aggression with aggression."

Nasser spoke before a cheering mass meeting in Damascus, capital of his Syrian province, a day after his talks with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in Moscow. He is scheduled to return to Egypt Saturday.

He asserted the United States and Britain should know the era of occupation has ended.

If America and Britain "antagonize us, we shall fight to the last drop of our blood," Nasser said. "This is our patch and motto."

Nasser asserted the flag of liberation would soon be raised in Algeria, Amman and Beirut. He said the people there are struggling for independence and freedom.

"You have brothers in Libya, Sudan, Yemen," he said. "This Arab nationalism which no power in the world can destroy."

Nasser likened the present Mideast crisis to the 1956 Suez crisis. He said American and British troops had landed in Lebanon and Jordan under a pretext of protecting those two countries from alleged U.A.R. interference.

"This," he said, "is in disregard of all moral values and principles

Warn Arabs Of Attacking U.S. Troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has warned that grave consequences could occur in the Middle East if Egyptian-Syrian forces attacked U.S. troops in Lebanon.

The State Department disclosed Friday that this warning had been given in Cairo Thursday about the time Egyptian President Nasser was meeting secretely in Moscow with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The department made it public a few hours after Moscow officially disclosed that Nasser and Khrushchev had met "on the question of stopping the aggression of the United States and other colonial powers."

Top Eisenhower administration authorities were reported to view the Khrushchev-Nasser parley as signaling a tense war of nerves against the West rather than a decision to intervene militarily against British and U.S. forces in the Mideast.

Vow Reasserted

They reasserted this view even after Nasser stopped off in Damascus to denounce the sending of U.S. Marines into Lebanon and the landing of British paratroops in Jordan. He hinted at possible Arab retaliation. In Moscow, the Soviet Foreign Office said the Russians intend to take whatever measures they deem necessary to

Senate Probers Call For Action In 'Conspiracy'

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Senate rackets investigators demanded strong federal action Friday to crack down on what they called a "massive national conspiracy" by gangsters to take over labor-management relations.

They urged Congress, among other things, to arm the FBI with more power, establish a national crime commission and authorize federal action where interstate commerce has fallen into underworld hands.

The proposals capped two weeks of committee hearings on alleged underworld infiltration of Chicago restaurant union and employer groups. The testimony was sprinkled with charges of threats, violence and connivance and refusals by gangland figures to testify.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said "the sordid situation revealed in Chicago cries out for remedial action which is beyond the power of this committee." He was joined in this view by Sens. Karl E. Mundt (R-S.D.) and Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb.).

The two Republicans protested, however, when McClellan put into the record a staff document contending that 27 Chicago restaurants were "saving" a total of $258,500 a year by paying less than union wages.

Russia Vetoes U.S. Proposal For U.N. Force

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI) —Russia vetoed late Friday the American proposal to send a United Nations police force into Lebanon and the United States immediately moved formally to call the U. N. General Assembly into session to consider the plan.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge's proposal that the Security Council, which has been debating the Middle East crisis for the past four days, summon an emergency session of the assembly came as a surprise.

Russia had threatened to demand such a session if the council refused to order American and British forces out of Lebanon and Jordan immediately.

Russian Resolution Rejected

The council rejected by an 8-1 vote, with Sweden and Japan abstaining, Soviet Ambassador Arkady A. Sobolev's resolution calling for immediate action to get the Americans and British out of the Middle East. Only Sobolev voted for it.

IMMEDIATE RESIGNATION

Sigler To Resign Angola Position

By JAMES MCLEAN

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Warden Maurice Sigler, center of a stormy political feud four months ago touching his use of a former New Orleans stripteaser as his inmate secretary, said Friday he will submit a letter of resignation immediately because of "persistent rumors" about his prison administration.

The slight, grim-faced Sigler, 49, who has been praised repeatedly by Gov. Earl Long for his work at Angola, the state penitentiary, walked silently from a closed meeting of an institutions board subcommittee.

A few moments later, institutions chairman G. Earl Guinn issued a terse, prepared statement saying Warden Sigler "appeared and stated that because of persistent rumors related to his administration at Angola, he had concluded it is well in the interest of the institution for him to submit his resignation. He stated that a letter of resignation would be submitted to the chairman of the board immediately."

That was all.

Terse Statement

Board member E. A. Lee Sr., Natchitoches, chairman of the board's subcommittee on penal and correctional institutions which conducted the closed session with Sigler, and institutions Director E. R. Anderson declined to tell what the "persistent rumors" involved.

He was brought to Louisiana in 1952 by former Gov. Robert Kennon to help in prison reform work at the once violently troublesome Angola.

Both Sigler and Dr. Edward Grant, former institutions director who resigned March 13 after a public flareup with Sigler, were Kennon men retained by Long.

Gov. Long was unavailable for comment. Sigler could not be reached later for comment.

Grant stepped out, submitting his resignation to the board after a few weeks of turmoil March 13, growing out of a spat with Sigler.

Car Liability Rates Slated For Increase

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The state Friday authoried an average $9-a-year boost in auto liability insurance, with increases ranging up to $13 in some areas.

The average rate boost is 18.9 per cent.

In the most common classifications of auto liability insurance, the average rate of $47 a year will be increased to $56.

Chairman Ed Wingate of the casualty and surety division of the Louisiana Insurance Rating Commission announced the increase, effective Aug. 27.

"It is well known," Wingate said, "that the frequency and severity of automobile accidents in Louisiana and throughout the nation pose a problem that must be solved."

Second In A Year

It was the second liability rate boost in a year. On July 10 a year ago, auto liability rates were boosted an average $4-$5, costing motorists an estimated extra $1,700,000 annually.

Last April 2, physical damage costs of auto insurance in Louisiana was raised an average 20.7 per cent because, state insurance officials said then, 1957 was one of Louisiana's worst years in automobile accident history.

In the new auto liability announcement today, Wingate said there are eight rating territories in the state with the amount of increase varying by territory.

In the Shreveport area of Caddo - Bossier - DeSoto parishes, rates will be cut slightly—about a dollar per car—because of good traffic experience.

Swap Threats As Red China Backs Russia

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The United States and Britain poured more troops, planes and warships into the Middle East Friday in the face of a loudly rising chorus of communist threats. Red China joined the Soviet Union in threatening dire consequences for the West.

Rival American and Soviet resolutions on the crisis failed in the U.N. Security Council.

The United States then called for an emergency session of the 81-nation General Assembly to pursue the effort to avert war. The council adjourned until Monday without acting.

Warnings were exchanged between the United States and President Nasser's Egyptian - Syrian United Arab Republic over the crisis that burst Monday with the revolt that felled Iraq's pro-Western government.

The U.S. State Department disclosed Cairo Ambassador Raymond Hare had notified Nasser's government that any attack on U.S. forces in the Mideast by U.A.R. military units or units under U.A.R. control "could involve grave consequences."

Last Drop

Nasser responded with a declaration that if the United States and Britain "antagonize us we shall fight to the last drop of our blood. . .we are prepared for all eventualities." The Arab nationalist leader spoke in Damascus on his way home from a secret conference in Moscow with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The Kremlin declared it "will have to take the necessary measures dictated by the interests of the Soviet Union" against the troop landings in Lebanon and Jordan.

The Soviet Union called the entry of the troops—requested by the chiefs of state of Lebanon and Jordan to counter foreign threats against their governments—"this unprovoked aggression in a region adjacent to its (Russia's) borders."

War Of Nerves

Washington authorities looked for a tense war of nerves. Secretary of State Dulles accused Russia of fomenting anti-Western revolution in the Middle East.

Speculation among Western diplomats in London ran in two channels. One was that the communist bloc—following Red China's example in the Korean War—would send so-called volunteers to the

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Maj. Gen. Claire Lee Chennault lay near death Friday night after Congress hurriedly passed a bill to give him one more star.

The 67 - year - old former commander of the Flying Tigers "took a turn for the worse" Thursday night and was in "critical condition" with lung cancer, according to a hospital spokesman.

The House and then the Senate Friday unanimously approved Rep. F. Edward Hebert's D-La. bill making Chennault a lieutenant general.

Ex-Army Man Doubts Adams' Policy Ethics

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A former army official said Friday he questioned last year whether Sherman Adams was guilty of "highly unethical" conduct in pressing for a government contract refund for a New England textile firm.

The statement came from Roswell M. Austin, former chairman of the Armed Forces Board of Contract Appeals. He said he wrote a critical memorandum on the case in the spring of 1957 because of some evidence that pressure was being brought to bear.

Austin talked to a reporter shortly after Adams' old friend, gift - giving millionaire Bernard Goldfine, flew back to Boston after a personal conference with the chief presidential aide.

Goldfine, who is not involved in the new case, said he intended to continue sending Adams gifts "as I have before." He said he and his wife spent last evening at the Adams home.

Goldfine's gifts to Adams and other government workers resulted in eight days of stormy hearings before House influence investigators which recessed indefinitely Thursday.

Last Of Captives Released In Cuba

GUANTANAMO BAY, Cuba (UPI)—The Cuban rebels, suddenly speeding up their release of captive U. S. Sailors and Marines, freed the last 14 of them Friday because the U. S. government "may want you to go to Lebanon."

The 14 were released in four groups and airlifted back to the U. S. naval base here by helicopter. They were the last of a total of 50 Americans and Canadians seized to dramatize the rebels' fight against the government of Cuban President Fulgencio Batista.

One of the men released Friday, Navy aviation boatswain's mate 3rd class John L. Bondi, of Norfolk, Va., reported to Navy officials here that rebel officers told him they were freeing the prisoners "because of the Lebanon situation."

Rebels Give Reason

Bondi quoted the rebels as saying they did not want to interfere with the U. S. government "who may want to send you to Lebanon," where U. S. Marines have landed to help preserve Middle East peace and protect American nationals.

Before Friday, the rebels had freed only small groups of four or five prisoners daily and sometimes less. The release ended a continuous round of negotiations with the rebels by U. S. officials since the first hostages were taken on June 26, in protest against alleged U. S. aid to the Cuban government. At one time, 30 servicemen were among the total of 50 captives held.

Eight servicemen were released in the first two trips out of the hills of Oriente Province by two U. S. Navy helicopters. They were: Cpl. Thomas W. Cody, USMC, of Philadelphia; Cpl. Carmelo De Jesus Narvaez, USMC,

Widow Of Solon Will Seek Post

Mrs. Chachere said she will qualify for a seat in the House of Representatives when the Democratic Executive Committee meets here Saturday.

"I want to carry out the work for Franklin parish which had been started by my late husband, Rep. Walter Chachere," Mrs. Chachere stated. "I'll stand for the same things that he did."

Chachere died of a heart attack about two weeks after the Legislature convened in late May. The seat was left vacant and Gov. Earl K. Long called a special election for August 23rd.

Long's leaders indicated prior to the adjournment of the past session that a special session would be called for the latter part of October or early November.

Warm Weather

The weather will give a repeat performance today, duplicating yesterday's hot, cloudy scenes.

Yesterday, the official high temperature was 93, although even officials agreed that it "seemed "hotter." Low early Friday morning was 74. The temperature was much the same as the day before when the high was 95 and the low was 70.

BEAR-INFESTED FOREST

Youngsters Home From Wooded Area

ASH LAKE, Minn. (UPI) — A young brother and sister, sought in a bear-infested wilderness for three days by 100 searchers, found their own way out of the forest Friday.

Francine Crego, 10, and her brother, Michael, 8, merely climbed a fire tower in the woods surrounding Ash Lake, got their bearings, and walked out.

Sheriff Sam Owens, one of the leaders of the search party of volunteers and National Guardsmen, said the children and their pet cocker spaniel were none the worse for two nights and three days in the forest.

The children had been lost since Wednesday, when they set out from their grandfather's summer cottage here on a berry-picking expedition. They still had their pails with them when they walked out of the words Thursday.

Were In Good Health

Owens said the brother and sister had a few scratches and were suffering slightly from exposure, but were otherwise in good condition.

The searchers had all but give up hope for their lives. One of the leaders said earlier "We have to find them today. If we don't there probably won't be much more use looking any more."

The area where the children were lost is also the home of bears and timber wolves. As the seemingly hopeless search progressed, the children's plight reminded volunteers of the fairy tale stories of the Babes in the Woods and Hansel and Gretel.

Just like their story-book counterparts, Francine and Michael huddled together in the midst of the forest during their two nights in the wilderness.

They used their dog, Mickey, as a pillow and picked the wood ticks off each other both nights before going to sleep. Their only food was the berries they had picked.

"You have brothers in Libya, Sudan, Yemen," he said. "This Arab nationalism which no power in the world can destroy."

Nasser likened the present Mideast crisis to the 1956 Suez crisis. He said American and British troops had landed in Lebanon and Jordan under a pretext of protecting those two countries from alleged U.A.R. interference.

"This," he said, "is in disregard of all moral values and principles

Senate Probers Call For Action In 'Conspiracy'

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Senate rackets investigators demanded strong federal action Friday to crack down on what they called a "massive national conspiracy" by gangsters to take over labor-management relations.

They urged Congress, among other things, to arm the FBI with more power, establish a national crime commission and authorize federal action where interstate commerce has fallen into underworld hands.

The proposals capped two weeks of committee hearings on alleged underworld infiltration of Chicago restaurant union and employer groups. The testimony was sprinkled with charges of threats, violence and connivance and refusals by gangland figures to testify.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said "the sordid situation revealed in Chicago cries out for remedial action which is beyond the power of this committee." He was joined in this view by Sens. Karl E. Mundt (R-S.D.) and Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb.).

The two Republicans protested, however, when McClellan put into the record a staff document contending that 27 Chicago restaurants were "saving" a total of $258,500 a year by paying less than union wages.

Widow Of Solon Will Seek Post

Mrs. Chachere said she will qualify for a seat in the House of Representatives when the Democratic Executive Committee meets here Saturday.

"I want to carry out the work for Franklin parish which had been started by my late husband, Rep. Walter Chachere," Mrs. Chachere stated. "I'll stand for the same things that he did."

Chachere died of a heart attack about two weeks after the Legislature convened in late May. The seat was left vacant and Gov. Earl K. Long called a special election for August 23rd.

Long's leaders indicated prior to the adjournment of the past session that a special session would be called for the latter part of October or early November.

Warn Arabs Of Attacking U.S. Troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has warned that grave consequences could occur in the Middle East if Egyptian-Syrian forces attacked U.S. troops in Lebanon.

The State Department disclosed Friday that this warning had been given in Cairo Thursday about the time Egyptian President Nasser was meeting secretely in Moscow with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The department made it public a few hours after Moscow officially disclosed that Nasser and Khrushchev had met "on the question of stopping the aggression of the United States and other colonial powers."

Top Eisenhower administration authorities were reported to view the Khrushchev-Nasser parley as signaling a tense war of nerves against the West rather than a decision to intervene militarily against British and U.S. forces in the Mideast.

Vow Reasserted

They reasserted this view even after Nasser stopped off in Damascus to denounce the sending of U.S. Marines into Lebanon and the landing of British paratroops in Jordan. He hinted at possible Arab retaliation. In Moscow, the Soviet Foreign Office said the Russians intend to take whatever measures they deem necessary to

Russia Vetoes U.S. Proposal For U.N. Force

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI) —Russia vetoed late Friday the American proposal to send a United Nations police force into Lebanon and the United States immediately moved formally to call the U. N. General Assembly into session to consider the plan.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge's proposal that the Security Council, which has been debating the Middle East crisis for the past four days, summon an emergency session of the assembly came as a surprise.

Russia had threatened to demand such a session if the council refused to order American and British forces out of Lebanon and Jordan immediately.

Russian Resolution Rejected

The council rejected by an 8-1 vote, with Sweden and Japan abstaining, Soviet Ambassador Arkady A. Sobolev's resolution calling for immediate action to get the Americans and British out of the Middle East. Only Sobolev voted for it.

Warm Weather

The weather will give a repeat performance today, duplicating yesterday's hot, cloudy scenes.

Yesterday, the official high temperature was 93, although even officials agreed that it "seemed "hotter." Low early Friday morning was 74. The temperature was much the same as the day before when the high was 95 and the low was 70.

IMMEDIATE RESIGNATION

By JAMES MCLEAN

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Warden Maurice Sigler, center of a stormy political feud four months ago touching his use of a former New Orleans stripteaser as his inmate secretary, said Friday he will submit a letter of resignation immediately because of "persistent rumors" about his prison administration.

The slight, grim-faced Sigler, 49, who has been praised repeatedly by Gov. Earl Long for his work at Angola, the state penitentiary, walked silently from a closed meeting of an institutions board subcommittee.

A few moments later, institutions chairman G. Earl Guinn issued a terse, prepared statement saying Warden Sigler "appeared and stated that because of persistent rumors related to his administration at Angola, he had concluded it is well in the interest of the institution for him to submit his resignation. He stated that a letter of resignation would be submitted to the chairman of the board immediately."

That was all.

Terse Statement

Board member E. A. Lee Sr., Natchitoches, chairman of the board's subcommittee on penal and correctional institutions which conducted the closed session with Sigler, and institutions Director E. R. Anderson declined to tell what the "persistent rumors" involved.

He was brought to Louisiana in 1952 by former Gov. Robert Kennon to help in prison reform work at the once violently troublesome Angola.

Both Sigler and Dr. Edward Grant, former institutions director who resigned March 13 after a public flareup with Sigler, were Kennon men retained by Long.

Gov. Long was unavailable for comment. Sigler could not be reached later for comment.

Grant stepped out, submitting his resignation to the board after a few weeks of turmoil March 13, growing out of a spat with Sigler.

Car Liability Rates Slated For Increase

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The state Friday authoried an average $9-a-year boost in auto liability insurance, with increases ranging up to $13 in some areas.

The average rate boost is 18.9 per cent.

In the most common classifications of auto liability insurance, the average rate of $47 a year will be increased to $56.

Chairman Ed Wingate of the casualty and surety division of the Louisiana Insurance Rating Commission announced the increase, effective Aug. 27.

"It is well known," Wingate said, "that the frequency and severity of automobile accidents in Louisiana and throughout the nation pose a problem that must be solved."

Second In A Year

It was the second liability rate boost in a year. On July 10 a year ago, auto liability rates were boosted an average $4-$5, costing motorists an estimated extra $1,-700,000 annually.

Last April 2, physical damage costs of auto insurance in Louisiana was raised an average 20.7 per cent because, state insurance officials said then, 1957 was one of Louisiana's worst years in automobile accident history.

In the new auto liability announcement today, Wingate said there are eight rating territories in the state with the amount of increase varying by territory.

In the Shreveport area of Caddo - Bossier - DeSoto parishes, rates will be cut slightly—about a dollar per car—because of good traffic experience.

BEAR-INFESTED FOREST

Youngsters Home From Wooded Area

ASH LAKE, Minn. (UPI) — A young brother and sister, sought in a bear-infested wilderness for three days by 100 searchers, found their own way out of the forest Friday.

Francine Crego, 10, and her brother, Michael, 8, merely climbed a fire tower in the woods surrounding Ash Lake, got their bearings, and walked out.

Sheriff Sam Owens, one of the leaders of the search party of volunteers and National Guardsmen, said the children and their pet cocker spaniel were none the worse for two nights and three days in the forest.

The children had been lost since Wednesday, when they set out from their grandfather's summer cottage here on a berry-picking expedition. They still had their pails with them when they walked out of the words Thursday.

Were In Good Health

Owens said the brother and sister had a few scratches and were suffering slightly from exposure, but were otherwise in good condition.

The searchers had all but give up hope for their lives. One of the leaders said earlier "We have to find them today. If we don't there probably won't be much more use looking any more."

The area where the children were lost is also the home of bears and timber wolves. As the seemingly hopeless search progressed, the children's plight reminded volunteers of the fairy tale stories of the Babes in the Woods and Hansel and Gretel.

Just like their story-book counterparts, Francine and Michael huddled together in the midst of the forest during their two nights in the wilderness.

They used their dog, Mickey, as a pillow and picked the wood ticks off each other both nights before going to sleep. Their only food was the berries they had picked.

Swap Threats As Red China Backs Russia

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The United States and Britain poured more troops, planes and warships into the Middle East Friday in the face of a loudly rising chorus of communist threats. Red China joined the Soviet Union in threatening dire consequences for the West.

Rival American and Soviet resolutions on the crisis failed in the U.N. Security Council.

The United States then called for an emergency session of the 81-nation General Assembly to pursue the effort to avert war. The council adjourned until Monday without acting.

Warnings were exchanged between the United States and President Nasser's Egyptian - Syrian United Arab Republic over the crisis that burst Monday with the revolt that felled Iraq's pro-Western government.

The U.S. State Department disclosed Cairo Ambassador Raymond Hare had notified Nasser's government that any attack on U.S. forces in the Mideast by U.A.R. military units or units under U.A.R. control "could involve grave consequences."

Last Drop

Nasser responded with a declaration that if the United States and Britain "antagonize us we shall fight to the last drop of our blood. . .we are prepared for all eventualities." The Arab nationalist leader spoke in Damascus on his way home from a secret conference in Moscow with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The Kremlin declared it "will have to take the necessary measures dictated by the interests of the Soviet Union" against the troop landings in Lebanon and Jordan.

The Soviet Union called the entry of the troops—requested by the chiefs of state of Lebanon and Jordan to counter foreign threats against their governments—"this unprovoked aggression in a region adjacent to its (Russia's) borders."

War Of Nerves

Washington authorities looked for a tense war of nerves. Secretary of State Dulles accused Russia of fomenting anti-Western revolution in the Middle East.

Speculation among Western diplomats in London ran in two channels. One was that the communist bloc—following Red China's example in the Korean War—would send so-called volunteers to the

Gen. Chennault On Critical List, Gets Third Star

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Maj. Gen. Claire Lee Chennault lay near death Friday night after Congress hurriedly passed a bill to give him one more star.

The 67 - year - old former commander of the Flying Tigers "took a turn for the worse" Thursday night and was in "critical condition" with lung cancer, according to a hospital spokesman.

The House and then the Senate Friday unanimously approved Rep. F. Edward Hebert's D-La. bill making Chennault a lieutenant general.

Chennault was in better spirits following last Friday's visit of his long time friend, Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, and the bedside reunion of his family, their first in 21 years.

However, he reportedly weakened during the night at Ochsner Foundation Clinic where he has Mideast. The other was that the Reds would limit their activities for the moment to trying to capitalize on the situation politically.

Cairo was first to announce the Nasser-Khrushchev meeting, an unexpected sequel to the Arab's leader's recent visit with President Tito of Yugoslavia. The Soviet government confirmed that Khrushchev and Nasser had met.

Moscow said they discussed "the question of stopping the aggression of the United States and other colonial powers" and "insuring peace and the independence of the Arab countries."

Diplomats in London speculated that the two discussed sending Soviet troops to the U.A.R. province of Syria to counter the U.S. landings in Lebanon and the airlift of British paratroopers to Jordan.

But the buildup sped on. The United States flew 1.200 Marines from Camp Lejeune, N.C., to Beirut.

Another 1,700 Marines came ashore earlier Friday from the gathering fleet offshore. This brought the total of Marines in Lebanon to 6,300. Army paratroopers flying from Germany by way of Turkey are expected Saturday.

Britain had 2,000 crack Red Devil paratroopers in Jordan and was ready to fly in more from the east Mediterranean base island of Cyprus.

More warships of the U.S. 6th Fleet arrived off Lebanon, including the missile-firing cruiser Boston. A staff officer said 70 of the fleet's 75 ships are in the eastern Mediterranean "in a position where they can do the most good." British warships were on the move to the same general area.

A U.S. striking force of 100 jet fighters, bombers and transport planes had assembled in Turkey, where 2,000 paratroopers flown from West Germany were on the alert. More U.S. planes ferrying men and material to the Middle East sped through Naples.

Soviet armed forces ran off military maneuvers along the frontiers of Turkey and Iran, partners of the West under the Baghdad Pact.

An Iranian eyewitness said the glare of rockets and gunfire "changed night into bright day" on the Iranian side of the border. Steel-nerved Turkey took the demonstration of military might calmly.

The Soviet Union kept up the pressure by staging a violent demonstration of 100,000 Russians outside the U.S. Embassy in Moscow. The crowd smashed windows and hurled ink against the walls. A smaller demonstration eddied around the British Embassy.

It was the second demonstration in two days before the U.S. Embassy. It is the sort of maneuver Soviet officials use to fire up the people.

Communist mobs in Potsdam, East Germany, kept pace. They ripped down the American and British flags over military missions there.

News of the meeting between Nasser and Khrushchev startled the world—including Cairo.

Nasser Friday was in Damascus, capital of his Syrian province.

The people in Cairo had been led to believe Nasser was coming home in his yacht from conferences with President Tito in Yugoslavia.

Nasser's Yugoslav hosts also voiced surprise. They said Nasser gave no inkling of his intentions when he left there Monday. That was the day Nasser supporters in Iraq seized power and killed pro-Western King Faisal II and Premier Nuri Said.

There was only sporadic firing Friday in Beirut, where the rebellion against President Camille Chamoun has been sputtering two months. But the city was tense and rebel forces indicated there might be fireworks soon.

The Marines came in at Chamoun's request, under orders from President Eisenhower. Chamoun said their presence was needed to protect Lebanon's independence from massive intervention by the U.A.R.

Saeb Salam, ex-premier and leader of the rebels in Beirut, contends U.S. intervention has ended any chance of an internal solution of Lebanon's crisis.

His Chinese-born wife, from his bedside at the hospital, said, "He was very happy about it. A star means a lot to any general."

Mrs. Chennault said Dryce Harlow, assistant to Hebert telephoned the hospital the President had signed the promotion bill and that Eisenhower had expressed concern over Chennault's condition.

When the word was relayed to Chennault, Mrs. Chennault said he instructed her to telegraph Eisenhower, thanking him for the honor.

sign to Gov. Long after Grant, his superior officer, had asked Sigler to set a definite deadline for dismissal of Penny Kent, his inmate private secretary. The warden later said he would continue in office "as long as I am wanted."

Since that time, the institutions board installed Victor G. Walker and Ernest Welch as associate wardens at Angola.

Anderson said Walker has been in charge while Sigler was on vacation, and probably would remain in charge temporarily.

Lee said he had no idea who a replacement would be. Questioned about the exact date of Sigler's resignation, Lee replied that would be determined after Sigler has written his letter to the board chairman.

He indicated acceptance of the resignation probably would be acted upon at the next regular board meeting July 31, "unless a special board meeting is called earlier." But he knew of no plans for a special meeting.

Subcommittee members apparently conferred earlier with Gov. Long, but Lee, when questioned about this, declined to say. He said he preferred to let the statement by Guinn speak for itself.

Lee and Anderson replied "not necessarily" when asked whether Sigler's resignation step was linked with a legislative committee report on Angola submitted at the close of the 1958 session saying Angola "is still a very rotten institution."

The committee recognized Sigler for his "excellent character" and "devotion to duty."

But the committee report added "it was evident he treated lightly our diversions into penal theories. . .we will not discuss morals in the state penitentiary, but we must tell you that we do not think there has been any real improvement in recent years."

A few days ago Anderson confirmed Mrs. Elizabeth C. Mouledous had been fired at Angola where she was in charge of the women's camp.

Mrs. Mouledous was in Anderson's office during the day.

When he confirmed the Mouledous dismissal a few days ago, Anderson said he was investigating reports that Mrs. Mouledous' dismissal followed a disciplinary action against Miss Kent.

The servicemen released Friday were among 18 sailors and 11 Marines who were kidnaped by the rebels June 28 from a bus bringing them back to the base from an outing. A 30th was seized the next day.

Seaman T. Robert Mosness, of Ames, Iowa, who was kidnaped alone on June 29, was suddenly released by himself on July 10. It wasn't until five days later that the rebels began freeing the rest of the 29 servicemen in small groups.

U. S. Consul at Santiago de Duba Park Wollam and his vice consul, Robert Weicha, handled the negotiations with the rebels for release of the 30 servicemen and 20 civilians kidnaped. The two officials spent days in the hills with the rebel leaders arranging for the releases.

Nasser Gives Vows Of War Amid Cheers

—this occupation from America, which has fought Britain for her independence. How does America forget herself and take up this imperialist role and occupy Lebanon?"

Nasser said the United States informed the U.A.R. Thursday the U.A.R. was responsible for the security of American troops in Lebanon.

"I don't understand how America can occupy Lebanon and that we can be considered responsible for protecting the occupation troops," he said.

Nasser added that he wondered why the West was disturbed at the Iraqi revolution. He said Iraq's oil will remain free and will reach the West.

"We tell your brothers in Iraq that we are with them because our battle is one," Nasser said, "because we are one people and one nation.

"I declare in your name that we will carry arms to defend the torch of freedom, which has become victorious in Iraq, and defend our independence and victory which we have achieved," Nasser said.

(As heard in Jerusalem over Radio Damascus, Nasser said that if Iraq is attacked he will stand behind it.

(Arab nationalism is the term Nasser uses to define his announced aim of promoting a unity of all the Arabs. These reach from North Africa to the borders of Iran and Turkey.)

Nasser's speech made no mention of his surprise trip to Moscow. The Soviet radio's version of this was that Nasser and Khrushchev discussed "the question of stopping the aggression of the United States and other colonial powers."

"Their talk took place in a friendly atmosphere and referred to the question of stopping the aggression of the United States and other colonial powers in the Near and Middle East and insuring peace and the independence of the Arab countries." Moscow said.

A communique issued in Cairo and Damascus said:

"The two leaders exchanged views on development of the present international situation and what is needed for the preservation of peace. An atmosphere of amity and understanding prevailed during the meeting."

In Cairo, U. S. Ambassador Raymond Hare met for more than an hour Friday with Ali Sabri, Egyptian state minister for presidential affairs and acting foreign minister.

The U. S. Embassy said Hare requested the meeting but would not say what was discussed.

All Cairo newspapers charged the main objective of the U. S. landings in Lebanon and the British landings in Jordan was to deal a blow to Arab nationalism.

The Middle East News Agency gave this version of Nasser's trip to Moscow after his talks with President Tito in Yugoslavia:

"Nasser sailed from Pula, Yugoslavia, last Saturday for the return trip to Cairo. He sailed two days in the Adriatic. When he learned about the American troop landings in Lebanon and increase of tension in the area, Nasser returned to Pula, where he met with Tito to discuss the situation.

"From Pula, Nasser, accompanied by U.A.R. Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi, went to Brioni. From Brioni, Fawzi and Nasser flew to Moscow. . ."

Some windows were broken as high as the eighth floor.

About 100 Russians staged a demonstration outside the British Embassy in protest against British forces landing in Jordan. But this crowd was not in the ugly mood of the mob jamming the boulevard.

The demonstrations sprang up after a delegation of Soviet factory workers called on Thompson with a petition protesting the Marine landings in the Middle East. Thompson conferred with their leaders in his office and told them the Unitel States was invited into Lebanon by that nation's legitimate government. He said the matter was before the United Nation and U.S. forces would pull out as soon as a U.N. police force takes over.

In the afternoon, about 2,000 demonstrators piled out of buses and trucks and marched in orderly columns toward the embassy. Military music blared out of the loudspeakers on the platform and in between Communist agitators took a microphone and roared out anti-U.S. slogans. Soon the crowd began to swell, becoming more raucous and nasty as it did.

Six platoons of Soviet militiamen, some on horses, lined up, two deep, in front of the embassy. At first they kept the crowds across the street but then the mob surged toward the embassy. Traffic in downtown Moscow was jammed.

The crowd warmed up to the chanting, jeering and banner-waving, and projectiles, including the ink bottles, sailed up from the crowd. Ball bearings accounted for most of the window damage.

Three apartments of embassy personnel and two offices were splattered with ink.

A youth shinnied up a drain pipe and hung a poster saying "Long live Arab unity." He came down and went up again, this time with a portrait of Nasser.

Placards were plastered all over the walls of the embassy. One of the last was placed there by a wartime amputee who drove onto the sidewalk in a three-wheel car specially made for wounded veterans.

HI-HO, TRUJILLO

Saddle Is Empty On Novak Trail

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Kim Novak said Friday she and Rafael Trujillo Jr. parted the best of friends.

The young playboy from the Dominican Republic, who once told a local television audience he was in love with the actress, sailed away Monday on his 350-foot yacht.

Before he did, Kim said, he sent her roses and a note reading: "I am sorry you didn't care to get involved with me. But I understand that your career comes first. I hope we can always be the best of friends."

Kim said she has not seen Trujillo since a tender farewell at the train station here last May. Trujillo then was returning to a U.S. military college in Kansas where he failed to graduate.

The studio was upset because Trujillo was married with six children. He is seeking a divorce. The studio sent Kim off on a publicity tour before the handsome son of the Dominican dictator returned to Hollywood last month.

"I had a mutual friend tell him I was not serious about him," Kim said. "He took it like a gentleman. He accepted it very well."

"He knew the publicity was bad for my career. He understood."

"The press presented a very ugly picture of him," Kim said. "But he wrote in his letter that he had faith that I would know the difference between the true and false and the good and bad written about him.

"He is really a fine man, very kind and serious."

"They tried to make a villian out of him," she said.

Trujillo hit the headlines last spring when he presented Kim and Zsa Zsa Gabor with expensive gifts, including imported sports cars.

Is Kim going to keep the car Trumillo gave her?

"He didn't mention it in his leter," said Kim, who added the car is still in her garage.

counter the U.S.-British military moves.

Secretary of State Dulles told the Senate Appropriations Committee the Soviets were responsible for fomenting the revolution that "violently and totally liquidated" the pro-Western government of Iraq.

Dulles, currently holding an urgent series of conferences with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, accused the Kremlin of plotting violent indirect aggression which he said threatens to overturn the governments of Jordan and Lebanon, also friendly to the West.

Committee members reported that Dulles told them in closed session that U.S. forces in Lebanon constitute mainly a holding operation and that he still hoped an international police force would replace them shortly.

Ex-Army Man Doubts Adams' Policy Ethics

Chairman F. Edward Hebert (D-La.) called a secret meeting of his armed services subcommittee for Monday to hear testimony in the case.

Austin said his memorandum to the contract board "was to the effect that if Mr. Adams or any congressman was bringing pressure to bear, I thought it was highly unethical."

Austin said he referred to pressure by a member of Congress in his April 2, 1957 memo because it was mentioned in informal board conversations that "some member of Congress was also interested."

Austin, brother of former United Nations Ambassador Warren R. Austin, said he did not recall whether the name of the interested congressman was mentioned.

Austin, now retired, said he had been shown a communication forwarded to the Army by Adams' office and "from that it would seem pressure was brought to bear."

He said the letter carried a note from the White House to the Army Chief of Staff asking the Army to compose a reply. This note was "quite innocuous," he said, but the letter itself was questionable.

Cairo was first to announce the Nasser-Khrushchev meeting, an unexpected sequel to the Arab's leader's recent visit with President Tito of Yugoslavia. The Soviet government confirmed that Khrushchev and Nasser had met.

Moscow said they discussed "the question of stopping the aggression of the United States and other colonial powers" and "insuring peace and the independence of the Arab countries."

Diplomats in London speculated that the two discussed sending Soviet troops to the U.A.R. province of Syria to counter the U.S. landings in Lebanon and the airlift of British paratroopers to Jordan.

But the buildup sped on. The United States flew 1,200 Marines from Camp Lejeune, N.C., to Beirut.

Another 1,700 Marines came ashore earlier Friday from the gathering fleet offshore. This brought the total of Marines in Lebanon to 6,300. Army paratroopers flying from Germany by way of Turkey are expected Saturday.

Britain had 2,000 crack Red Devil paratroopers in Jordan and was ready to fly in more from the east Mediterranean base island of Cyprus.

More warships of the U.S. 6th Fleet arrived off Lebanon, including the missile-firing cruiser Boston. A staff officer said 70 of the fleet's 75 ships are in the eastern Mediterranean "in a position where they can do the most good." British warships were on the move to the same general area.

A U.S. striking force of 100 jet fighters, bombers and transport planes had assembled in Turkey, where 2,000 paratroopers flown from West Germany were on the alert. More U.S. planes ferrying men and material to the Middle East sped through Naples.

Soviet armed forces ran off military maneuvers along the frontiers of Turkey and Iran, partners of the West under the Baghdad Pact.

An Iranian eyewitness said the glare of rockets and gunfire "changed night into bright day" on the Iranian side of the border. Steel-nerved Turkey took the demonstration of military might calmly.

The Soviet Union kept up the pressure by staging a violent demonstration of 100,000 Russians outside the U.S. Embassy in Moscow. The crowd smashed windows and hurled ink against the walls. A smaller demonstration eddied around the British Embassy.

It was the second demonstration in two days before the U.S. Embassy. It is the sort of maneuver Soviet officials use to fire up the people.

Communist mobs in Potsdam, East Germany, kept pace. They ripped down the American and British flags over military missions there.

News of the meeting between Nasser and Khrushchev startled the world—including Cairo.

Nasser Friday was in Damascus, capital of his Syrian province. The people in Cairo had been led to believe Nasser was coming home in his yacht from conferences with President Tito in Yugoslavia.

Nasser's Yugoslav hosts also voiced surprise. They said Nasser gave no inkling of his intentions when he left there Monday. That was the day Nasser supporters in Iraq seized power and killed pro-Western King Faisal II and Premier Nuri Said.

There was only sporadic firing Friday in Beirut, where the rebellion against President Camille Chamoun has been sputtering two months. But the city was tense and rebel forces indicated there might be fireworks soon.

The Marines came in at Chamoun's request, under orders from President Eisenhower. Chamoun said their presence was needed to protect Lebanon's independence from massive intervention by the U.A.R.

Saeb Salam, ex-premier and leader of the rebels in Beirut, contends U.S. intervention has ended any chance of an internal solution of Lebanon's crisis.

Chennault was advised Friday night of his promotion.

His Chinese-born wife, from his bedside at the hospital, said, "He was very happy about it. A star means a lot to any general."

Mrs. Chennault said Dryce Harlow, assistant to Hebert telephoned the hospital the President had signed the promotion bill and that Eisenhower had expressed concern over Chennault's condition.

When the word was relayed to Chennault, Mrs. Chennault said he instructed her to telegraph Eisenhower, thanking him for the honor.

Sigler To Quit Angola Position

sign to Gov. Long after Grant, his superior officer, had asked Sigler to set a definite deadline for dismissal of Penny Kent, his inmate private secretary. The warden later said he would continue in office "as long as I am wanted."

Since that time, the institutions board installed Victor G. Walker and Ernest Welch as associate wardens at Angola.

Anderson said Walker has been in charge while Sigler was on vacation, and probably would remain in charge temporarily.

Lee said he had no idea who a replacement would be. Questioned about the exact date of Sigler's resignation, Lee replied that would be determined after Sigler has written his letter to the board chairman.

He indicated acceptance of the resignation probably would be acted upon at the next regular board meeting July 31, "unless a special board meeting is called earlier." But he knew of no plans for a special meeting.

Subcommittee members apparently conferred earlier with Gov. Long, but Lee, when questioned about this, declined to say. He said he preferred to let the statement by Guinn speak for itself.

Lee and Anderson replied "not necessarily" when asked whether Sigler's resignation step was linked with a legislative committee report on Angola submitted at the close of the 1958 session saying Angola "is still a very rotten institution."

The committee recognized Sigler for his "excellent character" and "devotion to duty."

But the committee report added "it was evident he treated lightly our diversions into penal theories. . .we will not discuss morals in the state penitentiary, but we must tell you that we do not think there has been any real improvement in recent years."

A few days ago Anderson confirmed Mrs. Elizabeth C. Mouledous had been fired at Angola where she was in charge of the women's camp.

Mrs. Mouledous was in Anderson's office during the day.

When he confirmed the Mouledous dismissal a few days ago, Anderson said he was investigating reports that Mrs. Mouledous' dismissal followed a disciplinary action against Miss Kent.

The servicemen released Friday were among 18 sailors and 11 Marines who were kidnaped by the rebels June 28 from a bus bringing them back to the base from an outing. A 30th was seized the next day.

Seaman T. Robert Mosness, of Ames, Iowa, who was kidnaped alone on June 29, was suddenly released by himself on July 10. It wasn't until five days later that the rebels began freeing the rest of the 29 servicemen in small groups.

U. S. Consul at Santiago de Duba Park Wollam and his vice consul, Robert Weicha, handled the negotiations with the rebels for release of the 30 servicemen and 20 civilians kidnaped. The two officials spent days in the hills with the rebel leaders arranging for the releases.

Nasser Gives Vows Of War Amid Cheers

—this occupation from America, which has fought Britain for her independence. How does America forget herself and take up this imperialist role and occupy Lebanon?"

Nasser said the United States informed the U.A.R. Thursday the U.A.R. was responsible for the security of American troops in Lebanon.

"I don't understand how America can occupy Lebanon and that we can be considered responsible for protecting the occupation troops," he said.

Nasser added that he wondered why the West was disturbed at the Iraqi revolution. He said Iraq's oil will remain free and will reach the West.

"We tell your brothers in Iraq that we are with them because our battle is one," Nasser said, "because we are one people and one nation.

"I declare in your name that we will carry arms to defend the torch of freedom, which has become victorious in Iraq, and defend our independence and victory which we have achieved," Nasser said.

(As heard in Jerusalem over Radio Damascus, Nasser said that if Iraq is attacked he will stand behind it.

(Arab nationalism is the term Nasser uses to define his announced aim of promoting a unity of all the Arabs. These reach from North Africa to the borders of Iran and Turkey.)

Nasser's speech made no mention of his surprise trip to Moscow. The Soviet radio's version of this was that Nasser and Khrushchev discussed "the question of stopping the aggression of the United States and other colonial powers."

"Their talk took place in a friendly atmosphere and referred to the question of stopping the aggression of the United States and other colonial powers in the Near and Middle East and insuring peace and the independence of the Arab countries." Moscow said.

A communique issued in Cairo and Damascus said:

"The two leaders exchanged views on development of the present international situation and what is needed for the preservation of peace. An atmosphere of amity and understanding prevailed during the meeting."

In Cairo, U. S. Ambassador Raymond Hare met for more than an hour Friday with Ali Sabri, Egyptian state minister for presidential affairs and acting foreign minister.

The U. S. Embassy said Hare requested the meeting but would not say what was discussed.

All Cairo newspapers charged the main objective of the U. S. landings in Lebanon and the British landings in Jordan was to deal a blow to Arab nationalism.

The Middle East News Agency gave this version of Nasser's trip to Moscow after his talks with President Tito in Yugoslavia:

"Nasser sailed from Pula, Yugoslavia, last Saturday for the return trip to Cairo. He sailed two days in the Adriatic. When he learned about the American troop landings in Lebanon and increase of tension in the area, Nasser returned to Pula, where he met with Tito to discuss the situation.

"From Pula, Nasser, accompanied by U.A.R. Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi, went to Brioni. From Brioni, Fawzi and Nasser flew to Moscow. . ."

Some windows were broken as high as the eighth floor.

About 100 Russians staged a demonstration outside the British Embassy in protest against British forces landing in Jordan. But this crowd was not in the ugly mood of the mob jamming the boulevard.

The demonstrations sprang up after a delegation of Soviet factory workers called on Thompson with a petition protesting the Marine landings in the Middle East. Thompson conferred with their leaders in his office and told them the Unitel States was invited into Lebanon by that nation's legitimate government. He said the matter was before the United Nation and U.S. forces would pull out as soon as a U.N. police force takes over.

In the afternoon, about 2,000 demonstrators piled out of buses and trucks and marched in orderly columns toward the embassy. Military music blared out of the loudspeakers on the platform and in between Communist agitators took a microphone and roared out anti-U.S. slogans. Soon the crowd began to swell, becoming more raucous and nasty as it did.

Six platoons of Soviet militiamen, some on horses, lined up, two deep, in front of the embassy. At first they kept the crowds across the street but then the mob surged toward the embassy. Traffic in downtown Moscow was jammed.

The crowd warmed up to the chanting, jeering and banner-waving, and projectiles, including the ink bottles, sailed up from the crowd. Ball bearings accounted for most of the window damage.

Three apartments of embassy personnel and two offices were splattered with ink.

A youth shinnied up a drain pipe and hung a poster saying "Long live Arab unity." He came down and went up again, this time with a portrait of Nasser.

Placards were plastered all over the walls of the embassy. One of the last was placed there by a wartime amputee who drove onto the sidewalk in a three-wheel car specially made for wounded veterans.

HI-HO, TRUJILLO

Saddle Is Empty On Novak Trail

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Kim Novak said Friday she and Rafael Trujillo Jr. parted the best of friends.

The young playboy from the Dominican Republic, who once told a local television audience he was in love with the actress, sailed away Monday on his 350-foot yacht.

Before he did, Kim said, he sent her roses and a note reading: "I am sorry you didn't care to get involved with me. But I understand that your career comes first. I hope we can always be the best of friends."

Kim said she has not seen Trujillo since a tender farewell at the train station here last May. Trujillo then was returning to a U.S. military college in Kansas where he failed to graduate.

The studio was upset because Trujillo was married with six children. He is seeking a divorce. The studio sent Kim off on a publicity tour before the handsome son of the Dominican dictator returned to Hollywood last month.

"I had a mutual friend tell him I was not serious about him," Kim said. "He took it like a gentleman. He accepted it very well."

"He knew the publicity was bad for my career. He understood."

"The press presented a very ugly picture of him," Kim said. "But he wrote in his letter that he had faith that I would know the difference between the true and false and the good and bad written about him.

"He is really a fine man, very kind and serious."

"They tried to make a villian out of him," she said.

Trujillo hit the headlines last spring when he presented Kim and Zsa Zsa Gabor with expensive gifts, including imported sports cars.

Is Kim going to keep the car Trumillo gave her?

"He didn't mention it in his leter," said Kim, who added the car is still in her garage.

counter the U.S.-British military moves.

Secretary of State Dulles told the Senate Appropriations Committee the Soviets were responsible for fomenting the revolution that "violently and totally liquidated" the pro-Western government of Iraq.

Dulles, currently holding an urgent series of conferences with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, accused the Kremlin of plotting violent indirect aggression which he said threatens to overturn the governments of Jordan and Lebanon, also friendly to the West.

Committee members reported that Dulles told them in closed session that U.S. forces in Lebanon constitute mainly a holding operation and that he still hoped an international police force would replace them shortly.

Ex-Army Man Doubts Adams' Policy Ethics

Chairman F. Edward Hebert (D-La.) called a secret meeting of his armed services subcommittee for Monday to hear testimony in the case.

Austin said his memorandum to the contract board "was to the effect that if Mr. Adams or any congressman was bringing pressure to bear, I thought it was highly unethical."

Austin said he referred to pressure by a member of Congress in his April 2, 1957 memo because it was mentioned in informal board conversations that "some member of Congress was also interested."

Austin, brother of former United Nations Ambassador Warren R. Austin, said he did not recall whether the name of the interested congressman was mentioned.

Austin, now retired, said he had been shown a communication forwarded to the Army by Adams' office and "from that it would seem pressure was brought to bear."

He said the letter carried a note from the White House to the Army Chief of Staff asking the Army to compose a reply. This note was "quite innocuous," he said, but the letter itself was questionable.

Upholding Honor Of 700, Boys Say 'Not All Thugs'

(This is the last dispatch of three on New York's "700" schools for the city's most difficult problem children.)

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — The principal at one of New York's three "700" schools for delinquent boys and girls found this letter on his desk one day:

"The true story of 701, Brooklyn —

"Many people think 701 is a school for hoodlums. 701 is not as bad as people think it is. Some boys are members of gangs like Chaplains, Jonquils, Corsairs, Lords, Roman Lords, Jesters and maybe Bishops.

"These boys all are not hoodlums because they go to 701, Brooklyn. The truth is that the school they come from was very bad for them. The teachers in their schools could not get along with them very good, so that is why they are here now.

"In 701 we have good lunches which are free. . . . We get out at 2:10 and go to the subway in groups.

"The great number in classes is 15 boys (when we 'double up'). Monday before lunch we have educational movies.

"We have a school library but we cannot take books home.

"The school is an old one but it is getting fixed up fast . . ."

The author of this hymn was, of course, one of the 300 New York boys who had been suspended last March from regular schools — which many of them had been terrorizing — and placed in two "700" schools.

One of them was set up in Greenwich Village, despite the uproar of "neighbors" who made it plain at the beginning that they did not want "hoodlums" in their midst.

But this resentment has all but evaporated, and the boys have behaved themselves. The Kiwanis and Lions clubs in the "Village" have taken the lads under their wing.

One neighbor sent each boy a book as a welcoming gesture. Jackie Robinson, the former major league baseball star, came downtown to address one of the school's weekly assembly programs. He promised that each student would receive a new suit of clothes when school reopens in the fall.

William A. Hamm, the Board of Education's Associate Superintendent in charge of the "700" schools, suggests they may be the answer to "blackboard jungles" in other large cities.

He concedes that it costs approximately twice as much ($800 a year) to keep a pupil in a "700" school than in a regular school, but Hamm points out that a reform school costs the taxpayers several thousand dollars for each inmate.

But who can measure in dollars and cents such things as the girl in one "700" school who was fashioning a cross from plastic foam blocks?

It was shortly before Father's Day. "It's for my daddy's grave," she said proudly.

Water Rates Increased In West Monroe

West Monroe water rates will be increased effective August 1, according to Mayor J. Allan Norris.

The mayor and city council voted unanimously for the water rate hike in their last meeting.

Domestic consumers within the city limits will begin paying $2.50 for a minimum of 6,000 gallons and 20 cents per each 1,000 gallons above the minimum.

This means a $1.00 increase on the minimum charge while the additional 1,000 gallon rate remains unchanged.

Outside the city limits domestic rates will be $4 minimum for the first 6,000 gallons and 40 cents for each 1,000 gallons above this amount.

Presently consumers outside the city limits are paying a minimum rate of $2 for 3,000 gallons and 40 cents for each additional 1000 gallons.

Commercial consumers inside the city limits using a ¾-⅝ inch meter will pay $3.50 for the first 10,000 gallons, consumers using a one inch meter will pay $4 minimum; one-and-a-half inch meter, $5 minimum; two inch meter, $7.50 minimum; three inch meter, $10 minimum and those using a four inch meter will pay $12 for the first 10,000 gallons.

Consumers using over 10,000 gallons will pay 25 cents for each 1,000 gallons extra.

Outside the city limits commercial consumers will pay a minimum of $6 for the first 10,000 gallons and 50 cents for each additional 1,000 gallons.

Now the rate is a $3 minimum for the first 10,000 gallons with 30 cents charged for each 1,000 gallons over.

Rates for water sold for resale outside the city limits with approval of the city council will be a straight 30 cents per 1,000 gallons.

Committee To Close Meetings To The Press

Charles Chisholm, chairman of the West Monroe hospital committee, announced yesterday that in the future, hospital publicity will be released to all news media through called press conferences, and that the press will not be allowed to attend most of the meetings.

He added that upon occasion, the press might be "invited" to attend a given meeting.

In explaining the move, taken at a meeting of the executive advisory board yesterday, which was also closed to the press, Chisholm said the group felt that the members cannot talk about the hospital plans as freely as they would like, when they know the press is present.

Gordy Roy, chairman of the publicity committee, will channel the news as he sees fit, Chisholm added.

Six persons admitted reckless driving in state court, as Judge W. M. Harper presided over a heavy docket of 17 cases.

Fined $25 each for reckless driving were T. H. Clements, Harold V. Hanson, Albert L. Gutierez, Bob Kimbroush, Sidney D. Wade Jr., Negro, and Huey P. Ramsey.

A man and woman arraigned on charges of assault and battery denied guilt and trial date was slated for later this month.

Neomia Bennett stated she was innocent on charges of aggravated assault on W. R. Tannehill, on June 27. Walter Graham, charged with committing simple battery on Tannehill, maintained his innocence.

Four persons were fined for speeding. Troy S. Rich Jr. drew a $25 fine after he pled guilty to the offense. Don Barry Holton was fined $30, Quinton O. Cloninger was fined $25 and a choice of a $10 fine or 10 days in jail was given to William B. Antley on charges of speeding 57 miles per hour on July 1.

Elbert B. Brock pled guilty to driving with improper lights and was fined $15.

On charges of improper parking on July 6, Noah Chapman and Otis Cooper each were fined $5.

Goldfines Join Adams Family In Get-Together

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Goldfines and the Adamses had a cordial get-together at Sherman Adams' house here Thursday night after Goldfine's dismissal as a witness in sensational House hearings involving the two men.

This was reported by Bernard Goldfine and his wife—with help from their publicity man—as they stepped aboard a plane today to return to Boston.

Goldfine himself declined details except to say, "I spoke and I saw and talked to Gov. Adams." Adams was a governor of New Hampshire before he came to Washington with President Eisenhower in 1953.

But who can measure in dollars and cents such things as the girl in one "700" school who was fashioning a cross from plastic foam blocks?

It was shortly before Father's Day. "It's for my daddy's grave," she said proudly.

Water Rates Increased In West Monroe

West Monroe water rates will be increased effective August 1, according to Mayor J. Allan Norris.

The mayor and city council voted unanimously for the water rate hike in their last meeting.

Domestic consumers within the city limits will begin paying $2.50 for a minimum of 6,000 gallons and 20 cents per each 1,000 gallons above the minimum.

This means a $1.00 increase on the minimum charge while the additional 1,000 gallon rate remains unchanged.

Outside the city limits domestic rates will be $4 minimum for the first 6,000 gallons and 40 cents for each 1,000 gallons above this amount.

Presently consumers outside the city limits are paying a minimum rate of $2 for 3,000 gallons and 40 cents for each additional 1000 gallons.

Commercial consumers inside the city limits using a ¾-⅝ inch meter will pay $3.50 for the first 10,000 gallons, consumers using a one inch meter will pay $4 minimum; one-and-a-half inch meter, $5 minimum; two inch meter, $7.50 minimum; three inch meter, $10 minimum and those using a four inch meter will pay $12 for the first 10,000 gallons.

Consumers using over 10,000 gallons will pay 25 cents for each 1,000 gallons extra.

Outside the city limits commercial consumers will pay a minimum of $6 for the first 10,000 gallons and 50 cents for each additional 1,000 gallons.

Now the rate is a $3 minimum for the first 10,000 gallons with 30 cents charged for each 1,000 gallons over.

Rates for water sold for resale outside the city limits with approval of the city council will be a straight 30 cents per 1,000 gallons.

Committee To Close Meetings To The Press

Charles Chisholm, chairman of the West Monroe hospital committee, announced yesterday that in the future, hospital publicity will be released to all news media through called press conferences, and that the press will not be allowed to attend most of the meetings.

He added that upon occasion, the press might be "invited" to attend a given meeting.

In explaining the move, taken at a meeting of the executive advisory board yesterday, which was also closed to the press, Chisholm said the group felt that the members cannot talk about the hospital plans as freely as they would like, when they know the press is present.

Gordy Roy, chairman of the publicity committee, will channel the news as he sees fit, Chisholm added.

State Courts

Six persons admitted reckless driving in state court, as Judge W. M. Harper presided over a heavy docket of 17 cases.

Fined $25 each for reckless driving were T. H. Clements, Harold V. Hanson, Albert L. Gutierez, Bob Kimbroush, Sidney D. Wade Jr., Negro, and Huey P. Ramsey.

A man and woman arraigned on charges of assault and battery denied guilt and trial date was slated for later this month.

Neomia Bennett stated she was innocent on charges of aggravated assault on W. R. Tannehill, on June 27. Walter Graham, charged with committing simple battery on Tannehill, maintained his innocence.

Four persons were fined for speeding. Troy S. Rich Jr. drew a $25 fine after he pled guilty to the offense. Don Barry Holton was fined $30, Quinton O. Cloninger was fined $25 and a choice of a $10 fine or 10 days in jail was given to William B. Antley on charges of speeding 57 miles per hour on July 1.

Elbert B. Brock pled guilty to driving with improper lights and was fined $15.

On charges of improper parking on July 6, Noah Chapman and Otis Cooper each were fined $5.

100 FEARED DROWNED

CALCUTTA, India (UPI) — A steam launch carrying 200 passengers overturned in the Rupnarayan River 40 miles from here Thursday and 100 persons were missing and feared drowned. Police said 100 persons were rescued and the rest unaccounted for.

Goldfines Join Adams Family In Get-Together

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Goldfines and the Adamses had a cordial get-together at Sherman Adams' house here Thursday night after Goldfine's dismissal as a witness in sensational House hearings involving the two men.

This was reported by Bernard Goldfine and his wife—with help from their publicity man—as they stepped aboard a plane today to return to Boston.

Goldfine himself declined details except to say, "I spoke and I saw and talked to Gov. Adams." Adams was a governor of New Hampshire before he came to Washington with President Eisenhower in 1953.

Reuther Congressmen

Many of us often wonder why so many members of congress vote consistently for anything the big labor bosses want, even though they know that labor unions are riddled with gangsterism and racketeering. These congressmen seem either to have their hands tied or to be mesmerized.

And no wonder.

Walter Reuther, big boss of the A.F.L.-C.I.O., chief labor federation in the United States, already has a hard core of 150 to 175 congressmen whose elections he helped to finance with union funds and who, therefore, are expected to vote the way he dictates. Reuther considers that these men are pawns, to be moved around in any way he chooses to strengthen the blackmail - ridden labor unions.

Reuther, a one-time announced devotee of the Russian system of socialism and communism, now plans to enter 300 congressional districts with candidates of his own choosing. He expects, with the power his union money will give him, to elect 220 of them. This would give him absolute control of the lower house of congress and would enable him to dictate what legislation will be considered and passed. If Reuther succeeds, the fate of this country will be in the hands of men who are tied to strings which can be pulled at will by the big labor boss.

Reuther has failed to clear up racketeering either inside the A.F.L.-C.I.O. or in the ranks of its many affiliates. While apparently more free himself from graft than some of his lower overlords, he puts union power ahead of everything else and seems to care little if this power comes through gangster elements.

Right now Reuther is pushing the Forand bill, written with the aid of the A.F.L.-C.I.O., which will put the medical costs of many into social security and open the door wide for socialized medicine, which British trade unions established.

Citing the gigantic powers attained by labor unions and their efforts to socialize this country, Congressman Ralph W. Gwinn said:

"Americans are more out-of-date and ill-informed concerning the realities of the labor movement in the United States than they are in any other area of public interest.

"Today the greatest concentrations of political and economic power in the United States of America are found—not in the over-regulated, over-criticized, over-investigated and over-taxed corporations, and certainly not in their hag-ridden, brow-beaten, publicity-fearful managers. The greatest concentrations of political and economic power are found in the under-regulated, under - criticized, under - investigated, tax - exempt and specially privileged labor organizations —and in their belligerent, aggressive and far-too-often lawless and corrupt managers.

"Instead of being a movement of workers banded together for the protection and advancement of their legitimate interests in a free economy, the labor movement has now become a political movement with the objective of establishing a labor socialist government in control of the economic and social life of the nation."

Walter Reuther is a man with an inordinate lust for power. He knows he can never be elected president of the United States but he thinks he might become dictator of this country if our present system of government were overthrown and a socialistic regime set up.

Orleans Great Port

New Orleans, which ranks second only to New York as a United States port city is showing a rapid increase in business as indicated by ship arrivals. Either the New Orleans port is growing faster than others or there has been a marked increase in international trade.

A total of 400 ocean-going ships, the largest number to call at that port in a single month, arrived in the New Orleans harbor during June.

The number of arrivals represented a 12.4 per cent increase over the same month last year and a continued upward trend of 6.2 per cent which began in January.

Of the January-to-June total 2,293 arrivals from sea, 1,585 represented 39 foreign nationalities. This compared with 2,159 arrivals during the first six months of 1957. Among the 400 ships arriving in June were 115 American, 53 Norwegian, 32 Netherlands, 31 German, 26 Liberian, 17 British, 14 Japanese, 12 Honduron and 10 Greek.

It is difficult for people in other parts of Louisiana to realize to what extent New Orleans has become an international port. It is also surprising that so many other countries exceed Britain in the number of ships landing.

If New Orleans ship arrivals can be taken as any criterion on world economic conditions, there is every reason to think those conditions are extremely good. No indication of a recession, either in this country or in the countries sending ships here, could possibly be indicated in the ship-arrival figures.

New Orleans is not the only Louisiana city to note a big increase in seagoing vessels. Baton Rouge is carrying on a big port expansion and the number of ocean vessels reaching our capital city is increasing rapidly. Lake Charles has also come in for a good increase in sea trade.

About the only thing holding Monroe back as a seaport city is the construction of a nine-foot channel in the Ouachita river. That will permit ships reaching Baton Rouge to proceed as far northward as Monroe.

Americans Deify Honesty In Business, Government

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Imbedded in the cases of Sherman Adams and Charles de Gaulle are certain truths which tell a good deal about their two countries and about life in our times.

"Have you ever noticed," asks a character in the famous novel, "South Wind," by Norman Douglas, "that whenever anything, however fantastic, is imposed upon men by physical forces, they straightway make a god of it? That is why you (the Anglo - American people) deify strenuousness. You dare not forego it."

Well, we Americans have also deified honesty in business and in our businessman's type of government. Two of our Constitution-makers were strong in its deification. Ben Franklin called honesty the "best policy," which is a term of business and government, not of morality.

Alexander Hamilton, while still a young Revolutionary soldier, wrote his friend Governor George Clinton: "I look upon the old proverb that honesty is the best policy to be so generally true that I can never expect any good from a system at real leviation from it." As a mature statesman Hamilton evolved a theory to the effect that honesty is a product of the business and commercial life where good faith and kept promises are practical necessities.

Thus, you could say that honesty has been imposed upon us by the physical force of the American environment. This is why we have made a godhead of it. This is why dishonesty in government affects the USA so deeply. Since honesty is an American religion, dishonesty becomes an act of impiety and blasphemy.

But we are shrinking from the full truth if we stop there. Any man, at times, is capable of irreverence. It does not mean that he has lost his religious faith. Hypocrisy is a far worse sin than irreverence — and hypocrisy is what we have in the phony acts of shock and sanctimony which the Adams case has engendered in many conspicuous places. The social sickness here in America shows whenever we run outdoors and wring our hands in public to prove our own virtue, having caught the other fellow in sin.

"Military power," wrote Charles de Gaulle in his memoirs, "was, for 14 centuries, the second nature of France. If our country had sometimes neglected its defenses, mistreated its soldiers, lost battles, it was still capable, at all times, of the most grand warlike effort."

To understand Premier de Gaulle and De Gaullist France, we had better turn to this central truth. France is a nation which is not concerned, as our sentimentalists would have it, with equality and fraternity and justice. In France, most certainly in French politics, honesty is far from being a religion. But glory! The grand warlike effort! Those are the terms with which De Gaulle has addressed himself to the "soul" of France.

It seems strange that Secretary Dulles, who is fully capable of understanding this matter, should have been surprised or disappointed that De Gaulle has demanded atomic equality for France. In our times, without nuclear weapons, no nation can begin to have that grand military capability. De Gaulle stands out from the other postwar premiers in that he does not duck his head and close his eyes against this dangerous and glaring truth about France — she yearns for military grandeur.

It will not help our side if we, like the pseudo - Americanized premiers who preceded De Gaulle, pretend that France is other than she is. France is quite capable in times ahead of making advantageous alliances with countries of which we do not approve. She is quite capable — quite likely in my opinion—to make a Napoleonic try to dominate West Europe. She may clash with Germany as she has before, with Russia as an ally for either side, as has happened before.

Major Boosts In Taxes For Schools Predicted

The United States seems to have recovered — at least psychologically — from the severe jolt of learning that Russian scientific advances not only are keeping pace with this country but in some areas have surpassed our very best efforts.

After the shocked reception with which the United States greeted the arrival of Soviet-made Sputnik 1 on the scene many critical eyes immediately turned in the direction of the American school system. Congressme. stumbled over one another in the rush to legislate improvements. But now, less than a year later, one seldom hears any discussion about the educational problem.

Almost as if to remind us that the problem is still here—and just as big as ever—the Institute for Social Science Research has just released a comprehensive study on "School Needs in the Decade Ahead." Its author is Roger A. Freeman, a vice president of the Institute and only recently a member of the White House staff.

While Freeman does not attack the problem of what is being taught and how he has dug deeply into the question of how education is financed and what we can expect in this regard during the next 10 years. He has reached some conclusions with which many will not agree but are certain to prompt serious discussion. Also, a number of his findings are bound to upset some preconceived notions about schools which many hold

Particularly disturbing is Freeman's prediction that public school costs will at least double by 1970 and require major tax boosts if past and present trends of spending continue. He suggests that doubling these expenditures would call for tax increases of approximately this magnitude: an additional state personal and corporation income tax of about twice the present average severeity, or a two-thirds increase in property taxes, or a 20 per cent increase in the basic rate of the Federal personal income tax.

Often overlooked is the fact that education is now the largest item of government spending in the United States next to national defense. I' has grown faster than other public services or personal consumption although enrollment in public schools increased at a lesser rate than the population of the country since 1900. Freeman attributes this to the increasing number of children attending non-public schools. Between 1940 and 1956 these schools grew four times faster than the public schools.

The author says substantial increases in school funds in the years ahead are inevitable with the amount of increase depending, more than anything, on how efficiently these funds are spent.

Freeman charges flatly that large amounts of school funds are being wasted. He explains: "If methods are adopted for a fuller and more effective utilization of teachers and school facilities . . . and other technological methods of widening the range of good teachers and saving manpower are adopted, if schools concentrate on subject-matter teaching and eliminate frills, the quality of school education will be lifted but school funds will not need to rise much beyond the growth rate of the national income."

Contrary to popular belief, he points out, education in the United States is better supported financially than in any other country, including Soviet Russia. Expenditures for all education—private and public—in this country have grown from 1.4 per cent of the national income in 1890 to 5.75 per cent this year. This now totals $20.4 billion.

Noting that the teacher-pupil ration has been declining year by year, Freeman said we would have a surplus of almost 200,000 teachers if the schools now maintained the ratio that prevailed in 1929 or if teachers worked the year around as other people do.

The author also throws cold water on the oft-repeated claim that teaching has lost its attractiveness because of low salaries. His comment: "Over the past decade the percentage of college graduates who go into teaching has sharply risen, and the number of certificated teachers in the public schools system has increased five times faster than the total labor force. The number and proportion of degrees in the teaching force have grown steeply and consistently. More persons are leaving non-school jobs for teaching than quit teaching to accept private employment."

Freeman says his research showed that teachers' salaries have risen proportionately more than per capita income or the wages of workers in private industries and of other public employes. Also, "relatively, teachers are better off today than they were 30 years ago."

He believes, however, many "good" teachers are woefully underpaid and that the problem of teachers' salaries will not be solved until it is recognized that not all teachers are underpaid but some teachers. "Sooner, or later," the author concludes, "it must be realized that the American public never will be willing to pay all teachers as much as they believe good teachers to be worth."

Tattooing Now Largely Medical

Decorative tattooing is on the decline except by plastic surgeons who use the technic for cosmetic purposes. Black and brown pigments are employed to simulate hair, red for lips, pink and brown for skin and dark blue for beard stubblings.

A British surgeon made an excellent cupid's bow for a girl with an ugly, scarred lip following a harelip operation during infancy. Tattooing was used in this case because it was difficult to match the exact tinting of skin grafts with the remainder of the lip.

The surgeon, Norman C. Lake of London, has tattooed nails, painted or otherwise, on the ends of fingers or toes from which the tips have been amputated. He was unable to find the proper pigment for a Chinese woman who was left with a wide scar running through the center of her scalp.

She wanted the area covered because the most important criterion of beauty in her country centered about the framing of the face in a perfect, unbroken square of jet black hair.

Tattooing for cosmetic purposes is done under strict cleanliness. Old-time tatoo artists used few antiseptic precautions and the involved areas often became infected. Syphilis or tuberculosis was inoculated in some instances as an unwanted dividend.

An anesthetic was not needed because most of the customers were inebriated. A research project done by the Oklahoma City VA hospital disclosed that 58.1 per cent of their tattooed patients said the job was done while they were drunk.

The majority of modern professional tattooists are efficient. Some are real artists and work in beautiful colors and shades. These men might be of real service by converting their talents to cosmetic work in conjunction with the plastic surgeon.

Eradicating these marks is difficult unless the area is small. The most popular method is complete surgical removal, followed by skin grafting. Detattooing with titanium oxide decreases the high colors, leaving the mark less noticeable. Dermabrasion with sandpaper or a wire brush is not successful because in many instances the pigment is below the surface; if abrasion went deep enough, ugly scarring would result.

Daily Devotions

Preach the Word; be instant in season and out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine. — II Timothy 4:2.

In these days, it may be well to put to ourselves the question, "Are we becoming part - time Christians, with our churches operating on shorter and shorter shifts?" No one would deny our hard - pressed ministers and church workers need rest and relaxation. But is it not true, that come June, ministers, laymen, teachers and even occasional pew - warmers are more and more inclined to take long summer holidays from all religious activities? If for one month, or three — why not four, or six, or nine?

O God, help us to know Thy will and to be good servants both in and out of season. In Christ's Name we ask. Amen.

Oil Contracts To Be Honored

BEIRUT (UPI) — Baghdad radio said Friday the revolutionary pro-Nasser government of Iraq will honor existing multi - million dollar agreements with Western oil companies for the operation of Iraqi oil fields.

The broadcast indicated the new regime did not plan to nationalize the Iraq Petroleum Company (IPC), a Western firm managed by the British, American, Dutch and French Interests have substantial holdings in the company.

Measures to safeguard oil plants and pipelines — prime targets during the 1956 Suez crisis—have been taken by the new Baghdad government, the broadcast said.

DR. CRANE SAYS

Vile Wench Is Quickly Changed

Sandra did a right-about-face that would equal that of Scrooge. In fact, she developed stage fright when she was reborn as an attractive woman instead of a coarse wench with a twisted ego. Think of the added happiness to herself and society in general by this type of constructive personality change!

CASE Y-366: Sandra K., aged 23, is the graduate student in chemisty who has adopted masculine habits and dress to such a point her very understanding chemistry professor decided she needed psychiatric advice.

At the start of our interview, Sandra was hostile and tried to affect a superiority.

"Why are you wasting your time with me?" she demanded, as she lit a cigaret and spit flecks of tobacco out of her mouth with the first puff.

"Why are you so scared that men would regard you as nauseating?" I immediately challenged.

"What makes you think you can't compete with other girls for popularity?

"Are you a plain coward? Do you surrender without a fight? Why let these coeds intimidate you to such a point that you surrender the field to them and try to run away from them entirely."

"Dr. Crane, I'm not running away," she protested.

"Yes, you are," I continued to ply my advantage. "You have a high I. Q. and an attractive chassis, if you'd just embellish it a bit.

"In fact, you could give the other girls a real run for their money if you had the courage to face the facts and make a battle of it.

"How did you ever get the false notion, anyway, that you couldn't hold your own in comparison with normal women?"

Sandra had opened her mouth to defend herself, but I didn't let her get a word out till I had finished my barrage.

Then her eyes opened wide and she looked like a frightened child, instead of the cynical, masculinized woman of a few moments before.

She slumped down in a chair. Then she put her hands over her face and began to cry. For I had hit the core of her complex as she got a mental "flash back" to her childhood.

Sandra's Secret

Soon she told me about the drunken housekeeper whom her father had employed to supervise Sandra after his wife had died. Sandra was then only 8 years old.

When this housekeeper had rudely told Sandra she was an ugly brat and no man would ever be interested in her for a wife, Sandra believed the dire news.

She was a shy child, anyway, and lacking in friends. Thereafter, she shrank within her shell and compensated by becoming a brilliant student.

Subconsciously, too, she decided to avoid unfavorable comparisons with normal girls by fleeing into the opposite sex.

So she picked a science course in high school and college. She adopted masculine clothes and habits, as well as coarse speech and vulgarity, hard liquor and even profanity.

Sandra thought if she could be such a palsy-walsy of men that they included her as one of their kind, they wouldn't think of her as a female.

Sandra Reborn

By coaxing and diplomatic praise, I finally got Sandra to promise she'd try an experiment. It consisted of her going to the beauty shop for a complete feminizing treatment.

She bought some soft fabrics in pastel shades and dressed in modish female fashion. I even persuaded her to drop the cigaret habit and clean up her language.

Then I arranged a date with her, with a visiting high school principal aged 27, who was unmarried but open minded. And I told her to relax and be gay.

Well, he fell for her within a week. They were married a year later.

Moonlight Grows In Entertainment

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Culture by moonlight is becoming a bigger part of the national entertainment picture.

Outdoor summer dramas are getting to be big business.

"These big productions, live and in color, give people a feeling of opulence they are starved for," said Richard H. Berger, producer of the Starlight Theater here. "They are getting tired of sitting in their living rooms watching small-scale television."

At 53, Berger is one of the most experienced men in this form of after-dark art. Brooklyn-born, he went to the St. Louis Municipal Opera in 1936.

The civic-sponsored, nonprofit theater operates on a $600,000 budget during its 12-week season. Its losses are guaranteed by some 700 business firms, but the venture has more than broken even in five of its eight seasons.

"Rain is your big enemy," said Berger, "and that you can't control. It always seems to rain most the week you've got a high-priced star sure to draw big crowds. Two or three days of rain in a week like that—and there goes your season."

"On a capacity night the St. Louis Opera and the Starlight Theater here will have a total of 20,000 customers," Berger pointed out. "That's more than attend all the theaters on Broadway in an ordinary summer week.

"Where is the theater? During the summer it isn't on Broadway. It's out here."

Reuther has failed to clear up racketeering either inside the A.F.L.-C.I.O. or in the ranks of its many affiliates. While apparently more free himself from graft than some of his lower overlords, he puts union power ahead of everything else and seems to care little if this power comes through gangster elements.

Right now Reuther is pushing the Forand bill, written with the aid of the A.F.L.-C.I.O., which will put the medical costs of many into social security and open the door wide for socialized medicine, which British trade unions established.

Citing the gigantic powers attained by labor unions and their efforts to socialize this country, Congressman Ralph W. Gwinn said:

"Americans are more out-of-date and ill-informed concerning the realities of the labor movement in the United States than they are in any other area of public interest.

"Today the greatest concentrations of political and economic power in the United States of America are found—not in the over-regulated, over-criticized, over-investigated and over-taxed corporations, and certainly not in their hag-ridden, brow-beaten, publicity-fearful managers. The greatest concentrations of political and economic power are found in the under-regulated, under - criticized, under - investigated, tax - exempt and specially privileged labor organizations —and in their belligerent, aggressive and far-too-often lawless and corrupt managers.

"Instead of being a movement of workers banded together for the protection and advancement of their legitimate interests in a free economy, the labor movement has now become a political movement with the objective of establishing a labor socialist government in control of the economic and social life of the nation."

Walter Reuther is a man with an inordinate lust for power. He knows he can never be elected president of the United States but he thinks he might become dictator of this country if our present system of government were overthrown and a socialistic regime set up.

Orleans Great Port

New Orleans, which ranks second only to New York as a United States port city is showing a rapid increase in business as indicated by ship arrivals. Either the New Orleans port is growing faster than others or there has been a marked increase in international trade.

A total of 400 ocean-going ships, the largest number to call at that port in a single month, arrived in the New Orleans harbor during June.

The number of arrivals represented a 12.4 per cent increase over the same month last year and a continued upward trend of 6.2 per cent which began in January.

Of the January-to-June total 2,293 arrivals from sea, 1,585 represented 39 foreign nationalities. This compared with 2,159 arrivals during the first six months of 1957. Among the 400 ships arriving in June were 115 American, 53 Norwegian, 32 Netherlands, 31 German, 26 Liberian, 17 British, 14 Japanese, 12 Honduron and 10 Greek.

It is difficult for people in other parts of Louisiana to realize to what extent New Orleans has become an international port. It is also surprising that so many other countries exceed Britain in the number of ships landing.

If New Orleans ship arrivals can be taken as any criterion on world economic conditions, there is every reason to think those conditions are extremely good. No indication of a recession, either in this country or in the countries sending ships here, could possibly be indicated in the ship-arrival figures.

New Orleans is not the only Louisiana city to note a big increase in seagoing vessels. Baton Rouge is carrying on a big port expansion and the number of ocean vessels reaching our capital city is increasing rapidly. Lake Charles has also come in for a good increase in sea trade.

About the only thing holding Monroe back as a seaport city is the construction of a nine-foot channel in the Ouachita river. That will permit ships reaching Baton Rouge to proceed as far northward as Monroe.

Americans Deify Honesty In Business, Government

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Imbedded in the cases of Sherman Adams and Charles de Gaulle are certain truths which tell a good deal about their two countries and about life in our times.

"Have you ever noticed," asks a character in the famous novel, "South Wind," by Norman Douglas, "that whenever anything, however fantastic, is imposed upon men by physical forces, they straightway make a god of it? That is why you (the Anglo - American people) deify strenuousness. You dare not forego it."

Well, we Americans have also deified honesty in business and in our businessman's type of government. Two of our Constitution-makers were strong in its deification. Ben Franklin called honesty the "best policy," which is a term of business and government, not of morality.

Alexander Hamilton, while still a young Revolutionary soldier, wrote his friend Governor George Clinton: "I look upon the old proverb that honesty is the best policy to be so generally true that I can never expect any good from a system at real leviation from it." As a mature statesman Hamilton evolved a theory to the effect that honesty is a product of the business and commercial life where good faith and kept promises are practical necessities.

Thus, you could say that honesty has been imposed upon us by the physical force of the American environment. This is why we have made a godhead of it. This is why dishonesty in government affects the USA so deeply. Since honesty is an American religion, dishonesty becomes an act of impiety and blasphemy.

But we are shrinking from the full truth if we stop there. Any man, at times, is capable of irreverence. It does not mean that he has lost his religious faith. Hypocrisy is a far worse sin than irreverence — and hypocrisy is what we have in the phony acts of shock and sanctimony which the Adams case has engendered in many conspicuous places. The social sickness here in America shows whenever we run outdoors and wring our hands in public to prove our own virtue, having caught the other fellow in sin.

"Military power," wrote Charles de Gaulle in his memoirs, "was, for 14 centuries, the second nature of France. If our country had sometimes neglected its defenses, mistreated its soldiers, lost battles, it was still capable, at all times, of the most grand warlike effort."

To understand Premier de Gaulle and De Gaullist France, we had better turn to this central truth. France is a nation which is not concerned, as our sentimentalists would have it, with equality and fraternity and justice. In France, most certainly in French politics, honesty is far from being a religion. But glory! The grand warlike effort! Those are the terms with which De Gaulle has addressed himself to the "soul" of France.

It seems strange that Secretary Dulles, who is fully capable of understanding this matter, should have been surprised or disappointed that De Gaulle has demanded atomic equality for France. In our times, without nuclear weapons, no nation can begin to have that grand military capability. De Gaulle stands out from the other postwar premiers in that he does not duck his head and close his eyes against this dangerous and glaring truth about France — she yearns for military grandeur.

It will not help our side if we, like the pseudo - Americanized premiers who preceded De Gaulle, pretend that France is other than she is. France is quite capable in times ahead of making advantageous alliances with countries of which we do not approve. She is quite capable — quite likely in my opinion—to make a Napoleonic try to dominate West Europe. She may clash with Germany as she has before, with Russia as an ally for either side, as has happened before.

Major Boosts In Taxes For Schools Predicted

The United States seems to have recovered — at least psychologically — from the severe jolt of learning that Russian scientific advances not only are keeping pace with this country but in some areas have surpassed our very best efforts.

After the shocked reception with which the United States greeted the arrival of Soviet-made Sputnik I on the scene many critical eyes immediately turned in the direction of the American school system. Congressmen stumbled over one another in the rush to legislate improvements. But now, less than a year later, one seldom hears any discussion about the educational problem.

Almost as if to remind us that the problem is still here—and just as big as ever—the Institute for Social Science Research has just released a comprehensive study on "School Needs in the Decade Ahead." Its author is Roger A. Freeman, a vice president of the Institute and only recently a member of the White House staff.

While Freeman does not attack the problem of what is being taught and how he has dug deeply into the question of how education is financed and what we can expect in this regard during the next 10 years. He has reached some conclusions with which many will not agree but are certain to prompt serious discussion. Also, a number of his findings are bound to upset some preconceived notions about schools which many hold.

Particularly disturbing is Freeman's prediction that public school costs will at least double by 1970 and require major tax boosts if past and present trends of spending continue. He suggests that doubling these expenditures would call for tax increases of approximately this magnitude: an additional state personal and corporation income tax of about twice the present average severeity, or a two-thirds increase in property taxes, or a 20 per cent increase in the basic rate of the Federal personal income tax.

Often overlooked is the fact that education is now the largest item of government spending in the United States next to national defense. It has grown faster than other public services or personal consumption although enrollment in public schools increased at a lesser rate than the population of the country since 1900. Freeman attributes this to the increasing number of children attending non-public schools. Between 1940 and 1956 these schools grew four times faster than the public schools.

The author says substantial increases in school funds in the years ahead are inevitable with the amount of increase depending, more than anything, on how efficiently these funds are spent.

Freeman charges flatly that large amounts of school funds are being wasted. He explains: "If methods are adopted for a fuller and more effective utilization of teachers and school facilities . . . and other technological methods of widening the range of good teachers and saving manpower are adopted, if schools concentrate on subject-matter teaching and eliminate frills, the quality of school education will be lifted but school funds will not need to rise much beyond the growth rate of the national income."

Contrary to popular belief, he points out, education in the United States is better supported financially than in any other country, including Soviet Russia. Expenditures for all education—private and public—in this country have grown from 1.4 per cent of the national income in 1890 to 5.75 per cent this year. This now totals $20.4 billion.

Noting that the teacher-pupil ration has been declining year by year, Freeman said we would have a surplus of almost 200,000 teachers if the schools now maintained the ratio that prevailed in 1929 or if teachers worked the year around as other people do.

The author also throws cold water on the oft-repeated claim that teaching has lost its attractiveness because of low salaries. His comment: "Over the past decade the percentage of college graduates who go into teaching has sharply risen, and the number of certificated teachers in the public schools system has increased five times faster than the total labor force. The number and proportion of degrees in the teaching force have grown steeply and consistently. More persons are leaving non-school jobs for teaching than quit teaching to accept private employment."

Freeman says his research showed that teachers' salaries have risen proportionately more than per capita income or the wages of workers in private industries and of other public employes. Also, "relatively, teachers are better off today than they were 30 years ago."

He believes, however, many "good" teachers are woefully underpaid and that the problem of teachers' salaries will not be solved until it is recognized that not all teachers are underpaid but some teachers. "Sooner, or later," the author concludes, "it must be realized that the American public never will be willing to pay all teachers as much as they believe good teachers to be worth."

Tattooing Now Largely Medical

Decorative tattooing is on the decline except by plastic surgeons who use the technic for cosmetic purposes. Black and brown pigments are employed to simulate hair, red for lips, pink and brown for skin and dark blue for beard stubblings.

A British surgeon made an excellent cupid's bow for a girl with an ugly, scarred lip following a harelip operation during infancy. Tattooing was used in this case because it was difficult to match the exact tinting of skin grafts with the remainder of the lip.

The surgeon, Norman C. Lake of London, has tattooed nails, painted or otherwise, on the ends of fingers or toes from which the tips have been amputated. He was unable to find the proper pigment for a Chinese woman who was left with a wide scar running through the center of her scalp.

She wanted the area covered because the most important criterion of beauty in her country centered about the framing of the face in a perfect, unbroken square of jet black hair.

Tattooing for cosmetic purposes is done under strict cleanliness. Old-time tatoo artists used few antiseptic precautions and the involved areas often became infected. Syphilis or tuberculosis was inoculated in some instances as an unwanted dividend.

An anesthetic was not needed because most of the customers were inebriated. A research project done by the Oklahoma City VA hospital disclosed that 58.1 per cent of their tattooed patients said the job was done while they were drunk.

The majority of modern professional tattooists are efficient. Some are real artists and work in beautiful colors and shades. These men might be of real service by converting their talents to cosmetic work in conjunction with the plastic surgeon.

Eradicating these marks is difficult unless the area is small. The most popular method is complete surgical removal, followed by skin grafting. Detattooing with titanium oxide decreases the high colors, leaving the mark less noticeable. Dermabrasion with sandpaper or a wire brush is not successful because in many instances the pigment is below the surface; if abrasion went deep enough, ugly scarring would result.

ANTISWEATING PILLS

Mrs. D. writes: I always sweat a lot and now that summer is upon us I would like to do something about it. Friends tell me there are tablets to decrease the amount. Can you tell me anything about them?

Reply

The so - called anticholinergic drugs tend to block the nerve impulses that lead to excessive perspiration. Among such oral products are Banthine, Prantal, and Darstine. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on perspiration.

ELECTRICAL DISTURBANCE

H. R. writes: Is a heart block related to hardening of the arteries?

Reply

Yes, provided the circulation to the electrical system to the heart is affected by narrowed coronary arteries. Rheumatic fever is another cause.

WANTS TO SWEAT IT OUT

F. N. writes: I used to perspire a lot but for the last two years, hardly do so. How can I start sweating again?

Reply

Turn off the air conditioner. If your metabolism is normal, the chances are that you do perspire, but not noticeably.

Daily Devotions

Preach the Word; be instant in season and out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine. — II Timothy 4:2.

In these days, it may be well to put to ourselves the question, "Are we becoming part - time Christians, with our churches operating on shorter and shorter shifts?" No one would deny our hard - pressed ministers and church workers need rest and relaxation. But is it not true, that come June, ministers, laymen, teachers and even occasional pew - warmers are more and more inclined to take long summer holidays from all religious activities? If for one month, or three — why not four, or six, or nine?

O God, help us to know Thy will and to be good servants both in and out of season. In Christ's Name we ask. Amen.

Oil Contracts To Be Honored

BEIRUT (UPI) — Baghdad radio said Friday the revolutionary pro-Nasser government of Iraq will honor existing multi - million dollar agreements with Western oil companies for the operation of Iraqi oil fields.

The broadcast indicated the new regime did not plan to nationalize the Iraq Petroleum Company (IPC), a Western firm managed by the British, American, Dutch and French Interests have substantial holdings in the company.

Measures to safeguard oil plants and pipelines — prime targets during the 1956 Suez crisis—have been taken by the new Baghdad government, the broadcast said.

DR. CRANE SAYS

Vile Wench Is Quickly Changed

Sandra did a right-about-face that would equal that of Scrooge. In fact, she developed stage fright when she was reborn as an attractive woman instead of a coarse wench with a twisted ego. Think of the added happiness to herself and society in general by this type of constructive personality change!

CASE Y-366: Sandra K., aged 23, is the graduate student in chemisty who has adopted masculine habits and dress to such a point her very understanding chemistry professor decided she needed psychiatric advice.

At the start of our interview, Sandra was hostile and tried to affect a superiority.

"Why are you wasting your time with me?" she demanded, as she lit a cigaret and spit flecks of tobacco out of her mouth with the first puff.

"Why are you so scared that men would regard you as nauseating?" I immediately challenged.

"What makes you think you can't compete with other girls for popularity?

"Are you a plain coward? Do you surrender without a fight? Why let these coeds intimidate you to such a point that you surrender the field to them and try to run away from them entirely."

"Dr. Crane, I'm not running away," she protested.

"Yes, you are," I continued to ply my advantage. "You have a high I. Q. and an attractive chassis, if you'd just embellish it a bit.

"In fact, you could give the other girls a real run for their money if you had the courage to face the facts and make a battle of it.

"How did you ever get the false notion, anyway, that you couldn't hold your own in comparison with normal women?"

Sandra had opened her mouth to defend herself, but I didn't let her get a word out till I had finished my barrage.

Then her eyes opened wide and she looked like a frightened child, instead of the cynical, masculinized woman of a few moments before.

She slumped down in a chair. Then she put her hands over her face and began to cry. For I had hit the core of her complex as she got a mental "flash back" to her childhood.

Sandra's Secret

Soon she told me about the drunken housekeeper whom her father had employed to supervise Sandra after his wife had died. Sandra was then only 8 years old.

When this housekeeper had rudely told Sandra she was an ugly brat and no man would ever be interested in her for a wife, Sandra believed the dire news.

She was a shy child, anyway, and lacking in friends. Thereafter, she shrank within her shell and compensated by becoming a brilliant student.

Subconsciously, too, she decided to avoid unfavorable comparisons with normal girls by fleeing into the opposite sex.

So she picked a science course in high school and college. She adopted masculine clothes and habits, as well as coarse speech and vulgarity, hard liquor and even profanity.

Sandra thought if she could be such a palsy-walsy of men that they included her as one of their kind, they wouldn't think of her as a female.

Sandra Reborn

By coaxing and diplomatic praise, I finally got Sandra to promise she'd try an experiment. It consisted of her going to the beauty shop for a complete feminizing treatment.

She bought some soft fabrics in pastel shades and dressed in modish female fashion. I even persuaded her to drop the cigaret habit and clean up her language.

Then I arranged a date with her, with a visiting high school principal aged 27, who was unmarried but open minded. And I told her to relax and be gay.

Well, he fell for her within a week. They were married a year later.

HAL BOYLE

Moonlight Grows In Entertainment

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Culture by moonlight is becoming a bigger part of the national entertainment picture.

Outdoor summer dramas are getting to be big business.

"These big productions, live and in color, give people a feeling of opulence they are starved for," said Richard H. Berger, producer of the Starlight Theater here. "They are getting tired of sitting in their living rooms watching small-scale television."

At 53, Berger is one of the most experienced men in this form of after-dark art. Brooklyn-born, he went to the St. Louis Municipal Opera in 1936.

The civic-sponsored, nonprofit theater operates on a $600,000 budget during its 12-week season. Its losses are guaranteed by some 700 business firms, but the venture has more than broken even in five of its eight seasons.

"Rain is your big enemy," said Berger, "and that you can't control. It always seems to rain most the week you've got a high-priced star sure to draw big crowds. Two or three days of rain in a week like that—and there goes your season."

"On a capacity night the St. Louis Opera and the Starlight Theater here will have a total of 20,000 customers," Berger pointed out. "That's more than attend all the theaters on Broadway in an ordinary summer week.

"Where is the theater? During the summer it isn't on Broadway. It's out here."

NUCLEAR 'FIRE BRIGADE'

More Troops Put On Turkey Base

ADANA, Turkey (UPI)—More bombers, fighters and transports loaded with paratroopers arrived from the United States Friday to complete the speedy buildup of a nuclear "fire brigade" in the world's danger zone.

Maj. Gen. Henry Viccelio, in command of operations, said the force was prepared to fight with either nuclear or conventional weapons.

The men were forbidden to mix with the local population, but there was little danger of serious friction. The Turks seemed pleased to have the American forces at the base just 500 miles south of Soviet territory and Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's summer headquarters at Yalta.

Iraq and the United Arab Republic were only minutes away by jet flight.

All through the night, American planes continued to drone over Turkey to Adana. Most of the planes arriving Friday were C119 and C47 transporas. An estimated 2,000 U.S. army troops came from Germany, some to stay for duty in revolt-torn Beirut and others to remain here in reserve.

Fifty-one giant Hercules C130 troop carriers droned in from the United States to join the buildup described by the Air Force as a "composite striking force."

It was an amazing display of tactical and logistical planning. Col. George D. Norman, commander of the 463rd Troop Carrier Wing said he had never seen a "bigger, faster" operation.

The men fanned out on arrival and set up tent cities wherever there was space among the rising piles of equipment.

There was little horseplay. These men were professionals. They did not know full details of their mission or where they would go next, but it was all in a day's work for them.

Said SP 3-1 Robert A. Siewinski, South Bend, Ind.: "We knew something was coming up and if something is coming up we are just as glad to be moving with it."

"It's part of our job," said Pfc. Curtis Martin of (45 Steinmetz Rd.) Euphrata, Pa.

Martin was sitting on the hood of a jeep loaded with ammunition and gear. Asked whether the men were ready for action, he patted the hood of the jeep for reply.

Cpl. Harry E. Hunsicket of (Route 5, Box 474) Lumberton, N.C., said the men were anxious to get moving.

"We were all looking for something to happen and here it is," he said.

Reds Step Up Maneuvers In Trouble Spot

TEHRAN Iran (UPI)—The Soviet Union stepped up its show-of-force maneuvers near Turkey and Iran Friday. Soviet jet planes flew ominously close to the Iranian border.

Intelligence reports reaching here said "maneuvering" Russian armored columns also were operating near the Iranian frontier.

In Berlin, a West Berlin Private intelligence agency said Soviet occupation troops in East Germany also were on maneuvers. It said the military exercises began June 28, as scheduled.

In Athens, Greek officers reported from the Bulgarian border that Bulgaria was carrying out maneuvers on the Turkish frontier. No such activity was reported along Communist Bulgaria's borders with Greece or Yugoslavia.

The Iranian army, acting under orders from Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi, was on full alert in the Soviet border region and all leaves were cancelled. Turkish cavalry, infantry and armored units also were on the alert—both on the Russian border and in southeast Turkey near Iraq.

Military strategists in the Iranian capital said that if the Soviet Union decides to cross swords with American and British units in the Middle East it probably would send the Red army through northern Iran.

Three-Car Jam Damages Monroe Police Cruiser

A three - car pileup yesterday sandwiched a police cruiser in the middle and caused an estimated $300 damage to the police car.

Patrolman Emmett Otwell of the Monroe police department had stopped his police car behind another vehicle to await the passing of a train across the South Second St. crossing. His car was hit in the rear and smashed into the auto in front.

Boyd Tannehill, 1619 South Sixth St., told investigating officers he saw the halted traffic, but couldn't stop in time. The police car was damaged front and rear.

Police charged Tannehill with reckless driving and placed him under $200 bond.

TWO SHOT

MANILA (UPI)—U.S. security guards shot and killed a Filipino and wounded his companion Thursday night during a robbery at the Clark Air Force Base, the Philippine news service said Friday. It was reported four accomplices escaped. The news agency said guards spotted the men trying to cart away U.S. government property from the base and opened fire when the Filipinos fled and ignored orders to halt.

P-TA Duties Described At Confab Here

Mrs. Leon S. Price, of Dallas, challenged the Parent - Teacher workshop in session at Northeast State to return to their local P.-T. A. units and "awaken the sleeping giant of complacency."

These are great days of living, she said, and "we who live in the free segment of a tension-ridden world have a peculiar responsibility."

The speaker, who is publicity chairman of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, declared "This is a most important time to be a parent, a teacher, a member of a P.-T. A. because we are the people whose influences affect the training and development of children and youth in our own local community."

Trough parent education and community organization, the P.-T. A. can help youth recognize his responsibility as well as his privilege in freedom and liberty, Mrs. Price pointed out. The organization can help him to see that the world is made of people and not classes of people, she said.

Combined Agencies

The same combined agencies can provide the type of public education that will assure every youth a chance to develop his talents, the national chairman declared. These agencies can reveal "godliness, love, mercy, and justice in our daily lives as well as in our weekly worship."

She warned the group not to be content with Parent - Teacher accomplishments. "Now, as never before, the organization needs leadership of the first quality," she said.

Leaders and followers should review the purposes of the P.-T. A. Mrs. Price advised the conference. "The P.- T. A aim is not to make money but to make lives: not to criticize the home but to raise its standards; not to ignore poor schools but to improve them; not to operate schools but to cooperate with them; not to find faults but to find facts; not to make every child a prodigy, but to give him a chance."

Two Persons Dead In CENLA

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP)—Traffic accidents killed two persons and injured a third in Central Louisiana Friday.

Acey Maxey, 16, of Dry Prong was killed when run over by a truck on the Dry Prong-Berda road.

Edwis Littleton, 31, of Marksville died when his car collided with a car driven by Junior F. Billings, 23, Westwego. Billings received lacerations of the head and face.

Jackson Youth Hurt In Wreck

RUSTON (Special) — A 17-year-old Jackson parish Negro youth was injured about 6 p.m. Friday in an auto accident five miles south of Ruston, on U.S. Highway 167.

Ruston Hospital authorities reported that Robert Warren, Route 2, Clay was in "good condition" but had sustained a possible concussion and cuts around the mouth and chin.

Witnesses said that Warren was driving south, and attempted to pass a car in front of him, while he was going up a hill. He entered the north-bound lane and met an oncoming vehicle after he had gone over the top of the hill.

To avoid a collision, he drove his car into the left-hand ditch, hit an embankment and turned over. The car was heavily damaged.

No charges were filed by State Police who investigated.

Federal Reserve Moves To Buy Federal Bonds

NEW YORK (AP)—The Federal Reserve moved to support a falling bond market Friday by announcing it would buy government bonds.

The announcement reversed a 7-year-old "bills only" policy by fed's open market committee. Since 1951, it had restricted its market activities to buying or selling short-term government securities.

In the scant half-hour of trading remaining, all of the bonds rallied from their lows.

The corporate market was sharply lower for the day. Rails, industrials and utilities were down sharply. More moderate losses were posted by investment quality issues and foreigs dolar bonds.

Trading mounted to $5,990,000 par value on the big board from $5,730,000 Thursday.

Eisenhower Asks For Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower made an urgent personal appeal to Senate Democratic and Republican leaders Friday night to provide all the foreign aid funds which Congress has authorized in view of the Mid-East crisis.

He reviewed the aid program with them at the White House after Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said the crisis has made it "more clear than ever" that the President must have every cent of the $3,675,000,000 allowed by Congress. The House cut this by almost 600 million dollars in voting to provide the actual funds.

Dulles, who had testified earlier before the Senate Appropriations Committee, sat in on the meeting in the President's second - floor study in the executive mansion.

The White House meeting was held in an atmosphere of deep secrecy. Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said in advance there would be no announcements afterward. The Senators entered and departed via driveways where newsmen would be unable to reach them for interviews.

Dulles, in his testimony, had appealed for restoration of the House cuts "at a grave moment in history and under conditions that are obviously compelling."

There was some question as to the urgency of the meeting. Hagerty announced it late in the afternoon but said it had been arranged at least two days ago to review the foreign aid picture. Congressional sources said the President had called another bipartisan meeting on the Middle East crisis.

NUCLEAR 'FIRE BRIGADE'

More Troops Put On Turkey Base

ADANA, Turkey (UPI)—More bombers, fighters and transports loaded with paratroopers arrived from the United States Friday to complete the speedy buildup of a nuclear "fire brigade" in the world's danger zone.

Maj. Gen. Henry Viccelio, in command of operations, said the force was prepared to fight with either nuclear or conventional weapons.

The men were forbidden to mix with the local population, but there was little danger of serious friction. The Turks seemed pleased to have the American forces at the base just 500 miles south of Soviet territory and Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's summer headquarters at Yalta.

Iraq and the United Arab Republic were only minutes away by jet flight.

All through the night, American planes continued to drone over Turkey to Adana. Most of the planes arriving Friday were C119 and C47 transporas. An estimated 2,000 U.S. army troops came from Germany, some to stay for duty in revolt-torn Beirut and others to remain here in reserve.

Fifty-one giant Hercules C130 troop carriers droned in from the United States to join the buildup described by the Air Force as a "composite striking force."

It was an amazing display of tactical and logistical planning. Col. George D. Norman, commander of the 463rd Troop Carrier Wing said he had never seen a "bigger, faster" operation.

The men fanned out on arrival and set up tent cities wherever there was space among the rising piles of equipment.

There was little horseplay. These men were professionals. They did not know full details of their mission or where they would go next, but it was all in a day's work for them.

Said SP 3-1 Robert A. Siewinski, South Bend, Ind.: "We knew something was coming up and if something is coming up we are just as glad to be moving with it."

"It's part of our job," said Pfc. Curtis Martin of (45 Steinmetz Rd.) Euphrata, Pa.

Martin was sitting on the hood of a jeep loaded with ammunition and gear. Asked whether the men were ready for action, he patted the hood of the jeep for reply.

Cpl. Harry E. Hunsicket of (Route 5, Box 474) Lumberton, N.C., said the men were anxious to get moving.

"We were all looking for something to happen and here it is," he said.

Reds Step Up Maneuvers In Trouble Spot

TEHRAN Iran (UPI)—The Soviet Union stepped up its show-of-force maneuvers near Turkey and Iran Friday. Soviet jet planes flew ominously close to the Iranian border.

Intelligence reports reaching here said "maneuvering" Russian armored columns also were operating near the Iranian frontier.

In Berlin, a West Berlin Private intelligence agency said Soviet occupation troops in East Germany also were on maneuvers. It said the military exercises began June 28, as scheduled.

In Athens, Greek officers reported from the Bulgarian border that Bulgaria was carrying out maneuvers on the Turkish frontier. No such activity was reported along Communist Bulgaria's borders with Greece or Yugoslavia.

The Iranian army, acting under orders from Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi, was on full alert in the Soviet border region and all leaves were cancelled. Turkish cavalry, infantry and armored units also were on the alert—both on the Russian border and in southeast Turkey near Iraq.

Military strategists in the Iranian capital said that if the Soviet Union decides to cross swords with American and British units in the Middle East it probably would send the Red army through northern Iran.

Three-Car Jam Damages Monroe Police Cruiser

A three - car pileup yesterday sandwiched a police cruiser in the middle and caused an estimated $300 damage to the police car.

Patrolman Emmett Otwell of the Monroe police department had stopped his police car behind another vehicle to await the passing of a train across the South Second St. crossing. His car was hit in the rear and smashed into the auto in front.

Boyd Tannehill, 1619 South Sixth St., told investigating officers he saw the halted traffic, but couldn't stop in time. The police car was damaged front and rear.

TWO SHOT

MANILA (UPI)—U.S. security guards shot and killed a Filipino and wounded his companion Thursday night during a robbery at the Clark Air Force Base, the Philippine news service said Friday. It was reported four accomplices escaped. The news agency said guards spotted the men trying to cart away U.S. government property from the base and opened fire when the Filipinos fled and ignored orders to halt.

P-TA Duties Described At Confab Here

Mrs. Leon S. Price, of Dallas, challenged the Parent - Teacher workshop in session at Northeast State to return to their local P.-T. A. units and "awaken the sleeping giant of complacency."

These are great days of living, she said, and "we who live in the free segment of a tension-ridden world have a peculiar responsibility."

The speaker, who is publicity chairman of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, declared "This is a most important time to be a parent, a teacher, a member of a P.-T. A. because we are the people whose influences affect the training and development of children and youth in our own local community."

Trough parent education and community organization, the P.-T. A. can help youth recognize his responsibility as well as his privilege in freedom and liberty, Mrs. Price pointed out. The organization can help him to see that the world is made of people and not classes of people, she said.

Combined Agencies

The same combined agencies can provide the type of public education that will assure every youth a chance to develop his talents, the national chairman declared. These agencies can reveal "godliness, love, mercy, and justice in our daily lives as well as in our weekly worship."

She warned the group not to be content with Parent - Teacher accomplishments. "Now, as never before, the organization needs leadership of the first quality," she said.

Leaders and followers should review the purposes of the P.-T. A. Mrs. Price advised the conference. "The P.- T. A. aim is not to make money but to make lives; not to criticize the home but to raise its standards; not to ignore poor schools but to improve them; not to operate schools but to cooperate with them; not to find faults but to find facts; not to make every child a prodigy, but to give him a chance."

Two Persons Dead In CENLA

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP)—Traffic accidents killed two persons and injured a third in Central Louisiana Friday.

Acey Maxey, 16, of Dry Prong was killed when run over by a truck on the Dry Prong-Berda road.

Edwis Littleton, 31, of Marksville died when his car collided with a car driven by Junior F. Billings, 23, Westwego. Billings received lacerations of the head and face.

Jackson Youth Hurt In Wreck

RUSTON (Special) — A 17-year-old Jackson parish Negro youth was injured about 6 p.m. Friday in an auto accident five miles south of Ruston, on U.S. Highway 167.

Ruston Hospital authorities reported that Robert Warren, Route 2, Clay was in "good condition" but had sustained a possible concussion and cuts around the mouth and chin.

Witnesses said that Warren was driving south, and attempted to pass a car in front of him, while he was going up a hill. He entered the north-bound lane and met an oncoming vehicle after he had gone over the top of the hill.

To avoid a collision, he drove his car into the left-hand ditch, hit an embankment and turned over. The car was heavily damaged.

No charges were filed by State Police who investigated.

CONCERT PLANNED

ROTTERDAM, The Netherlands (UPI)—The choir of the Moody Bible Institute in Chicago will give a concert at huge Riviera Hall here next Monday, it was announced Thursday. The concert will be given under the auspices of the Dutch "Youth for Christ" movement.

Federal Reserve Moves To Buy Federal Bonds

NEW YORK (AP)—The Federal Reserve moved to support a falling bond market Friday by announcing it would buy government bonds.

The announcement reversed a 7-year-old "bills only" policy by fed's open market committee. Since 1951, it had restricted its market activities to buying or selling short-term government securities.

In the scant half-hour of trading remaining, all of the bonds rallied from their lows.

The corporate market was sharply lower for the day. Rails, industrials and utilities were down sharply. More moderate losses were posted by investment quality issues and foreigs dolar bonds.

Trading mounted to $5,990,000 par value on the big board from $5,730,000 Thursday.

IN VIEW OF LEBANON

Eisenhower Asks For Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower made an urgent personal appeal to Senate Democratic and Republican leaders Friday night to provide all the foreign aid funds which Congress has authorized in view of the Mid-East crisis.

He reviewed the aid program with them at the White House after Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said the crisis has made it "more clear than ever" that the President must have every cent of the $3,675,000,000 allowed by Congress. The House cut this by almost 600 million dollars in voting to provide the actual funds.

Dulles, who had testified earlier before the Senate Appropriations Committee, sat in on the meeting in the President's second - floor study in the executive mansion.

The White House meeting was held in an atmosphere of deep secrecy. Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said in advance there would be no announcements afterward. The Senators entered and departed via driveways where newsmen would be unable to reach them for interviews.

Dulles, in his testimony, had appealed for restoration of the House cuts "at a grave moment in history and under conditions that are obviously compelling."

There was some question as to the urgency of the meeting. Hagerty announced it late in the afternoon but said it had been arranged at least two days ago to review the foreign aid picture. Congressional sources said the President had called another bipartisan meeting on the Middle East crisis.

Two Shreveport Men Promoted

SHREVEPORT, (Special) — Two Shreveport men, J. B. Storey and Fred R. Schroeder, were elected vice presidents of Union Producing Company by the board of directors at a regular meeting held at Shreveport yesterday, it was announced by Ed Parkes, president. At the same time announcement was made of the retirement on August 1 of W. J. Quigles, senior vice president of the producing company and one of the real veterans of the oil and gas industry in the gulf south. Union Producing Company is the wholly - owned production subsidiary of United Gas Corporation.

Storey was elected vice president in charge of drilling and production, and Schroeder was elected vice president in charge of exploration. Storey will fill the vacancy created by the retirement of Quigles. The position to be occupied by Schroeder is a new one in the company.

Born In Shreveport

Storey was born in Shreveport on August 4, 1912. He joined the gasoline department of United Gas Pipe Line Company in 1935.

Schroeder, who is a 28-year employee of United Gas, joined a predecessor company in 1930 as geological scout in the Shreveport district. He was born at Chicago, January 4, 1906.

Quigles, who retires on August 1, is a veteran of more than 41 years with the United Gas organization and a predecessor company. He is one of the early pioneers in the drilling and production phases of the oil and gas industry in the Ark-La-Tex. During the early days of the industry he was identified with such fields as Beatyville, Ky., El Dorado, Ark., Sligo, Monroe, Homer, Haynesville, Bull Bayou and many others. Since that time his experience includes the development of virtually all the important oil and gas fields in the gulf south. He has been a part of the era of development and improvement of drilling techniques from the days of cable tools to today's powerful rigs which push the drilling bit down 15,000 feet and more in search for gas and oil.

Quigles career in the industry started in 1916 when he was employed as a drilling helper in the Shreveport district.

Couple Injured As 2 Vehicles Collide At Olla

OLLA (Special) — Two persons were injured in an auto smash-up involving a pickup truck and a car yesterday afternoon here at the intersection of Highway 165 and the Jena road.

Driving the pickup truck was Penn Russell, 77, of Olla, accompanied by his wife. Both were hospitalized. Russell suffered a bruised chest and Mrs. Russell had an injured ankle.

Occupants of the 1954 model sedan were two servicemen. Leroy Romer of Dayton, Ohio was driving and with him was Otis Gray of England Air Force Base in Alexandria. They were uninjured.

According to LaSalle Parish Sheriff C. D. Barton, the Russell truck pulled out into the highway and the servicemen's car, going north, crashed into them. Both vehicles were badly damaged.

Arrest Two Wanted In Theft Probe

Caldwell said Alfred Istre, Hamond, and C. E. Swaggart, Harrisonburg, were wanted on charges in connection with a theft of 30 to 40 gallons of gasoline from trucks parked on Natchitoches St. in West Monroe.

The theft occurred on the night of July 14, acording to Caldwell, and a wanted bulletin and warrants were issued on the complaints of Guy Recotta and E. L. Anderson, owners of the trucks.

The men were arrested by the Vicksburg police and are being held for the West Monroe force. Caldwell said an officer would go to Vicksburg today to return the two men.

Istre is wanted for the alleged theft of $12.60 from Recotta, as well as theft of the gasoline.

Police said the gasoline was siphoned into the car used by the men and into containers brought along for the purpose.

Oil Production In Louisiana To Remain Same

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Conservation Commissioner Ashton Mouton said Friday he is sticking with his proposed 815,000 barrel daily oil production allowable for Louisiana in August despite the Middle East crisis.

The state does not make its August daily allowable official until around July 23.

Mouton, before the Lebanon and Iraq troubles forced landing of U.S. Marines, had proposed lifting the July daily allowable more than 37,000 barrels.

Mouton cautioned he is "watching the situation closely" to see what develops in the Middle East.

DEPARTMENT REPORT

Jobless Benefits Will Be 3,500,000

WASHINGTON (UPI)— The House Appropriations Committee Friday disclosed a Labor Department prediction that the number of persons receiving jobless benefits will climb to a record high of 3,500,000 next winter.

The committee also accused the administration of viewing the economy through rose - colored glasses, asserting that the forecast did not jibe with administration statements that the recession has hit bottom and things will get better soon.

The Democratic - controlled group levelled the charge in approving a $94,900,000 appropriation to make sure a temporary extension of jobless benefits recently approved by Congress does not bog down for lack of funds. This was almost 10 million dollars more than the labor Department sought.

"The committee is at a complete loss to reconcile the recent optimistic pronouncements of some in high places in the administration with the official estimates of employment for the fiscal year 1959," the report said.

"The official estimates . . . are that unemployment will be considerably greater in 1959 than during 1958," it said. "The committee fails to see the optimism in the official forecast."

The committee disclosed testimony of Robert C. Goodwin, director of the Bureau of Unemployment Security, who forecast that the number of persons receiving unemployment checks would hit 3,500,000 next winter, compared with this year's peak of 3,334,200.

The committee also noted that official estimates show the average number of persons drawing jobless benefits in fiscal 1959, which began July 1, will run 2,900,000. That's a 30 per cent increase over the 1958 average of 2,225,000.

The committee attack on administration optimism regarding the recession was the latest of several. But it was the first since administration officials pronounced the economic decline had hit the bottom and would soon move up.

Goodwin told an appropriations subcommitee that "there is no evidence as yet to indicate when a pick up in economic activity will begin to gather momentum."

Even after conditions in general show improvement, he said, "there is likely to be a lag before the unemployment rolls are reduced substantially."

FUGITIVES SOUGHT

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)— Police Friday sought three convicts, including Ralph Cozzolino, known as the Houdini of the underworld, who escaped from Kilby Prison in a rain storm Thursday night and fled in a hail of bullets. Prison officials said Cozzolino, 34, and Robert Phillips, 34, slashed the throat of Glenn MaGee, 29, and forced him to accompany them. Guards fired after the fleeing men but the trio made a clean getaway.

Since the end of World War II the U. S. Army has increased the technical school programs available to recruits to about 150.

Couple Injured As 2 Vehicles Collide At Olla

OLLA (Special) — Two persons were injured in an auto smash-up involving a pickup truck and a car yesterday afternoon here at the intersection of Highway 165 and the Jena road.

Driving the pickup truck was Penn Russell, 77, of Olla, accompanied by his wife. Both were hospitalized. Russell suffered a bruised chest and Mrs. Russell had an injured ankle.

Occupants of the 1954 model sedan were two servicemen. Leroy Romer of Dayton, Ohio was driving and with him was Otis Gray of England Air Force Base in Alexandria. They were uninjured.

According to LaSalle Parish Sheriff C. D. Barton, the Russell truck pulled out into the highway and the servicemen's car, going north, crashed into them. Both vehicles were badly damaged.

Arrest Two Wanted In Theft Probe

Caldwell said Alfred Istre, Hamond, and C. E. Swaggart, Harrisonburg, were wanted on charges in connection with a theft of 30 to 40 gallons of gasoline from trucks parked on Natchitoches St. in West Monroe.

The theft occurred on the night of July 14, acording to Caldwell, and a wanted bulletin and warrants were issued on the complaints of Guy Recotta and E. L. Anderson, owners of the trucks.

The men were arrested by the Vicksburg police and are being held for the West Monroe force. Caldwell said an officer would go to Vicksburg today to return the two men.

Istre is wanted for the alleged theft of $12.60 from Recotta, as well as theft of the gasoline.

Police said the gasoline was siphoned into the car used by the men and into containers brought along for the purpose.

PILOTS FACE DECISION

TERNHILL, England (UPI) — Four Iraqi pilots who just graduated from the Royal Air Force flying school wondered today, "where [illegible] go from here?" The fliers, [illegible] came to England under a progr[illegible] to train pilot officers for King Feisal's jet-equipped Iraqi air force, had to decide whether to return home to serve under the new rebel government or stay out of their native country.

Oil Production In Louisiana To Remain Same

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Conservation Commissioner Ashton Mouton said Friday he is sticking with his proposed 815,000 barrel daily oil production allowable for Louisiana in August despite the Middle East crisis.

The state does not make its August daily allowable official until around July 23.

Mouton, before the Lebanon and Iraq troubles forced landing of U.S. Marines, had proposed lifting the July daily allowable more than 37,000 barrels.

Mouton cautioned he is "watching the situation closely" to see what develops in the Middle East.

DEPARTMENT REPORT

Jobless Benefits Will Be 3,500,000

WASHINGTON (UPI)— The House Appropriations Committee Friday disclosed a Labor Department prediction that the number of persons receiving jobless benefits will climb to a record high of 3,500,000 next winter.

The committee also accused the administration of viewing the economy through rose - colored glasses, asserting that the forecast did not jibe with administration statements that the recession has hit bottom and things will get better soon.

The Democratic - controlled group levelled the charge in approving a $94,900,000 appropriation to make sure a temporary extension of jobless benefits recently approved by Congress does not bog down for lack of funds. This was almost 10 million dollars more than the labor Department sought.

"The committee is at a complete loss to reconcile the recent optimistic pronouncements of some in high places in the administration with the official estimates of employment for the fiscal year 1959," the report said.

"The official estimates . . . are that unemployment will be considerably greater in 1959 than during 1958," it said. "The committee fails to see the optimism in the official forecast."

The committee disclosed testimony of Robert C. Goodwin, director of the Bureau of Unemployment Security, who forecast that the number of persons receiving unemployment checks would hit 3,500,000 next winter, compared with this year's peak of 3,334,200.

The committee also noted that official estimates show the average number of persons drawing jobless benefits in fiscal 1959, which began July 1, will run 2,900,000. That's a 30 per cent increase over the 1958 average of 2,225,000.

The committee attack on administration optimism regarding the recession was the latest of several. But it was the first since administration officials pronounced the economic decline had hit the bottom and would soon move up.

Goodwin told an appropriations subcommitee that "there is no evidence as yet to indicate when a pick up in economic activity will begin to gather momentum."

Even after conditions in general show improvement, he said, "there is likely to be a lag before the unemployment rolls are reduced substantially."

FUGITIVES SOUGHT

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)— Police Friday sought three convicts, including Ralph Cozzolino, known as the Houdini of the underworld, who escaped from Kilby Prison in a rain storm Thursday night and fled in a hail of bullets. Prison officials said Cozzolino, 34, and Robert Phillips, 34, slashed the throat of Glenn MaGee, 29, and forced him to accompany them. Guards fired after the fleeing men but the trio made a clean getaway.

Since the end of World War II the U. S. Army has increased the technical school programs available to recruits to about 150.

U.S. Troops Used As Last Resort

WASHINGTON (AP) — The use of troops to enforce court orders for school segregation was described by a Justice Department official Friday as a last resort measure.

"It is something that no one in the department wants," said Asst. Atty. Gen. W. Wilson White.

White refused, under questioning by Southern members of the Senate judiciary committee, to say troops would not be called out again if deemed necessary by the administration at Little Rock, Ark., or elsewhere.

A former Philadelphia lawyer, White was nominated by President Eisenhower more than six months ago to head the Justice Department's new civil rights division. He has been serving in the post since last Dec. 9 under a recess appointment.

At the close of Friday's hearing, White was directed by Chairman James O. Eastland (D-Miss) to return Monday for more questioning.

Under questioning by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark), White testified "I can say categorically" that it is not the Justice Department's program to enforce school integration at bayonet point.

"Can you say it will not happen?" McClellan demanded.

"In my opinion, it will not," White replied, but he refused to say troops would not be used again in circumstances like those that prevailed at Central High School in Little Rock last September.

"I think we did right under the circumstances," White said of the Little Rock episode.

While McClellan contended the Federal troops were used to enforce school integration, White said they were used to put down mass defiance of a court decree.

McClellan noted that integration of Central High School in Little Rock has been ordered suspended for 2½ years by U. S. district Judge Harry J. Lemley but that the order has been appealed to the circuit court of appeals at St. Louis.

He asked whether, if the suspension order would be overruled and there still was opposition and obstruction this fall to the admission of Negro students at Central High, White would advise Eisenhower to call out troops again.

White replied that the use of armed forces would be considered only if obstruction reached such proportions that civil forces could not cope with it.

McClellan told White it was on his findings and legal conclusions that the President acted last September and said "I'm trying to find out what we're heading for."

Last September White was head of the Justice Department's office of legal counsel and as such directed the legal research and prepared the proclamations issued by Eisenhower in sending troops to Little Rock.

Since World War II less than 10 per cent of employed women have been in domestic service.

'AN HONEST SORT'

Man Admits Pilfer Of Goldfine Papers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A veteran hotel cashier, described as "an honest sort," was arrested Friday in the 10-day old mystery of Bernard Goldfine's pilfered "paperman papers."

William Jackson Walters, 33, a cashier at the Sheraton - Carlton Hotel for seven years, was picked up on his day off and charged with house-breaking. He was released on $1,000 bond.

Meanwhile a dispute developed over whether the Goldfines, who left Washington Friday, visited the rented home of their old friend, Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams, Thursday night. Mrs. Goldfine said they did, but White House Press Secretary James Hagerty said they didn't. Hagerty admitted however that Adams visited Goldfine at his hotel suite this morning.

The case of the stolen papers nearly grabbed the spotlight from the House influence investigation of Goldfine's gift-giving friendship with Adams.

Mildred Paperman, Goldfine's blonde secretary, reported on July 7 that her room at the Sheraton-Carlton had been ransacked during the preceding weekend. She said some papers of the Boston industrialist were missing.

The Goldfine case was rocked by a new sensation when, on the same day Baron L. Shacklette, then chief investigator for the committee which questioned the industrialist, and Jack Anderson, an aide to columnist Drew Pearson, were discovered with a microphone and tape recorder in a room next to that of Jack Lotto, Goldfine's press agent.

Police asked Miss Paperman, Lotto, Shacklette, and Anderson to take lie detector tests to clear themselves of suspicion in the theft. The two Goldfine employes took the tests. Shacklette and Anderson declined, although they denied any part in the ransacking.

The committee fired Shacklette. The Goldfine retinue moved out of the Sheraton-Carlton to the Statler across the street as a result of the theft and "bugging."

Several Hurt In Accidents Around City

Two accidents involving injuries occurred on Monroe's streets yesterday. Another wreck occurred in which only one car was involved.

A young girl hit a telephone pole yesterday after an apparent mental blackout. The teenager told investigating officers she passed a parked car and couldn't remember anything after that time.

Police records showed her car travelled about a hundred feet partly on the curb and partly on the grass until she hit the pole. No charges were filed in the incident.

A 51-year-old bookkeeper passing through Monroe on her way home to Montgomery, Texas was injured slightly when her car was rammed from behind by a truck. Anna D. Weisinger told police she had stopped for a traffic light when a truck - trailer combination hit the rear of her car.

The driver of the truck, H. R. Berry, Longview, Texas, said his brakes failed. No charges were lodged.

Police said a young boy was injured in a similar incident on South Grand Street when a car stopped suddenly in front of the auto driven by Lavera Earl, 21, 708 Nichols St.

Edward Earl, 13, a passenger in her car suffered an eye injury when a car driven by Charles McMillian, Rt. 2, Monroe hit the rear of the Earl auto. No charges were filed.

Three other minor traffic accidents occurred in Monroe yesterday, with two in West Monroe. None of these mishaps involved more than $100 damage.

IN U.N.

U.S. Requests Grave Session

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —The United States called Friday for an emergency session of the U. N. General Assembly to deal with the explosive situation in the Middle East.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge made the proposal immediately after the Soviet Union killed by veto a U. S. resolution to establish an international military force to be sent to Lebanon.

He declared the United States would not be thwarted by a Soviet veto from attempts to restore peace in strife-torn Lebanon.

At the suggestion of Japanese Delegate Koto Matsudaira the Council voted to adjourn until Monday afternoon. He wanted additional time for delegates to study a Japanese proposal providing for expansion of the U.N. observer group in Lebanon. He said he hoped this might enable the United States to withdraw its forces.

Lodge agreed not to press for a vote on the special Assembly until the Japanese resolution is acted upon.

Lodge acted after the Council failed to approve any resolutions stemming from charges by Lebanon and Jordan that President Nasser's United Arab Republic was trying to overturn their governments.

These were the rapid-fire developments in the Council after four days of debate as tense as any during the Suez crisis and the revolt in Hungary late in 1956:

1. The Council defeated 8-1 a resolution by the Soviet Union demanding the immediate withdrawal of the U. S. Marines from Lebanon and British forces from Jordan. Only the Soviet Union voted for the resolution. Japan and Sweden abstained, while "no" votes were recorded by the United States, Britain, Canada, China, France, Iraq, Panama and Colombia.

2. The Soviet Union killed by its 84th veto a U.S. resolution to send an international military force to Lebanon. Sweden abstained and the other nine membes of the council were in favor.

3. A Swedish proposal to suspend activities of the U.N. Emergency Force in Lebanon while U.S. forces are there found only Sweden and the Soviet Union voting yes. All others were opposed.

Lodge said the emergency session of the Assembly would be called upon to consider the complaint by Lebanon against the United Arab Republic.

Soviets Warn U.S., Allies To Withdraw

MOSCOW (UPI) — Russia said Friday it would "have to take the necessary steps" to preserve its own security and world peace if the United States and Britain did not withdraw their armed forces from Lebanon and Jordan.

The Soviet government statement, following a similar blast Wednesday demanding that U. S. forces withdraw "at once" from Lebanon, linked both the United States and Britain in a "premeditated plan of aggressive action to suppress Arab nationalism.

The government said it was issuing the new statement "in connection with the aggression by the U.S.A. and Great Britain in the Near and Middle East."

The key message said:

"The Soviet government declares that the Soviet Union will not remain passive in the matter of this unprovoked aggression in this area which adjoins its frontiers and it will have to take the necessary steps, dictated by the interests of the Soviet Union's security and the preservation of world peace."

The statement demanded that the U. S. Marines and paratroopers in Lebanon and the British paratroopers in Jordan be removed.

Lum Duk, 83-year-old Chinese who came to Vancouver from Hong Kong 61 years ago, has now applied for Canadian citizenship. "I find I like Canada," he explained.

Mildred Paperman, Goldfine's blonde secretary, reported on July 7 that her room at the Sheraton-Carlton had been ransacked during the preceding weekend. She said some papers of the Boston industrialist were missing.

The Goldfine case was rocked by a new sensation when, on the same day Baron L. Shacklette, then chief investigator for the committee which questioned the industrialist, and Jack Anderson, an aide to columnist Drew Pearson, were discovered with a microphone and tape recorder in a room next to that of Jack Lotto, Goldfine's press agent.

Police asked Miss Paperman, Lotto, Shacklette, and Anderson to take lie detector tests to clear themselves of suspicion in the theft. The two Goldfine employes took the tests. Shacklette and Anderson declined, although they denied any part in the ransacking.

The committee fired Shacklette. The Goldfine retinue moved out of the Sheraton-Carlton to the Statler across the street as a result of the theft and "bugging."

Several Hurt In Accidents Around City

Two accidents involving injuries occurred on Monroe's streets yesterday. Another wreck occurred in which only one car was involved.

A young girl hit a telephone pole yesterday after an apparent mental blackout. The teenager told investigating officers she passed a parked car and couldn't remember anything after that time.

Police records showed her car travelled about a hundred feet partly on the curb and partly on the grass until she hit the pole. No charges were filed in the incident.

A 51-year-old bookkeeper passing through Monroe on her way home to Montgomery, Texas was injured slightly when her car was rammed from behind by a truck. Anna D. Weisinger told police she had stopped for a traffic light when a truck - trailer combination hit the rear of her car.

The driver of the truck, H. R. Berry, Longview, Texas, said his brakes failed. No charges were lodged.

Police said a young boy was injured in a similar incident on South Grand Street when a car stopped suddenly in front of the auto driven by Lavera Earl, 21, 708 Nichols St.

Edward Earl, 13, a passenger in her car suffered an eye injury when a car driven by Charles McMillian, Rt. 2, Monroe hit the rear of the Earl auto. No charges were filed.

Three other minor traffic accidents occurred in Monroe yesterday, with two in West Monroe. None of these mishaps involved more than $100 damage.

IN U.N.

U.S. Requests Grave Session

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —The United States called Friday for an emergency session of the U. N. General Assembly to deal with the explosive situation in the Middle East.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge made the proposal immediately after the Soviet Union killed by veto a U. S. resolution to establish an international military force to be sent to Lebanon.

He declared the United States would not be thwarted by a Soviet veto from attempts to restore peace in strife-torn Lebanon.

At the suggestion of Japanese Delegate Koto Matsudaira the Council voted to adjourn until Monday afternoon. He wanted additional time for delegates to study a Japanese proposal providing for expansion of the U.N. observer group in Lebanon. He said he hoped this might enable the United States to withdraw its forces.

Lodge agreed not to press for a vote on the special Assembly until the Japanese resolution is acted upon.

Lodge acted after the Council failed to approve any resolutions stemming from charges by Lebanon and Jordan that President Nasser's United Arab Republic was trying to overturn their governments.

These were the rapid-filre developments in the Council after four days of debate as tense as any during the Suez crisis and the revolt in Hungary late in 1956:

1. The Council defeated 8-1 a resolution by the Soviet Union demanding the immediate withdrawal of the U. S. Marines from Lebanon and British forces from Jordan. Only the Soviet Union voted for the resolution. Japan and Sweden abstained, while "no" votes were recorded by the United States, Britain, Canada, China, France, Iraq, Panama and Colombia.

2. The Soviet Union killed by its 84th veto a U.S. resolution to send an international military force to Lebanon. Sweden abstained and the other nine membes of the council were in favor.

3. A Swedish proposal to suspend activities of the U.N. Emergency Force in Lebanon while U.S. forces are there found only Sweden and the Soviet Union voting yes. All others were opposed.

Lodge said the emergency session of the Assembly would be called upon to consider the complaint by Lebanon against the United Arab Republic.

Soviets Warn U.S., Allies To Withdraw

MOSCOW (UPI) — Russia said Friday it would "have to take the necessary steps" to preserve its own security and world peace if the United States and Britain did not withdraw their armed forces from Lebanon and Jordan.

The Soviet government statement, following a similar blast Wednesday demanding that U. S. forces withdraw "at once" from Lebanon, linked both the United States and Britain in a "premeditated plan of aggressive action to suppress Arab nationalism.

The government said it was issuing the new statement "in connection with the aggression by the U.S.A. and Great Britain in the Near and Middle East."

The key message said:

"The Soviet government declares that the Soviet Union will not remain passive in the matter of this unprovoked aggression in this area which adjoins its frontiers and it will have to take the necessary steps, dictated by the interests of the Soviet Union's security and the preservation of world peace."

The statement demanded that the U. S. Marines and paratroopers in Lebanon and the British paratroopers in Jordan be removed.

Lum Duk, 83-year-old Chinese who came to Vancouver from Hong Kong 61 years ago, has now applied for Canadian citizenship. "I find I like Canada," he explained.

Ruston Defeats Monroe, 10-6, In First Of Series

RUSTON, La. (Special) — Ruston beat Monroe's defending state American Legion champions, 10-6, here last night in a sloppily - played playoff opener.

Ruston's T. L. James Company nine sent six runs across in the first inning and pushed over what proved to be the winning run in the next inning. Brown-Rivers-Scoggin of Monroe used six pitchers in a vain attempt to hold down the score.

Monroe made four errors in the contest while Ruston booted nine.

Joe Cage started for the losers and left without retiring a man. Bob Satterfield, Dooley Haddad, Danny Perkins, John Talley and Ronnie Sims followed. John Porter was the Ruston starter but gave way to winner Roy Young in the fifth.

In the first, Charley Fuller led off with a single. Cage hit a batter, then walked one. Bo Dick Smith was safe on an error and two ru.s came in. Troy Bryant walked to load the bases and Cage was replaced by Satterfield. T. L. Brooks greeted the new pitcher with a three-run triple and later scored the final run of the inning on an infield grounder.

Lewis scored the 7th run in the second when he singled to right, went to third on the right fielder's error and continued on in to score on the third baseman's error.

Monroe only got three hits in the game and 14-year-old catcher Eddie Kincaid got 2 of them. James Cromwell drove in two runs for the losers.

The teams continue their two - out - of - three series at Monroe tonight with an 8:00 game. Ruston now leads the series, 1-0.

Bosox Shell Detroit For 11-9 Victory

BOSTON (AP)—Frank Malzone tagged a tie-breaking grand slam homer, Pete Runnels collected five hits to take over the American League batting lead Friday and their Boston teammates profited for a 11-9 victory over Detroit.

Malzone lofted his big blow into the left field screen to dissolve a 6-6 deadlock in the seventh inning. Runnels got three doubles and two singles in six trips that sent his average to .334.

The pair drove in seven runs as Boston posted its fifth straight victory and tightened its hold on second place by pulling 3½ games ahead of the Tigers.

A total of eight pitchers, five of them in Detroit colors, surrendered 33 hits. The Red Sox had a season's high of 18 and the Tigers managed 15.

Boston rookie right-hander, Bill Monbouquette, making his first major league appearance, was the victim of sloppy fielding and two unearned runs as the Sox fell behind 5-1 after 2½ innings.

But the 21-year-old was down only one run when he was lifted for pinch hitter Billy Klaus, who tied the score 5-5 on a single in the fifth inning.

Ted Williams put the Sox ahead in the sixth by scoring on a wild pitch after he doubled and took third on a pair of walks. In the seventh Frank Bolling singled Detroit back into a deadlock.

In the bottom of the seventh, Malzone, who had driven in a run earlier on a single, homered off reliever Bill Fischer after winner Murray Wall and Runnels singled and Williams walked.

INSECURE MARGIN

Finsterwald, Hebert Hold Lead In Stormy PGA Play

By WILL GRIMSLEY

HAVERTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Dow Finsterwald an dJay Hebert steered a steady course through a storm of pickups, blowups and foulups Friday an dtied for the halfway lead in the Professional Golfers Assn. Championship at 139.

They held an insecure one-stroke edge over three of the sports most formidable competitors—Sam Snead, Julius Boros and Bill Casper Jr.—with more than a dozen others no more than four strokes farther back.

It was a day of chaos and confusion over the Llanerch Country Club course.

Jack Fleck, the unknown who beat Ben Hogan for the National Open championship in 1955, left the course after three holes in a reported protest against playing conditions and drew a $100 fine.

Then, shortly afterwards, Jimmy Demaret, for more than a decade one of the game's brightest stars, blew himself to an 84 after an opening 69 and was disqualified for inadvertently signing an erroneous scorecard.

Disgusted over what he called the worst round of his bigtime career—a card which saw par doubled on two holes—Demaret unknowingly signed for a five on the 14th hole and an 83 total. Actually he took a six for 84.

Signing a wrong card, under official rules, means automatic disqualification. The most famous similar case in recent years was the disqualification of Jackie Pung in the 1957 women's National Open after she had signed for a wrong score on one hole although her total was correct.

Ted Kroll, Demaret's partner, was an accomplice in the mistake. It was he who put down the five. Golfers are required to double-check their cards before making them official through signatures.

Fleck left the tournament premises and checked out of the hotel without giving any official reason for his withdrawal. Earlier he had protested strongly against rules which forbade cleaning the ball or replacing an imbedded ball.

Fleck's playing partners, Bo Wininger and Herman Barron, said he had complained of being ill.

Finsterwald, the tournament "Bridesmaid" from Tequesta, Fla., birdied two of the last three holes, sinking a 13-foot downhill putt on the 18th, for a second round 72. He had led the opening round with 67, one stroke ahead of Jay Hebert.

Jay, older brother of the defending champion Lionel Hebert, reeled off four straight birdies on the finishing holes for a 71. He sank a 20-foot putt on the 15th and a difficult 15-footer on the final green.

Snead, seeking his fourth PGA crown, and Casper, the chubby Apple Valley, Calif., pro who is the second leading money winner, each shot 67, lowest score of the day over the 6,727-yard par 70 course.

Boros, the bull-like battler from Southern Pines, N. C., played near perfect golf for a 68. He didn't have a bogey and missed only three greens.

Two strokes off the lead at 141 came a pair of darkhorse club professionals, tiny Felice Torza of Aurora, Ill., and Bill Collins of Baltimore.

Torza, runner-up to Walter Burkemo in the PGA in 1953 when it was a match play event, shot a 72. Collins, a young unemployed pro who formerly was the home pro at Ferndale, N. Y., shot a 70.

Four were tied at 142. They were Tommy Bolt, the chastened National Open champion who is on his best behavior; defending titleholder, Lionel Hebert, and two ex-champs, Jack Burke Jr. and Doug Ford.

Don Whitt of Alameda, Calif., and the veteran Ted Kroll were next at 143.

HOT SPRINGS, VA.

Jessen, Smith Still Lead 4-Ball

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)—Long hitting Wiffi Smith and Ruth Jessen continued their mastery of the Cascades Course Friday with a two-under-par best ball of 72 that gave them a 142 total and a three-stroke lead at the halfway point of the Hot Springs Women's Four-Ball Golf Tournament.

While their closest pursuers failed to maintain their early pace Miss Smith, who plays out of St. Clair, Mich., and Miss Jessen, from Seattle, were the very picture of consistency.

They carded four birdies, three of them on the front nine, while going out in 35, two under regulation, and coming home in even par 37.

The 21-year-old professionals had claimed a two-stroke advantage with a brilliant 70 in Thursday's first round.

Moving into sole ownership of second place after 36 holes of the 72-hole, $7,500 tournament was the team of Jackie Pung and Joyce Ziske, who had a 73 to go with their first-round 72 for a total of 145.

Defending champions Marilynn Smith and Fay Crocker settled for a par 74 in the second round and fell to third place with 146.

Miss Smith and Miss Jessen were only one of four teams who shot 72's in the second day of competition. The others were Wanda Sanches and Peggy Kirk Bell, who moved into fourth place with a two-round 147; and the teams of Bonnie Randolph-Betty Bush, and Jon Snyder-Louise Suggs.

Beverly Hanson, Indio, Calif., and Kathy Cornelius, Lake Worth, Fla., 77-73—150.

McBeth homered twice in the second game for Emmanuel and Boyd and Dean each got 3 hits. Massingill and Moore blasted roundtrippers for the losers.

Trinity downed Temple, 9-2, in the Church "B" League, as Dalby hurled a two-hitter with Chapman as his catcher. Furlow, Duncan, and Sanford each collected two hits for Trinity. The losing battery was Vining and Fletcher.

Gordon Avenue blanked First Methodist, 14-0, as Travis Brown handcuffed opposing batters with a two-hitter. Yates was Brown's catcher. Cox led the winners with two hits.

Harris Departs For California, Final Training

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Roy Harris, the Texas schoolteacher who is undefeated in the boxing ring, departed for California Friday for the final phase of training for his heavyweight title bout Aug. 18 in Los Angeles with champion Floyd Patterson.

Lou Viscusi, manager of Harris said Friday his offer of $5,000 for Willie Pastrano to work as a sparring partner at Arrowhead Springs has been turned down but that he may make similar offers to Eddie Machen and the winner of the Zora Folley - Pete Rademacher fight.

READY FOR TOURNEY

Teener All-Star Squad Selected

Teener Baseball League all-stars to represent Monroe in tournament at Bossier City the regional championship were named yesterday by the sponsoring Rodney J. Hobbs post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars here after their selection by team managers.

The squad will be managed by Eddie H. Kincaid, for several seasons a veteran of handling Little League, Babe Ruth, and Teener teams as his sons have worked up through the various leagues.

Bossier City hosts the tournament at Bossier High School diamond July 28 through 31, with the winner there qualifying for the national tournament at Hershey, Pa., August 10 through 15.

The all-stars met yesterday at the Northeast State diamond to begin working out together for their tourney appearance. They were selected by ballot of the club managers.

NEWK LASTS

Reds Take Pair From Cardinals

CINCINNATI (AP)—Tight and crafty pitching by veterans Don Newcombe and Bob Purkey plus some homer hitting helped the resurgent Cincinnati Redlegs sweep a twi-night doubleheader from St. Louis' Cardinals Friday night, 8-3, and 2-1.

It was the seventh loss in a row for the Cards who were bumped out of the first division.

And the Reds, just out of a seven-game slump that had sent them to the cellar, banged out 17 hits in running a new victory string to three.

Frankie Robinson's ninth inning homer won the game and snapped a tie in the nightcap that had continued from the fourth inning.

Newcombe not only went all the way in the opener but chipped in some useful plate power— a single, double and a two-run homer.

But his biggest contribution in the sultry evening heat was scattering 10 Cardinal hits strategically.

The Cards touched him for two homers and another run on two hits, but otherwise he had strong control.

He loaded the bases in the fifth inning on two singles and a walk to Musial, but Ken Boyer hit into a force play for the third out.

The game was pulled out of Cardinal reach in the sixth inning by Walt Dropo's bases-loaded double good for three runs.

The Reds had scored twice in the first without a hit. Johnny Temple and Alex Grammas walked, and a passed ball scored Temple. Grammas came in on a sacrifice fly.

Big Newk's homer made it 4-0 in the second inning. And the Reds added another marker in the fourth when Newcombe doubled, took third on a sacrifice and scored when catcher Hal Smith muffed a throw.

Joe Taylor's homer got the Cards started in the third inning, and Cunningham's four-base blast ended St. Louis scoring in the ninth. Wally Moon doubled and scored on Flood's single in the sixth.

Great Britain Gains European Zone Cup Finals

Bobby Wilson and Mike Davies, who won the two singles matches Thursday, combined Friday for a 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-1 triumph over Jean Claude Molinari and Pierre Darmon of France. That triumph boosted the count to 3-0 for England and made Saturday's concluding singles mere formalities.

SET FOR 10TH SEASON

GARDEN CITY, N. Y. (AP) — Carl Braun took time out from his amateur golf to send in his 10th contract with the New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Assn. Braun joined the Knicks from Colgate in 1946 and had his best campaign last season when he scored 1,173 points in 71 games for a 16.5 average. He was third in scoring in the Knicks and 15th among the NBA leaders. In seven of Braun's nine seasons with the Knicks he led the team in scoring.

Would Require Numbering Of All Motorboats

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation requiring the numbering of small motorboats as part of a Marine safety program was passed Friday by the House and sent to the Senate.

Passage was by standing vote of 181-29.

The bill applies to all boats propelled by motors having more than 7½ horsepower, regardless of their length. Existing law requires registration of all motorboats over 16 feet in length.

Effective date of the proposed law would be April 1, 1960. Between now and then states are expected to adopt uniform safety laws for motorboating and to provide for registration of boats. They could fix the fees. Registration in states that don't adopt their own laws would be handled by the Coast Guard. All registrations would be valid for three years.

Scanlon Racks Up 26th Win In Succession

NEW YORK (AP)—Undefeated Bobby Scanlon racked up his 26th straight victory Friday night by flooring and decisively outpointing Gale Kerwin in a television 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

Scanlon, of San Francisco, weighed 134½ to Kerwin's 134½.

Scanlon was penalized the eighth round for repeated holding but he won the verdict from the three officials handily. Judge Artie Schwartz had it 7-3 while Referee Art Merchante and Judge Bill Recht had it 6-3-1. The AP card had Scanlon in front, 7-3.

Scanlon's record now is 30 wins and one draw. Kerwin suffered his seventh defeat. He has won 27.

Both were warned several times for holding and Referee Mercante took the eighth from Bobby for continuing to lock arms in the eighth. Kerwin was warned for butting and hitting on the break.

Kerwin, sidelined for four months by anemia, was way off form. He missed often and couldn't get off any combinations to the head.

Kerwin was cut over the left eye in the ninth round.

A crowd of about 1,500 rattled in the big arena. The official crowd and gate figures were not announced.

Ruston Defeats Monroe, 10-6, In First Of Series

RUSTON, La. (Special) — Ruston beat Monroe's defending state American Legion champions, 10-6, here last night in a sloppily - played playoff opener.

Ruston's T. L. James Company nine sent six runs across in the first inning and pushed over what proved to be the winning run in the next inning. Brown-Rivers-Scoggin of Monroe used six pitchers in a vain attempt to hold down the score.

Monroe made four errors in the contest while Ruston booted nine.

Joe Cage started for the losers and left without retiring a man. Bob Satterfield, Dooley Haddad, Danny Perkins, John Talley and Ronnie Sims followed. John Porter was the Ruston starter but gave way to winner Roy Young in the fifth.

In the first, Charley Fuller led off with a single, Cage hit a batter, then walked one, Bo Dick Smith was safe on an error and two runs came in. Troy Bryant walked to load the bases and Cage was replaced by Satterfield. T. L. Brooks greeted the new pitcher with a three-run triple and later scored the final run of the inning on an infield grounder.

Lewis scored the 7th run in the second when he singled to right, went to third on the right fielder's error and continued on in to score on the third baseman's error.

Monroe only got three hits in the game and 14-year-old catcher Eddie Kincaid got 2 of them. James Cromwell drove in two runs for the losers.

The teams continue their two - out - of - three series at Monroe tonight with an 8:00 game. Ruston now leads the series, 1-0.

Score by innings:

INSECURE MARGIN

Finsterwald, Hebert Hold Lead In Stormy PGA Play

By WILL GRIMSLEY

HAVERTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Dow Finsterwald an dJay Hebert steered a steady course through a storm of pickups, blowups and foulups Friday an dtied for the halfway lead in the Professional Golfers Assn. Championship at 139.

They held an insecure one-stroke edge over three of the sports most formidable competitors—Sam Snead, Julius Boros and Bill Casper Jr.—with more than a dozen others no more than four strokes farther back.

It was a day of chaos and confusion over the Llanerch Country Club course.

Jack Fleck, the unknown who beat Ben Hogan for the National Open championship in 1955, left the course after three holes in a reported protest against playing conditions and drew a $100 fine.

Then, shortly afterwards, Jimmy Demaret, for more than a decade one of the game's brightest stars, blew himself to an 84 after an opening 69 and was disqualified for inadvertently signing an erroneous scorecard.

Disgusted over what he called the worst round of his bigtime career—a card which saw par doubled on two holes—Demaret unthinkingly signed for a five on the 14th hole and an 83 total. Actually he took a six for 84.

Signing a wrong card, under official rules, means automatic disqualification. The most famous similar case in recent years was the disqualification of Jackie Pung in the 1957 women's National Open after she had signed for a wrong score on one hole although her total was correct.

Ted Kroll, Demaret's partner, was an accomplice in the mistake. It was he who put down the five. Golfers are required to double-check their cards before making them official through signatures.

Fleck left the tournament premises and checked out of the hotel without giving any official reason for his withdrawal. Earlier he had protested strongly against rules which forbade cleaning the ball or replacing an imbedded ball.

Fleck's playing partners, Bo Wininger and Herman Barron, said he had complained of being ill.

Finsterwald, the tournament "Bridesmaid" from Tequesta, Fla., birdied two of the last three holes, sinking a 15-foot downhill putt on the 18th, for a second round 72. He nad led the opening round with 67, one stroke ahead of Jay Hebert.

Jay, older brother of the defending champion Lionel Hebert, reeled off four straight birdies on the finishing holes for a 71. He sank a 20-foot putt on the 15th and a difficult 15-footer on the final green.

Snead, seeking his fourth PGA crown, and Casper, the chubby Apple Valley, Calif., pro who is the second leading money winner, each shot 67, lowest score of the day over the 6,727-yard par 70 course.

Boros, the bull-like battler from Southern Pines, N. C., played near perfect golf for a 68. He did't have a bogey and missed only three greens.

Two strokes off the lead at 141 came a pair of darkhorse club professionals, tiny Felice Torza of Aurora, Ill., and Bill Collins of Baltimore.

Torza, runner-up to Walter Burkemo in the PGA in 1953 when it was a match play event, shot a 72. Collins, a young unemployed pro who formerly was the home pro at Ferndale, N. Y., shot a 70.

Four were tied at 142. They were Tommy Bolt, the chastened National Open champion who is on his best behavior; defending titleholder, Lionel Hebert, and two ex-champs, Jack Burke Jr. and Doug Ford.

Don Whitt of Alameda, Calif., and the veteran Ted Kroll were next at 143.

HOT SPRINGS, VA.

Jessen, Smith Still Lead 4-Ball

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)—Long hitting Wiffi Smith and Ruth Jessen continued their mastery of the Cascades Course Friday with a two-under-par best ball of 72 that gave them a 142 total and a three-stroke lead at the halfway point of the Hot Springs Women's Four-ball Golf Tournament.

While their closest pursuers failed to maintain their early pace Miss Smith, who plays out of St. Clair, Mich., and Miss Jessen, from Seattle, were the very picture of consistency.

They carded four birdies, three of them on the front nine, while going out in 35, two under regulation, and coming home in even par 37.

The 21-year-old professionals had claimed a two-stroke advantage with a brilliant 70 in Thursday's first round.

Moving into sole ownership of second place after 36 holes of the 72-hole, $7,500 tournament was the team of Jackie Pung and Joyce Ziske, who had a 73 to go with their first-round 72 for a total of 145.

Defending champions Marilynn Smith and Fay Crocker settled for a par 74 in the second round and fell to third place with 146.

Miss Smith and Miss Jessen were only one of four teams who shot 72's in the second day of competition. The others were Wanda Sanches and Peggy Kirk Bell, who moved into fourth place with a two-round 147; and the teams of Bonnie Randolph-Betty Bush, and Jon Snyder-Louise Suggs.

Wiffi Smith, St. Clair, Mich., and Ruth Jessen, Seattle, 70-72—142.

Marilyn Smith, Wichita, Kan., and Fay Crocker, Montevideo, Uruguay, 72-74—146.

Teener All-Star Squad Selected

Teener Baseball League all-stars to represent Monroe in tournament at Bossier City the regional championship were named yesterday by the sponsoring Rodney J. Hobbs post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars here after their selection by team managers.

The squad will be managed by Eddie H. Kincaid, for several seasons a veteran of handling Little League, Babe Ruth, and Teener teams as his sons have worked up through the various leagues.

Bossier City hosts the tournament at Bossier High School diamond July 28 through 31, with the winner there qualifying for the national tournament at Hershey, Pa., August 10 through 15.

The all-stars met yesterday at the Northeast State diamond to begin working out together for their tourney appearance. They were selected by ballot of the club managers.

Reds Take Pair From Cardinals

CINCINNATI (AP)—Tight and crafty pitching by veterans Don Newcombe and Bob Purkey plus some homer hitting helped the resurgent Cincinnati Redlegs sweep a twi-night doubleheader from St. Louis' Cardinals Friday night, 8-3, and 2-1.

It was the seventh loss in a row for the Cards who were bumped out of the first division.

And the Reds, just out of a seven-game slump that had sent them to the cellar, banged out 17 hits in running a new victory string to three.

Frankie Robinson's ninth inning homer won the game and snapped a tie in the nightcap that had continued from the fourth inning.

Newcombe not only went all the way in the opener but chipped in some useful plate power— a single, double and a two-run homer.

But his biggest contribution in the sultry evening heat was scattering 10 Cardinal hits strategically.

The Cards touched him for two homers and another run on two hits, but otherwise he had strong control.

He loaded the bases in the fifth inning on two singles and a walk to Musial, but Ken Boyer hit into a force play for the third out.

The game was pulled out of Cardinal reach in the sixth inning by Walt Dropo's bases-loaded double good for three runs.

The Reds had scored twice in the first without a hit. Johnny Temple and Alex Grammas walked, and a passed ball scored Temple. Grammas came in on a sacrifice fly.

Big Newk's homer made it 4-0 in the second inning. And the Reds added another marker in the fourth when Newcombe doubled, took third on a sacrifice and scored when catcher Hal Smith muffed a throw.

Joe Taylor's homer got the Cards started in the third inning, and Cunningham's four-base blast ended St. Louis scoring in the ninth. Wally Moon doubled and scored on Flood's single in the sixth.

Great Britain Gains European Zone Cup Finals

Bobby Wilson and Mike Davies, who won the two singles matches Thursday, combined Friday for a 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-1 triumph over Jean Claude Molinari and Pierre Darmon of France. That triumph boosted the count to 3-0 for England and made Saturday's concluding singles mere formalities.

SET FOR 10TH SEASON

GARDEN CITY, N. Y. (AP) — Carl Braun took time out from his amateur golf to send in his 10th contract with the New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Assn. Braun joined the Knicks from Colgate in 1946 and had his best campaign last season when he scored 1,173 points in 71 games for a 16.5 average. He was third in scoring in the Knicks and 15th among the NBA leaders. In seven of Braun's nine seasons with the Knicks he led the team in scoring.

Would Require Numbering Of All Motorboats

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation requiring the numbering of small motorboats as part of a Marine safety program was passed Friday by the House and sent to the Senate.

Passage was by standing vote of 181-29.

The bill applies to all boats propelled by motors having more than 7½ horsepower, regardless of their length. Existing law requires registration of all motorboats over 16 feet in length.

Effective date of the proposed law would be April 1, 1960. Between now and then states are expected to adopt uniform safety laws for motorboating and to provide for registration of boats. They could fix the fees. Registration in states that don't adopt their own laws would be handled by the Coast Guard. All registrations would be valid for three years.

Cardinals Sign Bernice Hurler To Bonus Pact

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Richard Hughes, star University of Arkansas pitcher, from Shreveport, was signed by the St. Louis Cardinals for a "substantial bonus."

The bespectacled fireballer was signed by Fred Hawn, Southwest Area scout for the Cardinals, to a contract with Winston-Salem of the Class B Carolina League and immediately optioned to Keokuk, Iowa, of the Midwest League.

Hughes had been pitching for Bernice of Louisiana's Big Eight Amateur League this summer. His pitching helped Byrd High School of Shreveport win the state Class AAA championship in 1956.

Scanlon Racks Up 26th Win In Succession

NEW YORK (AP)—Undefeated Bobby Scanlon racked up his 26th straight victory Friday night by flooring and decisively outpointing Gale Kerwin in a television 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

Scanlon, of San Francisco, weighed 134½ to Kerwin's 134½.

Scanlon was penalized the eighth round for repeated holding but he won the verdict from the three officials handily. Judge Artie Schwartz had it 7-3 while Referee Art Merchante and Judge Bill Recht had it 6-3-1. The AP card had Scanlon in front, 7-3.

Scanlon's record now is 30 wins and one draw. Kerwin suffered his seventh defeat. He has won 27.

Both were warned several times for holding and Referee Mercante took the eighth from Bobby for continuing to lock arms in the eighth. Kerwin was warned for butting and hitting on the break.

Kerwin, sidelined for four months by anemia, was way off form. He missed often and couldn't get off any cominbations to the head.

Kerwin was cut over the left eye in the ninth round.

A crowd of about 1,500 rattled in the big arena. The official crowd and gate figures were not announced.

GREGORY RESTING

NORTHAMPTON, Eng. (AP)—Masten Gregory of Kansas City, injured Thursday in a crash during a time trial for Saturday's Grand Prix race, was "fairly comfortable" Friday in Silverstone Hospital. He suffered a concussion and face lacerations.

He was scheduled to drive a British BGM in the big race.

Bosox Shell Detroit For 11-9 Victory

BOSTON (AP)—Frank Malzone tagged a tie-breaking grand slam homer, Pete Runnels collected five hits to take over the American League batting lead Friday and their Boston teammates profited for a 11-9 victory over Detroit.

Malzone lofted his big blow into the left field screen to dissolve a 6-6 deadlock in the seventh inning. Runnsels got three doubles and two singles in six trips that sent his average to .334.

The pair drove in seven runs as Boston posted its fifth straight victory and tightened its hold on second place by pulling 3½ games ahead of the Tigers.

A total of eight pitchers, five of them in Detroit colors, surrendered 33 hits. The Red Sox had a season's high of 18 and the Tigers managed 15.

Boston rookie right-hander, Bill Monbouquette, making his first major league appearance, was the victim of sloppy fielding and two unearned runs as the Sox fell behind 5-1 after 2½ innings.

But the 21-year-old was down only one run when he was lifted for pinch hitter Billy Klaus, who tied the score 5-5 on a single in the fifth inning.

Ted Williams put the Sox ahead in the sixth by scoring on a wild pitch after he doubled and took third on a pair of walks. In the seventh Frank Bolling singled Detroit back into a deadlock.

In the bottom of the seventh, Malzone, who had driven in a run earlier on a single, homered off reliever Bill Fischer after winner Murray Wall and Runnels singled and Williams walked.

Athletics Strike Early, Whip Yankees In 2-1 Tilt

NEW YORK (AP)—The Kansas City Athletics wrapped up their scoring in the first two innings and went on to beat New York 2-1 Friday night as left-hander Dick Tomanek worked out of a ninth-inning jam that cost him a shutout.

The first three A's to bat—Mike Baxes, Bill Tuttle and Roger Maris—singled for a run. The second run came on a single by Frank House, a pair of infield outs that moved him to third and a single by Baxes.

Don Larsen went the distance for the first time since June 22 for the Yankees, but wound up with a 7-4 record and his first defeat by the A's since Aug. 31, 1954.

Tomanek, 27, making his first start after compiling a 2-1 record in relief since the June 15 deal that sent him to the A's from Cleveland, now is 5-4 for the season, with three victories over New York.

The Yankees, who haven't been shut out by a southpaw since Cleveland's Herb Score did it on Aug. 21, 1956, had eight hits before the ninth, but few good chances.

With two out in the ninth, Andy Carey and Norm Siebern got their second singles of the game. Then Carey cracked through Tomanek's bid for his major league shutout when pinch hitter Yogi Berra punched a bad - hop single past first baseman Harry Simpson on a 3-2 pitch.

Larsen then flied out to right to end it for the 21,873 fans who saw the A's gain but their second victory in the last 11 games.

The A's never had beaten Larsen since the big right - hander switched to a Yankee uniform. He had a 8-0 record against them since that 1954 defeat, when the A's were from Philadelphia and he led the league in defeats with a 3-21 record for Baltimore.

This one was a great duel. Tomanek was touched for 11 hits, but struck out four and didn't walk a man. Larsen gave up eight hits, but blanked the A's on three after the second inning. He gave up the lone walk of the game and struck out four.

The A's not only got a quick run in the first inning, but also got rid of Yankee center fielder Mickey Mantle. The Nick collided with shortstop Tony Kubek chasing Baxes' leadoff single, stayed in the game until the seventh, when he went out to nurse a bruised left forearm.

WYNN STRONG

Pale Sox Breeze Past Solons, 9-2

WASHINGTON (AP) — With Early Wynn restricting Washington to four hits and Al Smith knocking in five runs on a grand slam homer and two doubles, the Chicago White Sox breezed to a 9-2 victory over the Senators Friday night.

Wynn fanned 11, bringing his season's total to 101, the ninth straight year he has topped the 100 mark.

The 38-year - old Wynn, with more shutouts than any other active American League pitcher, was deprived of the 40th of his career in the eighth. The usually flawless White Sox shortstop-second base pair of Luis Aparicio and Nellie Fox erred permitting the Senators to score two unearned runs.

Washington rookie John Romonosky matched Wynn's shutout pitching for the first three innings. But with two out and none on in the fourth, Romonosky walked Earl Battey. Smith then went into action.

The Senators broke their scoreless spell in the eighth. Ossie Alvarez singled and pinch hitter Julio Becquer walked. When Fox fumbled Herb Plews' apparent double-play grounder, the bases were loaded. Then, with one out, Aparicio messed up Neil Chrisley's apparent doubleplay hopper, and two runs scampered across.

Yank Track Team Awaits Official Okay

NEW YORK (AP)—The strongest track team the United States ever has assembled except for an Olympic Games waited Friday to learn if it would leave for Moscow Sunday night.

"We are ready to go or we are ready to stay," said Dan Ferris, honorary secretary - treasurer of the American Athletic Union, in charge of preparations.

The team, 76 strong, is scheduled to leave on a chartered plane from Idlewild at 7:45 p.m., EST, Sunday, arriving in Moscow Monday about midnight, Moscow time.

"The last time I was in touch with the State Department in Washington I was told that everything appeared to be on schedule and that if any change were made because of the Middle East crisis I would be informed promptly," said Ferris. "We have a man in Washington finishing up the formalities, including visas from other places we will visit."

The U.S. team is scheduled to meet the Russians on Sunday and Monday, July 27 and 28, in Moscow in the first dual meet between the two nations, and the largest athletic competition involving athletes of the United States and USSR.

Moss Wins Best Starting Berth In Grand Prix

Monroe Speed Bowl Getting Improvements

There will be no stock car racing at the Monroe Speed Bowl on the Winnsboro road tonight, it was announced yesterday by A. J. Whitlock, owner of the quarter-mile track.

Whitlock said additional work is being undertaken on the track, widening it and making other improvements to assure better races in the future. Whitlock said the track will reopen for business next Saturday night.

Giammalva Drops Favored Barry M'Kay

The scrappy Giammalva polished off his slugging opponent 6-3, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3 in suburban River Forest.

Giammalva ignored MacKay's No. 5 national ranking and ran the towering Dayton, Ohio, star all over the court.

His favorite strategy was to serve MacKay a tempting lob, drawing the slugger to the net. MacKay would smash, and Giammalva would casually return the ball down the sidelines, out of reach of his slower-moving opponent.

MacKay was visibly dissatisfied with his play during the last two sets and let off steam by slamming the ball high in the air or against the screen behind the court.

Bernard "Tut" Bartzen protected his No. 2 seeding by polishing off Henry Crawford of Atlanta, Ga., the only unseeded player then remaining in singles play, 6-0, 6-3, 6-2. The 30-year-old Dallas veteran has lost only 12 games in nine sets so far.

Mrs. Dorothy Head Knode of Forest Hills, N. Y., hoping for an unprecedented third singles title, had a far rougher time getting into the finals than her 6-0, 6-0 score over Baby Vivanco of Mexico would indicate.

Mrs. Knode played with a painfully injured arm after her doctor administered an injection to ease the pain.

Mrs. Knode said the pain decreased after the arm loosened up but that she might have to cancel tournament arrangements for the next few weeks if the arm still hurts after River Forest play ends Sunday.

Grant Golden of Chicago pulled the second upset of the day, defeating Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., 7-5, 6-1, 6-1. Reed was seeded third, two ahead of Golden.

Homer-Happy Cubs Paste Braves With 5-3 Defeat

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—The muscle-flexing Chicago Cubs bombarded the world champion Milwaukee Braves with their home run artillery Friday, Ernie Banks and Walt Moryn triggering them to a 5-3 victory.

The Braves, who also added a couple of blasts by Joe Adcock and Hank Aaron, ended a five-game winning streak.

The third-place Cubs now have totaled 105 homers for the campaign and nudged closer to the top spot in winning their 11th game in the last 15 starts.

The Cubs, playing before an overflow Wrigley Field ladies day crowd of 43,175—highest in several years—packed three runs into the third inning off Carlton Willye, recently recalled from Wichita where he had pitched a no-hitter earlier in the season.

Al Dark led off with a single and Lee Walls followed with another to mark the 14th straight game he has hit safely. Then Banks hammered his 25th homer 420 feet into the left center stands.

Aaron's 19th homer in the sixth —giving the Braves a total of 103 —locked the score 3-3.

That's the way it stayed until the Cubs again got to Willey in the eighth to hand him his third setback against a pair of victories.

Sammy Taylor started it with a double, his only hit. Then Moryn, hitless in three trips, stepped up with moose calls from the crowd ring in his ears.

The crowd was the largest for a ladies day in three years and an estimated 2,000 persons were turned away at the gates. Paid attendance was 27,257, leaving 15,916 on the guest list.

WOODESHICK WINS FIRST START

Indians Check Baltimore, 5-1

BALTIMORE (AP)—Rookie Hal Woodeshick, making his first start this season, checked Baltimore on seven hits Friday as Bob Averill smashed a three-run homer in Cleveland's 5-1 victory over the Orioles.

The only Baltimore run leaked through in the sixth inning, when the Tribe made two errors, one of them Woodeshick's wild throw.

Averill's second inning smash, his first homer of the season, featured an 11-hit attack on three Baltimore pitchers. Lary Doby and Rocky Colavito opened that inning with singles, and after Russ Nixon grounded out, Averill parked one in the left field stands.

The hitting and pitching stars were celebrating together. They were both called up from San Diego at the same time recently.

Woodeschick, a southpaw, had a 10-2 record in the Pacific Coast League before his recall.

The Indians scored their fourth run in the fifth inning. Minnie Minoso slapped a grounder that Robinson couldn't handle at third base and it went for a double. He went to third on an infield out and Doby singled him home.

The Tribe's final run came in the seventh when Mickey Vernon tripled and scored on Willy Miranda's throwing error.

Errors by Woodeshick and Billy Hunter in the sixth marred the Cleveland hurler's try for a shutout. Woodeshick's wild throw to first enabled Jim Busby to take third base, and when Hunter threw wildly to first trying to double off Dick Williams, Busby went home.

Averill, Minoso and Doby each had two hits for Cleveland, and Busby, Williams and Bob Boyd paced the Orioles with a pair apiece.

The winning team will meet England in the zone finals.

LEADS TO NO GOOD

Feller Scores Bonus Payments

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

Both Feller, Cleveland's former strikeout king, and Robinson, ex-Dodger third baseman, testified before the Senate anti-monopoly subcommittee on House - passed sports legislation.

"Don't punish" young players by discontinuing bonuses, Robinson said. He said payments for signing a contract provide youngsters with a nest egg to live on, if it turns out that they lack the ability to make a career of the major leagues.

Feller said these bonuses lead to no good. Based only on hopes for the future, he contended, they bring "undue attention on a young boy. . . may turn his head. . . cause resentment among his teammates. . . He may not be able to take it all in stride."

A new baseball rule permitting major league teams to draft players with four years experience in the minors "will tend to do away with some of the ridiculous bonuses being paid," Feller said.

Feller added that baseball must "really be in bad shape" if its operators insist bonuses are necessary to build up their clubs.

Feller said he was born 20 years too soon—all he received for signing was those three baseballs. He did say he was lucky enough to be "among the many who were signed illegally."

In the 1930s, when Feller was signed off his Iowa farm home, big league clubs were forbidden to grab schoolboys and sandlotters from the minors. Feller said he received a contract with the Fargo, N. D., team and by imaginary shifts came swiftly up through the minors to Cleveland.

Actually he came up directly.

"The guy who signed me was made general manager of Cleveland the next year," Feller said.

Now a baseball broadcaster, Feller testified that Congress, baseball and the networks have a crucial problem to solve in balancing the public's desire for home television of big league games and the damage done to minor league gate receipts.

The bill before the subcommittee affects pro baseball, football, basketball and hockey. It would give legal backing to their ownership of players, their drafts, trades and territorial rights. It also would allow the sports to regulate TV and radio broadcasts of their games.

Minor league spokesmen say big league TV is wrecking them at the gate. Critics of the provision argue it is too sweeping — could lead to nationwide blackouts of big time games.

Rep. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) testified that failure to limit major league baseball telecasts would amount to forced destruction of the minors.

Hole-In-One Was Last Life In Golf Ball

HAVERTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Harry McCarthy was still talking five hours after he scored a hole in one at the 40th annual PGA Championship.

McCarthy may talk all the way home to San Diego, Calif. He missed qualifying for the final 36 holes by one stroke.

He kept shaking his head in disbelief, mumbling, "Hole in one at the PGA. Boy!"

A hole in one isn't exactly a novelty to the Balboa Park Course pro. He's had four of them during his golf life.

"Each one of them," he said, Friday "was made with a different club. I got one with a two wood, another with a 4 iron, one with a 3 iron and today's with a 2 iron."

McCarthy's shot on the 215-yard par three 4th hole at Llanerch Country Club hit 10 feet in front of the pin and as the Californian describes it, "took a loopy bounce and 'plunk.'"

McCarthy's scorekeeper, Mrs. Dot Flaherty of Llanerch, immediately asked for the ball.

"I wanted to be a gentleman and give it to her," he said, "but we compromised. I asked that she let me play it for what good there was left in the ball.

"Factually, there was nothing good left in it. I took two sixes on succeeding holes, and on the sixth, I cut it almost in half. I pulled it apart and handed it to the lady."

Athletics Strike Early, Whip Yankees In 2-1 Tilt

NEW YORK (AP)—The Kansas City Athletics wrapped up their scoring in the first two innings and went on to beat New York 2-1 Friday night as left-hander Dick Tomanek worked out of a ninth-inning jam that cost him a shutout.

The first three A's to bat—Mike Baxes, Bill Tuttle and Roger Maris—singled for a run. The second run came on a single by Frank House, a pair of infield outs that moved him to third and a single by Baxes.

Don Larsen went the distance for the first time since June 22 for the Yankees, but wound up with a 7-4 record and his first defeat by the A's since Aug. 31, 1954.

Tomanek, 27, making his first start after compiling a 2-1 record in relief since the June 15 deal that sent him to the A's from Cleveland, now is 5-4 for the season, with three victories over New York.

The Yankees, who haven't been shut out by a southpaw since Cleveland's Herb Score did it on Aug. 21, 1956, had eight hits before the ninth, but few good chances.

With two out in the ninth, Andy Carey and Norm Siebern got their second singles of the game. Then Carey cracked through Tomanek's bid for his major league shutout when pinch hitter Yogi Berra punched a bad - hop single past first baseman Harry Simpson on a 3-2 pitch.

Larsen then flied out to right to end it for the 21,873 fans who saw the A's gain but their second victory in the last 11 games.

The A's never had beaten Larsen since the big right - hander switched to a Yankee uniform. He had a 8-0 record against them since that 1954 defeat, when the A's were from Philadelphia and he led the league in defeats with a 3-21 record for Baltimore.

This one was a great duel. Tomanek was touched for 11 hits, but struck out four and didn't walk a man. Larsen gave up eight hits, but blanked the A's on three after the second inning. He gave up the lone walk of the game and struck out four.

The A's not only got a quick run in the first inning, but also got rid of Yankee center fielder Mickey Mantle. The Nick collided with shortstop Tony Kubek chasing Baxes' leadoff single, stayed in the game until the seventh, when he went out to nurse a bruised left forearm.

WYNN STRONG

Pale Sox Breeze Past Solons, 9-2

WASHINGTON (AP) — With Early Wynn restricting Washington to four hits and Al Smith knocking in five runs on a grand slam homer and two doubles, the Chicago White Sox breezed to a 9-2 victory over the Senators Friday night.

Wynn fanned 11, bringing his season's total to 101, the ninth straight year he has topped the 100 mark.

The 38-year - old Wynn, with more shutouts than any other active American League pitcher, was deprived of the 40th of his career in the eighth. The usually flawless White Sox shortstop-second base pair of Luis Aparicio and Nellie Fox erred permitting the Senators to score two unearned runs.

Washington rookie John Romonosky matched Wynn's shutout pitching for the first three innings. But with two out and none on in the fourth, Romonosky walked Earl Battey. Smith then went into action.

The Senators broke their scoreless spell in the eighth. Ossie Alvarez singled and pinch hitter Julio Becquer walked. When Fox fumbled Herb Plews' apparent double-play grounder, the bases were loaded. Then, with one out, Aparicio messed up Neil Chrisley's apparent doubleplay hopper, and two runs scampered across.

Yank Track Team Awaits Official Okay

NEW YORK (AP)—The strongest track team the United States ever has assembled except for an Olympic Games waited Friday to learn if it would leave for Moscow Sunday night.

"We are ready to go or we are ready to stay," said Dan Ferris, honorary secretary - treasurer of the American Athletic Union, in charge of preparations.

The team, 76 strong, is scheduled to leave on a chartered plane from Idlewild at 7:45 p.m., EST, Sunday, arriving in Moscow Monday about midnight, Moscow time.

"The last time I was in touch with the State Department in Washington I was told that everything appeared to be on schedule and that if any change were made because of the Middle East crisis I would be informed promptly," said Ferris. "We have a man in Washington finishing up the formalities, including visas from other places we will visit."

The U.S. team is scheduled to meet the Russians on Sunday and Monday, July 27 and 28, in Moscow in the first dual meet between the two nations, and the largest athletic competition involving athletes of the United States and USSR.

Moss Wins Best Starting Berth In Grand Prix

Monroe Speed Bowl Getting Improvements

There will be no stock car racing at the Monroe Speed Bowl on the Winnsboro road tonight, it was announced yesterday by A. J. Whitlock, owner of the quarter-mile track.

Whitlock said additional work is being undertaken on the track, widening it and making other improvements to assure better races in the future. Whitlock said the track will reopen for business next Saturday night.

Giammalva Drops Favored Barry M'Kay

The scrappy Giammalva polished off his slugging opponent 6-3, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3 in suburban River Forest.

Giammalva ignored MacKay's No. 5 national ranking and ran the towering Dayton, Ohio, star all over the court.

His favorite strategy was to serve MacKay a tempting lob, drawing the slugger to the net. MacKay would smash, and Giammalva would casually return the ball down the sidelines, out of reach of his slower-moving opponent.

MacKay was visibly dissatisfied with his play during the last two sets and let off steam by slamming the ball high in the air or against the screen behind the court.

Bernard "Tut" Bartzen protected his No. 2 seeding by polishing off Henry Crawford of Atlanta, Ga., the only unseeded player then remaining in singles play, 6-0, 6-3, 6-2. The 30-year-old Dallas veteran has lost only 12 games in nine sets so far.

Mrs. Dorothy Head Knode of Forest Hills, N. Y., hoping for an unprecedented third singles title, had a far rougher time getting into the finals than her 6-0, 6-0 score over Baby Vivanco of Mexico would indicate.

Mrs. Knode played with a painfully injured arm after her doctor administered an injection to ease the pain.

Mrs. Knode said the pain decreased after the arm loosened up but that she might have to cancel tournament arrangements for the next few weeks if the arm still hurts after River Forest play ends Sunday.

Grant Golden of Chicago pulled the second upset of the day, defeating Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., 7-5, 6-1, 6-1. Reed was seeded third, two ahead of Golden.

Italians Lead Poles In Zone Davis Matches

WARSAW (AP)—Italy won the opening singles matches Friday to take a 2-0 lead over Poland in their European Zone Davis Cup semifinal competition.

Nicola Pietrangeli defeated Wladyslaw Skonecki, 6-3, 6-2, 4-6, 6-4 in the first match, and Orlando Sirola won over Andrzej Licis, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4, 6-3.

The winning team will meet England in the zone finals.

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

Both Feller, Cleveland's former strikeout king, and Robinson, ex-Dodger third baseman, testified before the Senate anti-monopoly subcommittee on House - passed sports legislation.

"Don't punish" young players by discontinuing bonuses, Robinson said. He said payments for signing a contract provide youngsters with a nest egg to live on, if it turns out that they lack the ability to make a career of the major leagues.

Feller said these bonuses lead to no good. Based only on hopes for the future, he contended, they bring "undue attention on a young boy... may turn his head... cause resentment among his teammates... He may not be able to take it all in stride."

A new baseball rule permitting major league teams to draft players with four years experience in the minors "will tend to do away with some of the ridiculous bonuses being paid," Feller said.

Feller added that baseball must "really be in bad shape" if its operators insist bonuses are necessary to build up their clubs.

Feller said he was born 20 years too soon—all he received for signing was those three baseballs. He did say he was lucky enough to be "among the many who were signed illegally."

In the 1930s, when Feller was signed off his Iowa farm home, big league clubs were forbidden to grab schoolboys and sandlotters from the minors. Feller said he received a contract with the Fargo, N. D., team and by imaginary shifts came swiftly up through the minors to Cleveland. Actually he came up directly.

"The guy who signed me was made general manager of Cleveland the next year," Feller said.

Now a baseball broadcaster, Feller testified that Congress, baseball and the networks have a crucial problem to solve in balancing the public's desire for home television of big league games and the damage done to minor league gate receipts.

The bill before the subcommittee affects pro baseball, football, basketball and hockey. It would give legal backing to their ownership of players, their drafts, trades and territorial rights. It also would allow the sports to regulate TV and radio broadcasts of their games.

Minor league spokesmen say big league TV is wrecking them at the gate. Critics of the provision argue it is too sweeping — could lead to nationwide blackouts.

Rep. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) testified that failure to limit major league baseball telecasts would amount to forced destruction of the minors.

CAPACITY CROWD

Homer-Happy Cubs Paste Braves With 5-3 Defeat

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—The muscle-flexing Chicago Cubs bombarded the world champion Milwaukee Braves with their home run artillery Friday, Ernie Banks and Walt Mroyn triggering them to a 5-3 victory.

The Braves, who also added a couple of blasts by Joe Adcock and Hank Aaron, ended a five-game winning streak.

The third-place Cubs now have totaled 105 homers for the campaign and nudged closer to the top spot in winning their 11th game in the last 15 starts.

The Cubs, playing before an overflow Wrigley Field ladies day crowd of 43,175—highest in several years—packed three runs into the third inning off Carlton Willye, recently recalled from Wichita where he had pitched a no-hitter earlier in the season.

Al Dark led off with a single and Lee Walls followed with another to mark the 14th straight game he has hit safely. Then Banks hammered his 25th homer 420 feet into the left center stands.

Aaron's 19th homer in the sixth —giving the Braves a total of 103 —locked the score 3-3.

That's the way it stayed until the Cubs again got to Willey in the eighth to hand him his third setback against a pair of victories.

Sammy Taylor started it with a double, his only hit. Then Moryn, hitless in three trips, stepped up with moose calls from the crowd ring in his ears.

The crowd was the largest for a ladies day in three years and an estimated 2,000 persons were turned away at the gates. Paid attendance was 27,257, leaving 15,916 on the guest list.

WOODESHICK WINS FIRST START

Indians Check Baltimore, 5-1

BALTIMORE (AP)—Rookie Hal Woodeshick, making his first start this season, checked Baltimore on seven hits Friday and Earl Averill smashed a three-run homer in Cleveland's 5-1 victory over the Orioles.

The only Baltimore run leaked through in the sixth inning, when the Tribe made two errors, one of them Woodeshick's wild throw.

Averill's second inning smash, his first homer of the season, featured an 11-hit attack on three Baltimore pitchers. Lary Doby and Rocky Colavito opened that inning with singles, and after Russ Nixon grounded out, Averill parked one in the left field stands.

The hitting and pitching stars were celebrating together. They were both called up from San Diego at the same time recently.

Woodeschick, a southpaw, had a 10-2 record in the Pacific Coast League before his recall.

The Indians scored their fourth run in the fifth inning. Minnie Minoso slapped a grounder that Robinson couldn't handle at third base and it went for a double. He went to third on an infield out and Doby singled him home.

The Tribe's final run came in the seventh when Mickey Vernon tripled and scored on Willy Miranda's throwing error.

Errors by Woodeshick and Billy Hunter in the sixth marred the Cleveland hurler's try for a shutout. Woodeshick's wild throw to first enabled Jim Busby to take third base, and when Hunter threw wildly to first trying to double off Dick Williams, Busby went home.

Averill, Minoso and Doby each had two hits for Cleveland, and Busby, Williams and Bob Boyd paced the Orioles with a pair apiece.

Hole-In-One Was Last Life In Golf Ball

HAVERTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Harry McCarthy was still talking five hours after he scored a hole in one at the 40th annual PGA Championship.

McCarthy may talk all the way home to San Diego, Calif. He missed qualifying for the final 36 holes by one stroke.

A hole in one isn't exactly a novelty to the Balboa Park Course pro. He's had four of them during his golf life.

"Each one of them," he said, Friday "was made with a different club. I got one with a two wood, another with a 4 iron, one with a 3 iron and today's with a 2 iron"

McCarthy's shot on the 215-yard par three 4th hole at Llanerch Country Club hit 10 feet in front of the pin and as the Californian describes it, "took a loopy bounce and 'plunk.' "

"I wanted to be a gentleman and give it to her," he said, "but we compromised. I asked that she let me play it for what good there was left in the ball.

"Factually, there was nothing good left in it. I took two sixes on succeeding holes, and on the sixth, I cut it almost in half. I pulled it apart and handed it to the lady."

Ag Leaders Set To Test Legislation

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Disgruntled agricultural leaders, disappointed by the failure of much of their legislative program this year, are expected to hold some stormy sessions at the annual farm bureau meeting here July 20-23.

The predicted squawks probably will come Tuesday, when farmers divide into 10 conferences for discussion of farm problems, and Wednesday, when the 160 voting delegates adopt resolutions and elect officers.

Among the legislative actions that made farm bureau officials unhappy during the recent session of the legislature were the cuts in the brucellosis and fire ant eradication budgets, the defeat of a proposed trespass law and dairy legislation, and the defeat of bills authorizing a New Farmers' Market and Food Terminal near New Orleans.

Scheduled to speak at the meeting are Robert Fleming, Washington, secretary - treasurer of the National Farm Bureau, Mayor deLesseps Morrison of New Orleans and Sen. Allen J. Ellender.

Students at Central School in Fort William, Ontario, Canada, spent their hours after school collecting 35,000 coathangers which they sold to cleaning firms for one cent each. They spent the money to buy equipment for a school for retarded children.

3 Robbers Use Saw, Greetings To Get $70,000

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)— Three robbers who cut their way into a Society or Savings Bank branch from an upstairs room Friday greeted the bank employees as they arrived and then escaped with an estimated $70,000.

A bank spokesman said the three, wearing stockings pulled over their faces, were waiting inside the bank when personnel reported for work shortly before 9 a.m.

When the assistant manager, Richard Taylor, reported, the men forced him at gunpoint to open the safe. They took all the money and made their escape in Taylor's car which was recovered by police 18 blocks from the robbery scene.

More than 1,100 farmer spokesmen are scheduled to attend the 36th annual convention.

The predicted squawks probably will come Tuesday, when farmers divide into 10 conferences for discussion of farm problems, and Wednesday, when the 160 voting delegates adopt resolutions and elect officers.

Among the legislative actions that made farm bureau officials unhappy during the recent session of the legislature were the cuts in the brucellosis and fire ant eradication budgets, the defeat of a proposed trespass law and dairy legislation, and the defeat of bills authorizing a New Farmers' Market and Food Terminal near New Orleans.

Scheduled to speak at the meeting are Robert Fleming, Washington, secretary - treasurer of the National Farm Bureau, Mayor deLesseps Morrison of New Orleans and Sen. Allen J. Ellender.

Students at Central School in Fort William, Ontario, Canada, spent their hours after school collecting 35,000 coathangers which they sold to cleaning firms for one cent each. They spent the money to buy equipment for a school for retarded children.

3 Robbers Use Saw, Greetings To Get $70,000

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)— Three robbers who cut their way into a Society or Savings Bank branch from an upstairs room Friday greeted the bank employees as they arrived and then escaped with an estimated $70,000.

A bank spokesman said the three, wearing stockings pulled over their faces, were waiting inside the bank when personnel reported for work shortly before 9 a.m.

When the assistant manager, Richard Taylor, reported, the men forced him at gunpoint to open the safe. They took all the money and made their escape in Taylor's car which was recovered by police 15 blocks from the robbery scene.

Police set up roadblocks in the area.

Phi Mu Houseparty Held By Tec Chapter

The Alpha Lambda Chapter of Phi Mu from Louisiana Polytechnic Institute held its annual houseparty at the Holiday Inn in Monroe, July 11, 12, and 13.

The girls came from their homes in Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas to make plans for fall rush. They swam Friday afternoon away and at 7:00 Friday evening a business meeting was held.

Miss Camille Clark, rush chairman, presided. Miss Clark, Miss Mary Virginia Stovall and Miss Sylvia Middlebrooks, and alumni of the chapter, gave the Phi Mus a review of the national convention held in New York.

Committees were assigned and rush suggestions were made. Saturday morning the girls began making invitations, favors etc. for the forth coming school year. Old songs were sung and new ones were learned under the leadership of Edna Ruth Moncrief.

Whether you're packing a picnic hamper, setting a barbecue table in the backyard, or having a conventional Saturday night buffet, it'll be better if you include ripe olives. They're good go-alongs with so many things — soft drinks, potato chips, hamburgers, sliced tomatoes and cheese. Olives come pitted, sliced or chopped as well as whole, so keep a good supply on hand for summer meals and snacks.

July Meeting Of Logtown H.D. Club

Mrs. H. V. Hanson was hostess for the July meeting of Logtown Home Demonstration Club in the lovely home of Mrs. A. T. Stout.

The vice-president, Mrs. Hanson, introduced Mrs. Audrey H. Dawson home demonstration agent, who discussed "How To Give Yourself A Raise." Mrs. Dawson stated that as homemakers we are responsible for most of the family spending. Listing nine categories under which the housewife's spending falls, the agent gave practical suggestions on how we might save money. The first topic for discussion was food. A comparison was made between the cost of fresh, canned and frozen foods which we produce ourselves and the cost of the same foods purchased in stores. The agent pointed out that we can produce our own at a cost of 4.8 cents, while the same food would cost us 29.9 cents if purchased. Mrs. Dawson also gave helpful suggestions in regard to clothing, utilities, household aids, shopping, gifts, recreation, grooming and credit.

Following adjournment, the hostess served delicious refreshments to Madams Audrey H. Dawson, W. J. Lowe, J. B. Filhiol, W. A. Calloway, C. C. Scharf, A. T. Stout, J. Y. Pipes, Garland Shipp, Marvin Shipp and Mrs. Thomas Stockwell.

The next meeting will be held in September in the home of Mrs. A. T. Stout. Mrs. E. M. Granberry will serve as co-hostess.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Strong Emotion Finds Expression Many Ways

By ANN LANDERS

Has there ever been a mother who has not been shocked and upset when a child says, "I hate you. You're mean." The fact that these phrases are familiar to all parents, at some time or another, should help to draw their sting.

Mrs. G. S. writes, "When my 4½-year-old son gets angry he calls me stupid, mean and rotten. I resent this very much. I have tried telling him that people will not want their children to play with him if he talks this way. Then, sometimes, I administer some slaps on his buttocks, but this seems no solution.

"What can I and must I do to end it? I am afraid it will influence his feeling toward me as time goes on. May I add that his daddy does not always talk nicely to me. I dread this lack of respect from my son."

It's Just Anger

Just keep reminding yourself that this is not hate, it is motivated by the child's anger and frustration when you thwart his desire to act. You have the upper hand and all he can do is to flail you with words.

Even if you say, "You can't talk to me like that," he'll say the words under his breath or deep inside himself. But strangely enough once he articulates a strong emotion it tends to disappear. All emotions have to have expression and while some children might control their tongues they would allow their feelings to come in other ways, crying, shouting, pounding on objects, refusing to eat, etc.

If you are ever to help your child, don't add guilt to his anger. Show him that you understand. You don't like such talk, of course, but it is typical of the fourth year when children are boastful, insulting and do most of their talking in an exaggerated way.

You Make Him Mad

But you understand that when he says these things it isn't because he doesn't love you or respect you; it is because you make him so mad he has to say something to hurt you.

When you talk cross and spank him, he must understand that it isn't because you don't love him, but only deplore and want to punish his behavior. Daddy is acting the same when he talks mean to you. But knowing this should prevent it making any difference in your loving relationship with him or daddy.

Taking the age of the child; and the need for an expression of strong emotion into account, you need not feel that this talk will have any lasting influence on his feelings for you. He'll outgrow this habit and express his feelings in other ways.

YOUR PROBLEMS

By ANN LANDERS

Has there ever been a mother who has not been shocked and upset when a child says, "I hate you. You're mean." The fact that these phrases are familiar to all parents, at some time or another, should help to draw their sting.

Mrs. G. S. writes, "When my 4½-year-old son gets angry he calls me stupid, mean and rotten. I resent this very much. I have tried telling him that people will not want their children to play with him if he talks this way. Then, sometimes, I administer some slaps on his buttocks, but this seems no solution.

"What can I and must I do to end it? I am afraid it will influence his feeling toward me as time goes on. May I add that his daddy does not always talk nicely to me. I dread this lack of respect from my son."

It's Just Anger

Just keep reminding yourself that this is not hate, it is motivated by the child's anger and frustration when you thwart his desire to act. You have the upper hand and all he can do is to flail you with words.

Even if you say, "You can't talk to me like that," he'll say the words under his breath or deep inside himself. But strangely enough once he articulates a strong emotion it tends to disappear. All emotions have to have expression and while some children might control their tongues they would allow their feelings to come in other ways, crying, shouting, pounding on objects, refusing to eat, etc.

If you are ever to help your child, don't add guilt to his anger. Show him that you understand. You don't like such talk, of course, but it is typical of the fourth year when children are boastful, insulting and do most of their talking in an exaggerated way.

You Make Him Mad

But you understand that when he says these things it isn't because he doesn't love you or respect you; it is because you make him so mad he has to say something to hurt you.

When you talk cross and spank him, he must understand that it isn't because you don't love him, but only deplore and want to punish his behavior. Daddy is acting the same when he talks mean to you. But knowing this should prevent it making any difference in your loving relationship with him or daddy.

Taking the age of the child; and the need for an expression of strong emotion into account, you need not feel that this talk will have any lasting influence on his feelings for you. He'll outgrow this habit and express his feelings in other ways.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Busy People Are Happy People, Cooperate

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: Is it proper for a married woman, age 28, with two young children to head up a bowling club and drive ten miles once a week to get there?

On her bowling night, the dishes sit in the sink and I have to put the kids in bed. When I told her to hire a sitter she said, "Nothing doing. It won't hurt you to stay home with your own sons one night a week."

Also, she's in church work up to her neck and the telephone rings constantly. She's always baking a cake for a bazaar, driving a relative to the airport, or hauling junk in the car for a rummage sale. Everyone comes before her own family. How about laying her out in good old Landers style?—Shoved Around Excuse me, Dad, if I don't sit down and cry with you. Your wife sounds like a happy, active woman, and you should be darned glad of it.

If the dishes sit—so what? Has the Board of Health registered a complaint? Bowling is better than booze, boy friends or barbituates. I'm heartily in favor of Pa sitting with the kids now and then. There's no substitute for getting acquainted with your off-spring.

If you could read my mail from husbands who have REAL trouble, you'd send your wife a dozen roses. Quit beefing. There's a lot more RIGHT with your marriage than Wrong with it.

Dear Ann: I'm 15, and half the fellows in town are mad at me already because I refuse to go steady.

I started to date a year ago. Being a new girl in town, I was rushed off my feet. After two or three dates, every one of the fellows said if I went out with anyone else they wouldn't date me again. I talked this over with my faculty adviser and my mother. They both said I should NOT go steady and to keep dating several different boys.

I wonder now if I got good advice. Things are different from when my mother went with fellows. She never heard of dancing a straight program with the guy who brought you, but that's the way it is today. Do you think they should revise "the rules" to fit the times? Please help me before I wind up an old maid.—Tizzy

You can revise "the rules" Toots. . .but the human beings are going to remain the same. Everyone wants someone who is desirable and nothing will change that.

Sure the fellows all want to go steady. It's natural for a guy to want to glom on to a good thing. But the smart girl says no. They may refuse to date you, for awhile, but they'll be back when they see it's going to be on your terms or not at all.

And dancing a straight program is for the bob-o-links. You might as well stay home, turn on the hi-fi and dance all evening, just the two of you.

Dear Ann: I am a girl 21 in love with a man 30. He's divorced and has custody of his two children.

A few weeks ago we decided to get married. I'm willing to take his children and be a mother to them. My friends tell me I'll run into all sorts of problems because a step-mother is always competing with the natural mother. I don't want to take anyone's place". Ann, all I ask is a chance to do my best. Do you think this marriage has a chance?—Beth

Yes. If your husband has custody of the children, there must be a very good reason—so don't be defensive. A step-mother can do better than a natural mother in some cases—it depends on the individual and the situation. Good luck.

CONFIDENTIALLY: Undecided Parents: I'd be happy to help you decide. Parents who serve liquor at parties for teenagers must accept the responsibility for what happens later that night. This means necking, automobile accidents, etc. The word from here is positively "no". You cannot control other poeple's children but you can see that they do not get liquor in your home.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for ANN LANDERS' new booklet, "Necking and Petting—And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self - addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper and enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.)

Assignment Argentina

BY ANNE ALLISON

Chapter 16

Weeks passed and the first touches of spring came to Argentina. The trees along the avenues were tight with green buds and in the parks and gardens a riot of color began to appear. With the passage of time, Carol became more and more puzzled by Bill Condon. Despite his near declaration of love while they had been in Lobos, he maintained his businesslike attitude once they returned to town.

Enrique promptly invited her to dinner at one of B. A.'s smartest supper clubs. "You have been neglecting me shamefully," Enrique declared, looking as debonair as always in his dinner jacket.

Carol smiled. At least she knew where she stood with him.

"Is it Bill Condon?" he pursued with interest. "I presume I must have a rival."

"You haven't," Carol informed him. "At least Bill can't seem to make up his mind whether he wants me or not."

The Argentine beamed. "That's what I like about you American girls. You are so refreshingly honest. No Latin woman would ever make such an admission."

"I probably shouldn't," Carol confessed.

"Nonsense. I admire your honesty. I hope you will like mine as well."

"I am proposing to you," Enrique declared. "I have wanted to do so for a long time — almost since the first night I met you — but I was afraid you would turn me down."

Her blue eyes were puzzled. "And now?"

"Now," said the invincible Enrique, "I am quite sure you will accept me."

He shrugged. "But he is not in love with you."

"Perhaps Bill is just confused."

"You are the one who is confused, Carol."

The waiter removed the plates and the orchestra began to play a tango. "Would you care to dance?" Enrique asked solicitously.

Suddenly suspicious Carol asked, "What are you trying to tell me? Something about Bill?"

"You know, of course, that Bill has a girl in the States . . ."

Her expression told him that she had not known . Enrique went on, picking his way as carefully as a cat. "At lease she WAS in the States. She is arriving tomorrow in Buenos Aries."

"I don't believe it," Carol cried. "You must be mistaken."

"I have made it my business not to be mistaken," he insisted. "You forget Bill is my friend. Frankly, I was delighted, selfishly speaking, to know that his romance with Jean Bowman is still very much alive."

So that was why Bill was talking of marriage! Carol groaned. She had succeeded in convincing Bill that marriage would be a good thing for him, but she had not known that he had Jean Bowman in mind as a bride!

Enrique continued. "My aunt approves of our engagement. She has given us her blessing. You see all Argentines are not as narrow minded as the Paz family."

Carol managed to thank him and add that it was quite impossible.

But he was not daunted. "Nothing is impossible. Once you see Jean and Bill together you will change your mind. She is arriving at the airport tomorrow night at eight," Enrique informed her. "If you don't believe me, why don't you find out for yourself?"

Carol's evening was ruined. Inwardly she raged at Bill for deceiving her and yet she knew that it was her own feminine instinct which had failed.

After she returned to the hotel she told herself she would not consider going to the airport the following evening, but after a sleepless night as she watched the gray spring dawn break over Buenos Aires, Carol admitted that was exactly what she was going to do.

Questions And Answers

Q.—My living room is long and narrow and quite dark with just one window in the center of the far wall. It is very dreary looking. How can I make it look attractive?

A.—You can make your living room appear to have better proportions by painting the far wall a bold color, such as Chinese yellow, thus bringing the wall forward. Use striking black and white print fabric for draperies. Paint the other walls off-white to reflect all the light possible.

Q.—I am planning to buy some new accessories for my two small daughters' bedroom and would like some help. The two walls with windows are painted green and the other two walls are salmon. The furniture is walnut. What colors would you suggest for bed coverlets, dust ruffles and draperies?

A.—Quilted white coverlets and dust ruffles and draperies with a floral pattern in brown, green and white on a salmon background would put the finishing touches on your daughters' bedroom.

Q.—We would like to paint the walls of our living room and adjoining hall. Could you suggest a color? The carpet is gray, the furniture is upholstered in bright red, the draperies have a large floral pattern in black, green chartreuse and red on a white background and the draw curtains under them are a medium shade of green. The walls are now mint green but we are tired of it and would like a change.

A.—Pewter gray walls would be a pleasant change and would be a good background for the furnishings you have in your living room. For contrast and interest you might paint the walls of the adjoining hall a light shade of chartreuse.

Despite his near declaration of love while they had been in Lobos, he maintained his businesslike attitude once they returned to town.

Enrique promptly invited her to dinner at one of B. A.'s smartest supper clubs. "You have been neglecting me shamefully," Enrique declared, looking as debonair as always in his dinner jacket.

Carol smiled. At least she knew where she stood with him.

"Is it Bill Condon?" he pursued with interest. "I presume I must have a rival."

"You haven't," Carol informed him. "At least Bill can't seem to make up his mind whether he wants me or not."

The Argentine beamed. "That's what I like about you American girls. You are so refreshingly honest. No Latin woman would ever make such an admission."

"I probably shouldn't," Carol confessed.

"Nonsense. I admire your honesty. I hope you will like mine as well."

She found his admiration balm to her wounded spirits. "What do you mean by that?"

"I am proposing to you," Enrique declared. "I have wanted to do so for a long time — almost since the first night I met you — but I was afraid you would turn me down."

Her blue eyes were puzzled. "And now?"

"Now," said the invincible Enrique, "I am quite sure you will accept me."

He shrugged. "But he is not in love with you."

"Perhaps Bill is just confused."

"You are the one who is confused, Carol."

The waiter removed the plates and the orchestra began to play a tango. "Would you care to dance?" Enrique asked solicitously.

Suddenly suspicious Carol asked, "What are you trying to tell me? Something about Bill?"

"You know, of course, that Bill has a girl in the States . . ."

Her expression told him that she had not known . Enrique went on, picking his way as carefully as a cat. "At lease she WAS in the States. She is arriving tomorrow in Buenos Aries."

"I don't believe it," Carol cried. "You must be mistaken."

"I have made it my business not to be mistaken," he insisted. "You forget Bill is my friend. Frankly, I was delighted, selfishly speaking, to know that his romance with Jean Bowman is still very much alive."

So that was why Bill was talking of marriage! Carol groaned. She had succeeded in convincing Bill that marriage would be a good thing for him, but she had not known that he had Jean Bowman in mind as a bride!

Enrique continued. "My aunt approves of our engagement. She has given us her blessing. You see all Argentines are not as narrow minded as the Paz family."

Carol managed to thank him and add that it was quite impossible.

But he was not daunted. "Nothing is impossible. Once you see Jean and Bill together you will change your mind. She is arriving at the airport tomorrow night at eight," Enrique informed her. "If you don't believe me, why don't you find out for yourself?"

Carol's evening was ruined. Inwardly she raged at Bill for deceiving her and yet she knew that it was her own feminine instinct which had failed.

After she returned to the hotel she told herself she would not consider going to the airport the following evening, but after a sleepless night as she watched the gray spring dawn break over Buenos Aires, Carol admitted that was exactly what she was going to do.

Questions And Answers

Q.—My living room is long and narrow and quite dark with just one window in the center of the far wall. It is very dreary looking. How can I make it look attractive?

A.—You can make your living room appear to have better proportions by painting the far wall a bold color, such as Chinese yellow, thus bringing the wall forward. Use striking black and white print fabric for draperies. Paint the other walls off-white to reflect all the light possible.

Q.—I am planning to buy some new accessories for my two small daughters' bedroom and would like some help. The two walls with windows are painted green and the other two walls are salmon. The furniture is walnut. What colors would you suggest for bed coverlets, dust ruffles and draperies?

A.—Quilted white coverlets and dust ruffles and draperies with a floral pattern in brown, green and white on a salmon background would put the finishing touches on your daughters' bedroom.

Q.—We would like to paint the walls of our living room and adjoining hall. Could you suggest a color? The carpet is gray, the furniture is upholstered in bright red, the draperies have a large floral pattern in black, green chartreuse and red on a white background and the draw curtains under them are a medium shade of green. The walls are now mint green but we are tired of it and would like a change.

A.—Pewter gray walls would be a pleasant change and would be a good background for the furnishings you have in your living room. For contrast and interest you might paint the walls of the adjoining hall a light shade of chartreuse.

IN CASE OF ATTACK

Plans Revealed On Target Areas

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The Mississippi Civil Defense Council revealed for the first time Friday its plan for evacuating target areas in Mississippi and handling evacuees from surrounding states in case of attack.

Hendrix Dawson, CD director, said the Survival Operations Plan, completed only recently, was 20 months in the making.

Under the plan, 700,000 evacuees from other states in addition to evacuees from areas in Mississippi would be absorbed into Mississippi homes.

Dawson said there were eight target areas in and near Mississippi: Greenville and Columbus Strategic Air Command bases, the State Capitol at Jackson, and Gulfport Harbor in Mississippi; at Memphis, Tenn.; Baton Rouge and New Orleans, La.; and Mobile, Ala.

In case of attack, 200,000 evacuees would come from Memphis, 300,000 from New Orleans, 150,000 from Baton Rouge and 135,000 from Mobile.

Dawson said the warning for an aerial attack could be sounded from 1½ to 6 hours in advance. Warning for an intercontinental ballistics missile would come only 15 minutes before the attack.

He said the target areas would be evacuated as completely as possible, using all highways as one-way roads out of the areas.

Evacuees would be assigned to homes in Mississippi on the ratio of one evacuee for each occupant of the house.

Col. Robert H. Holmes Jr., federal planning officer, explained that the survival plan was designed to operate as much from the local level as possible and utilizes the units of local government doing their routine duties as much as possible.

Because of this, he said, the CD Council has scheduled a series of 16 district meetings during July, August and September to instruct city and county officials in the operations of the survival plan.

The meeting schedule opens July 29 at Belzoni for district 10 which includes Holmes, Humphreys, Issaquena, Sharkey, Washington and Yazoo counties. The next meeting is July 30 at Greenville for target area presentation.

Work Ended On Two Local Road Cave-Ins

Work has been completed on the second of two cave-ins which formed traffic hazards in Country Club Road.

City Engineer Wade Sanders said yesterday that six joints of pipe were taken out of the second cave - in area, and 16 feet of cast iron pipe were put in to replace the damaged equipment.

High water during the near-floods in May raised the water level in Phillips Lake and the Bayou DeSiard, which border the road.

The first deep hole in the pavement appeared then, and eight feet of pipe were used to repair sewer equipment that was torn up by the shifting earth and high water.

Additional work was then necessary when the second cave-in occurred, a short distance from the first trouble area.

The second cave - in has now been filled in, and the street will be repaired later this year, when the entire road is re-paved, Sanders stated.

Milk Producers Remind Of Law

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Agriculture Commissioner Sidney McCrory reminded milk producers today a new law becomes effective July 30 calling for ordely milk marketing.

The new law prohibits a processor or handler from giving discounts, rebates, financial assistance, or advertising allowances to retailers of milk or ice cream.

It also prevents, McCrory said, the sale of dairy products below cost and any discrimination in price between purchasers of milk and frozen desserts.

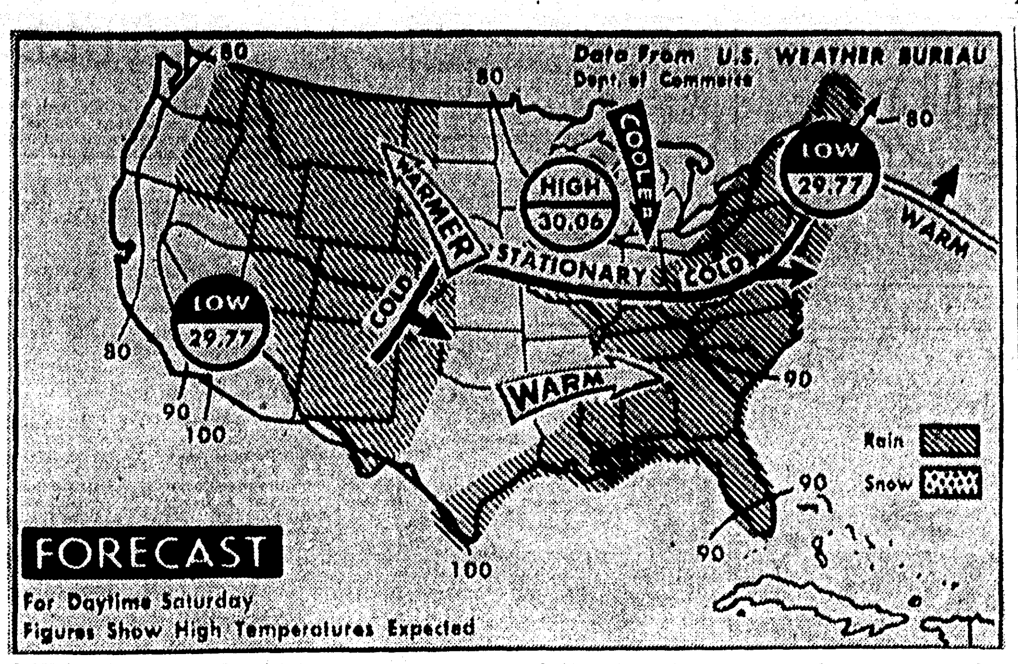
Two Men Face Driving Charges

Monroe police arrested two men yesterday and both were charged with drunk driving and reckless driving.

Merlin Frank Bramlitt, 2712 Brentwood St., Tyler, Tex., was apprehended at 2200 Louisville Ave. He posted a $437.50 property bond.

Calvin C. Diggins, Negro, 1206 Rogers St., posted $510 property bond on a similar charge.

Both men will appear in city court July 23.



WEATHER FORECAST—Showers and thunderstorms will be scattered through the Gulf coast and from the lower and mid-Mississippi Valley eastward to the Atlantic coast today. Scattered rain activity is also expected through the Rockies. It will be a bit warmer in the Northeast and cooler in the Great Lakes area. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Ala. Woman Is Charged In Accident

Richland Parish Deputy Sheriff Leo Lions, investigating officer, said the reckless driving count would be lodged against Mrs. W. M. Ewing of Birmingham, Ala.

Mrs. Ewing was the driver of a car which, police said, attempted to pass a line of traffic and collided with a westbound car driven by Mrs. Harvey Strong, Delhi nurse. Mrs. Strong sustained a cut on the forehead.

A passenger in the Ewing car, Mrs. J. S. Dupuy, also of Birmingham, suffered possible internal injuries. Her daughter, Patsy Dupuy was treated for a cut tendon on the right foot. All the Ewing car passengers were treated at a Delhi clinic and transferred to Mercy Hospital in Vicksburg, Miss.

Mrs. Ewing was earlier listed in critical condition.

Richland parish authorities said the Ewing vehicle struck the right tire of the Strong vehicle, left the highway on the south side and entered a bar pit, traveled about 25 or 30 feet and then crossed the highway again. Zigzagging the car traveled up a bar pit on the northside and crashed into a light pole 90 yards from the southside of the road, knocking the power pole 10 feet off its foundation and causing it to split, the deputy said.

IN CASE OF ATTACK

Plans Revealed On Target Areas

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The Mississippi Civil Defense Council revealed for the first time Friday its plan for evacuating target areas in Mississippi and handling evacuees from surrounding states in case of attack.

Hendrix Dawson, CD director, said the Survival Operations Plan, completed only recently, was 20 months in the making.

Under the plan, 700,000 evacuees from other states in addition to evacuees from areas in Mississippi would be absorbed into Mississippi homes.

Dawson said there were eight target areas in and near Mississippi: Greenville and Columbus Strategic Air Command bases, the State Capitol at Jackson, and Gulfport Harbor in Mississippi; at Memphis, Tenn.; Baton Rouge and New Orleans, La.; and Mobile, Ala.

In case of attack, 200,000 evacuees would come from Memphis, 300,000 from New Orleans, 150,000 from Baton Rouge and 135,000 from Mobile.

Dawson said the warning for an aerial attack could be sounded from 1½ to 6 hours in advance. Warning for an intercontinental ballistics missile would come only 15 minutes before the attack.

He said the target areas would be evacuated as completely as possible, using all highways as one-way roads out of the areas.

Evacuees would be assigned to homes in Mississippi on the ratio of one evacuee for each occupant of the house.

Col. Robert H. Holmes Jr., federal planning officer, explained that the survival plan was designed to operate as much from the local level as possible and utilizes the units of local government doing their routine duties as much as possible.

Because of this, he said, the CD Council has scheduled a series of 16 district meetings during July, August and September to instruct city and county officials in the operations of the survival plan.

The meeting schedule opens July 29 at Belzoni for district 10 which includes Holmes, Humphreys, Issaquena, Sharkey, Washington and Yazoo counties. The next meeting is July 30 at Greenville for target area presentation.

FRENCH ADMISSION

PARIS (UPI)—France Friday indirectly admitted French warships were operating off the Lebanese coast by denying that the chief of U.S. forces in Lebanon had snubbed a French admiral. The Paris edition of the New York Herald Tribune said the American Commander, Vice Adm. James L. Holloway, had refused to fire a customary salute when French Vice Adm. Edouard Jozan arrived off Beirut Thursday aboard his flagship, the Cruiser De Grasse.

FRENCH ADMISSION

PARIS (UPI)—France Friday indirectly admitted French warships were operating off the Lebanese coast by denying that the chief of U.S. forces in Lebanon had snubbed a French admiral. The Paris edition of the New York Herald Tribune said the American Commander, Vice Adm. James L. Holloway, had refused to fire a customary salute when French Vice Adm. Edouard Jozan arrived off Beirut Thursday aboard his flagship, the Cruiser De Grasse.

Play Safe While You Drive!

Keep alert—chew gum

Avoid traffic jitters and driving drowsiness.. Chew gum while you're behind the wheel. Chewing helps relieve strain and tension—helps keep you feeling fresh and alert for safer driving.

Chew any brand of gum you like but chew while you drive. Naturally, we recommend refreshing, delicious Wrigley's Spearmint Gum—for lively, satisfying flavor and real chewing enjoyment.

CHICAGO (AP) — The market for butcher hogs Friday was mostly steady but buyers bid prices as much as 25 cents higher on weights over 230 lbs. Trade was fairly active on the 3,500 head offered, about 1,000 less than expected.

The top price was $23, paid for about 400 head of mostly No. 1 grade in the 220-225 lb range but several hundred head of 1s and 2s at the same weights moved at $22.85. The 200-270 lb 2s and 3s were $22.50-22.85 and heavier weights down to $21.25.

Sow prices were steady to 25 cents higher at $17.50-21.75.

Offerings of slaughter steers and heifers were too meager to test the market and no sales of consequence were made. About 500 head of the small receipts were held over.

The good and choice vealer grades sold at $28-31, the utility and standard at $18-28 with prices about steady. Bulls were 50 cents lower and cleared at $22-23.50 for utility and commercial.

The market for slaughter lambs was steady to 50 cents lower and for slaughter ewes about steady with good and choice spring lambs bringing $23.50-25.50. The cull to low good kinds went at $20-23.50 and slaughter ewes at $5-6 for good to choice.

COTTON LETTER

Courtesy of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith

The nearbys closed with little net change while distant months were of moderately. Weakness in the latter apeared due to profit taking following substantial advance during the past week.

The Senate is expected to vote on the reciprocal trade act shortly which could clear the way for discussion of the omnibus farm bill. Rep. Cooley restated legislation was doubtful because congressional adjournment was only three weeks away. Other sources indicate Congress may not adjourn till around the end of August.

Worth St. experienced its second day of heavy volume sales. It is believed another 20 million yards of gray goods sold with prices advancing to 17½-18 cents a yard for 80 square for fourth quarter delivery.

The volume of sales was attributed directly to the Middle East situation which has called attention to the low inventory position.

The Japanese government is urging the cotton spinners to cut cloth production 40 per cent instead of 30 per cent starting the first of August.

WOOL LETTER

Courtesy of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith

Up to Thursday's close futures had advanced nearly ten cents per pound during a two week period. Much of this rise was stimulated by the fall of the government in Iran and subsequent displays of strength by the opposing sides.

By failure of further significant prices to develop London futures declined nearly one and a half cents. This precipitated weakness in our market but weekend short covering near the close reduced most losses to around a cent per pound or less.

Much of the buying during this period came from two sources. First, those who were short and were fearful that serious conflict might well result in a dramatic price rise as historically speaking, wool values are at a low level.

Secondly, those who follow the headlines seized the opportunity in the hopes of making a fast profit.

While some trade selling was encountered on a scale up, it was insufficient to offset the buying power. Most of selling was believed of the trade variety and probably represents a favorable hedge basis against wool purchased as a lower price level.

Since mills maintain demand has not improved materially during the past week. The short term price outlook for woll seems closely allied to the developments in the Middle East.

Values tended firmer at the close of the London spot wool sale. Most grades were moderately higher than on Wednesday, although crossbreds and some types of merinos did not share in the advance.

Ten top notices and one wool notice were promptly stopped by the trade.

GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — Corn futures prices extended their recent gains with a good rally on the Board of Trade Friday but other grains and soybeans finished mostly lower.

Trading was brisk at times and indicated a volume again well above average as it has been since the Middle East crisis broke open the full market on Tuesday.

There was a strong movement among many dealers to cash their profits and go to the sidelines for the weekend but their offerings were quickly taken by short interests eager to cover commitments against any possible worsening of the international situation.

Selling pressure has been notably absent since the U.S. Marines landed in Lebanon, but traders commented that the supply situation in cash grain could have brought that about anyway, although probably to a lesser degree. The market has been cramped between small supplies of grain available for delivery and commercial requirements.

Wheat closed ⅜-2 cents a bushel lower, July $1.90½-⅜; corn ¼-1¾ higher, oats ¼ higher to ⅜ lower, July 65½; rye ⅛ higher to ½ lower, July $1.30⅜; soybeans ⅞-2¾ lower, July $2.32⅝-¼; lard

Wheat finished ⅜-2 cents a bushel lower, July $1.90½-⅜; corn ¼-1¾ higher, July $1.35⅛-34½; oats ¼ higher to ⅜ lower; July 65½; rye ⅛ higher to ½ lower, July $1.30⅜; soybeans ⅞-2¾ lower, July $2.32⅝-¼; lard 22 cents a hundred pounds higher to 13 cents lower, July $12.42.

TICKER TAPE HIGHLIGHTS

Transactions

Yesterday's opening blocks included 4,500 Royal Dutch up five - eighths, 5,000 Big Steel up three - eighths, 3,500 Douglas up a half and 2,200 Phillips up three - quarters. Prices settled back after a wildly enthusiastic opening but firmed in the second hour and at noon around $1.50.

Aircrafts

Most aircrafts were small fractional gainers with North American's one - eighth and Douglas' three - eighths typical. Airlines were fractionally mixed. Allegheny Ludlum lost a half but most steels were up fractions, from three-eighths in MCO and Bethlehem to three - quarters in Youngstown.

Tobaccos

Tobaccos were fractionally easier. Coppers and aluminums were generally ahead fractions with Alcoa gaining point. Most oils, including internationals, were up fractions and Texas added one and a quarter. Electronics were narrowly mixed.

Chemicals

Chemicals were ragged with profit taking hitting Allied, Olin and National Lead for fractions. Dupont was unchanged. Automotives showed little change as did building supplies and papers.

Rails

Rails generally gained fractions, though Illinois Central and Southern Pacific were small losers. IBM and Polaroid gained a quarter. Safeway lost an eighth.

BUSINESS HIGHLIGHTS

LIVING COSTS

Living costs rose to a new all-time high in June under the impetus of meat and used car prices. The National Industrial Conference board's index for June, using 1953 as a base of 100, was 107.5, up 0.2 per cent from May and 2.9 per cent a year ago.

UNEMPLOYMENT FIGURES

Unemployment among workers covered by jobless benefits will shoot up to a record peak of 3,500,000 next winter, Labor Department experts told Congress.

ATOMIC REACTORS

The House Appropriations Committee voted funds to begin construction of a convertible plutonium reactor opposed by the administration. The committee action came as it approved a $3,100,000,000 appropriation bill for the Atomic Energy Commission and a dozen other federal agencies needing funds for the fiscal year which began July 1.

RAILROAD CHARGE

Clair M. Roddeweig, president of the Association of Western Railways, charged Congress is considering legislation that would impose "crushing costs" on the nation's railroads. He was commenting on bills aimed at increased benefits under the railroad Retirement and Unemployment Insurance Act.

INDIAN TAXES

The Treasury Department said it hopes to open talks in the near future with the government of India on an income tax agreement to eliminate double taxation and other tax obstacles to the flow of trade and investment capital. The talks are set to start in September.

NAVY CONTRACT

The Navy has awarded a $1,600,000 contract to American Bosch Arma Corp. for fire control equipment used in guns and missiles; a $1,300,000 contract to Thompson Products Inc. for guided missile launcher components; and a $1,250,000 to the National Carbon Co. COTTON

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures today closed 10 cents a bale higher to 90 cents lower.

The market was on the defensive due to hedging and profit taking. New Orleans was a prominent seller.

The reaction was partly technical, following the market advance earlier this week. The Middle East situation was also an unsettling influence.

The selling was well absorbed in current crop months through trade buying as dealers reported active selling of print cloths and sheetings in the cotton textile market.

The most pronounced decline developed in new crop months, reflecting mixed opinion among traders as to prospects of new farm legislation.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The average price of one inch spot cotton at 14 designated southern spot markets today was unchanged at 34.91 cents a pound; previous day 34.91; week ago 34.89; month ago 34.83; year ago 34.04. Average for the past 30 market days 34.78. Middling 15-16ths inch average 33.38. Sales 5,621.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Spot cotton closed steady and unchanged. Sales 12. Low middling 27.10; middling 35.10; good middling 36.10. Receipts 2,053. Stock 387,503.

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures were lower today as the market encountered profit taking and hedging following market advances earlier in the week.

Declines in the near months were checked by mill covering operations as dealers reported fairly active byying of print cloth and sheetings today in the cotton textile market.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department announced Friday that a penalty of 19.3 cents a pound will be assessed against growers selling 1958 crop upland cotton in excess of marketing quotas under a crop control program.

These penalties are more than half the current market prices.

Quotas for both types of cotton have been approved by growers voting in referendum.

A growers quota is the amount of cotton grown on acres allotted him for planting to controlled crops.

Market Up To Highest Of Season

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market Friday churned irregularly to another new peak for the year and did it on the heaviest volume of the week.

It was the market's fourth straight three-million-share day, the total of 3,350,000 shares topping Thursday's 3,180,000. For this year it was second only to the 3,950,000 shares traded Jan. 16.

Once again, defense-related stocks got a big play in a continued reflection of the international crisis. But profit taking late in the day erased or slashed many gains, leaving the overall list in a highly mixed state.

The industrials carried the ball in the rise and steels were again the favorites, five issues in this group being among the 15 most active stocks. Rails and utilities showed a lower tendency.

Most aircrafts, base metals, rubbers and electronics made gains. Gains by oils were clipped severely.

Eleven of the 15 most active stocks rose, three fell and one was unchanged.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 10 cents to its new 1958 high of $178.10 with the industrials up 70 cents to a new high for the year, the rails down 10 cents and the utilities down 30 cents.

Of 1,181 issues traded, 498 rose and 453 fell. There were 119 new highs for the year and 5 newslows.

American Stock Exchange prices were mixed on volume of 770,000 shares compared with 730,000 Thursday.

$7,900,000 PROGRAM

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Mayor Allen Thompson said Thursday the city's proposed bond program now totals $7,900,000, but that the figure is still tentative and may be changed before the resolution setting up a bond election Aug. 26. Money will go to airport and municipal improvements.

INSURANCE COST RISES

LONDON (UPI)— British insurance underwriters have boosted the "war risk" premium for ships using Iraqi ports sevenfold—from 10 cents to 70 cents per $280. Iraq, which is in the throes of a rebellion, has a short coastline along the Persian Gulf and is a major oil producer.

ACCIDENT IN EUROPE

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI)—European highway accidents killed or injured more than two persons every minute in 1956, the U.N. Economic Commission for Europe reported Friday. It said there were 40,042 deaths and 1,125,383 injuries in the 14 nations that took part in the survey.

CHICAGO (AP) — The market for butcher hogs Friday was mostly steady but buyers bid prices as much as 25 cents higher on weights over 230 lbs. Trade was fairly active on the 3,500 head offered, about 1,000 less than expected.

The top price was $23, paid for about 400 head of mostly No. 1 grade in the 220-225 lb range but several hundred head of 1s and 2s at the same weights moved at $22.85. The 200-270 lb 2s and 3s were $22.50-22.85 and heavier weights down to $21.25.

Sow prices were steady to 25 cents higher at $17.50-21.75.

Offerings of slaughter steers and heifers were too meager to test the market and no sales of consequence were made. About 500 head of the small receipts were held over.

The good and choice vealer grades sold at $28-31, the utility and standard at $18-28 with prices about steady. Bulls were 50 cents lower and cleared at $22-23.50 for utility and commercial.

The market for slaughter lambs was steady to 50 cents lower and for slaughter ewes about steady with good and choice spring lambs bringing $23.50-25.50. The cull to low good kinds went at $20-23.50 and slaughter ewes at $5-6 for good to choice.

COTTON LETTER

The nearbys closed with little net change while distant months were of moderately. Weakness in the latter apeared due to profit taking following substantial advance during the past week.

The Senate is expected to vote on the reciprocal trade act shortly which could clear the way for discussion of the omnibus farm bill. Rep. Cooley restated legislation was doubtful because congressional adjournment was only three weeks away. Other sources indicate Congress may not adjourn till around the end of August.

Worth St. experienced its second day of heavy volume sales. It is believed another 20 million yards of gray goods sold with prices advancing to 17½-18 cents a yard for 80 square for fourth quarter delivery.

The volume of sales was attributed directly to the Middle East situation which has called attention to the low inventory position.

The Japanese government is urging the cotton spinners to cut cloth production 40 per cent instead of 30 per cent starting the first of August.

Courtesy of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith

Up to Thursday's close futures had advanced nearly ten cents per pound during a two week period. Much of this rise was stimulated by the fall of the government in Iran and subsequent displays of strength by the opposing sides.

By failure of further significant prices to develop London futures declined nearly one and a half cents. This precipitated weakness in our market but weekend short covering near the close reduced most losses to around a cent per pound or less.

Much of the buying during this period came from two sources. First, those who were short and were fearful that serious conflict might well result in a dramatic price rise as historically speaking, wool values are at a low level.

Secondly, those who follow the headlines seized the opportunity in the hopes of making a fast profit.

While some trade selling was encountered on a scale up, it was insufficient to offset the buying power. Most of selling was believed of the trade variety and probably represents a favorable hedge basis against wools purchased as a lower price level.

Since mills maintain demand has not improved materially during the past week. The short term price outlook for woll seems closely allied to the developments in the Middle East.

Values tended firmer at the close of the London spot wool sale. Most grades were moderately higher than on Wednesday, although crossbreds and some types of merinos did not share in the advance.

Ten top notices and one wool notice were promptly stopped by the trade.

GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — Corn futures prices extended their recent gains with a good rally on the Board of Trade Friday but other grains and soybeans finished mostly lower.

Trading was brisk at times and indicated a volume again well above average as it has been since the Middle East crisis broke open the full market on Tuesday.

There was a strong movement among many dealers to cash their profits and go to the sidelines for the weekend but their offerings were quickly taken by short interests eager to cover commitments against any possible worsening of the international situation.

Selling pressure has been notably absent since the U.S. Marines landed in Lebanon, but traders commented that the supply situation in cash grain could have brought that about anyway, although probably to a lesser degree. The market has been cramped between small supplies of grain available for delivery and commercial requirements.

Wheat closed ⅜-2 cents a bushel lower, July $1.90½-⅜; corn ¼-1¾ higher, oats ¼ higher to ⅜ lower, July 65½; rye ⅛ higher to ½ lower, July $1.30⅜; soybeans ⅞-2¾ lower, July $2.32⅝-¼; lard

Wheat finished ⅜-2 cents a bushel lower, July $1.90½-⅜; corn ¼-1¾ higher, July $1.35⅛-34½; oats ¼ higher to ⅜ lower; July 65½; rye ⅛ higher to ½ lower, July $1.30⅜; soybeans ⅞-2¾ lower, July $2.32⅝-¼; lard 22 cents a hundred pounds higher to 13 cents lower, July $12.42.

TICKER TAPE HIGHLIGHTS

Transactions

Yesterday's opening blocks included 4,500 Royal Dutch up five - eighths, 5,000 Big Steel up three - eighths, 3,500 Douglas up a half and 2,200 Phillips up three - quarters. Prices settled back after a wildly enthusiastic opening but firmed in the second hour and at noon around $1.50.

Aircrafts

Most aircrafts were small fractional gainers with North American's one - eighth and Douglas' three - eighths typical. Airlines were fractionally mixed. Allegheny Ludlum lost a half but most steels were up fractions, from three-eighths in MCO and Bethlehem to three - quarters in Youngstown.

Tobaccos

Tobaccos were fractionally easier. Coppers and aluminums were generally ahead fractions with Alcoa gaining point. Most oils, including internationals, were up fractions and Texas added one and a quarter. Electronics were narrowly mixed.

Chemicals

Chemicals were ragged with profit taking hitting Allied, Olin and National Lead for fractions. Dupont was unchanged. Automotives showed little change as did building supplies and papers.

Rails

Rails generally gained fractions, though Illinois Central and Southern Pacific were small losers. IBM and Polaroid gained a quarter. Safeway lost an eighth.

BUSINESS HIGHLIGHTS

LIVING COSTS

Living costs rose to a new all-time high in June under the impetus of meat and used car prices. The National Industrial Conference board's index for June, using 1953 as a base of 100, was 107.5, up 0.2 per cent from May and 2.9 per cent a year ago.

UNEMPLOYMENT FIGURES

Unemployment among workers covered by jobless benefits will shoot up to a record peak of 3,500,000 next winter, Labor Department experts told Congress.

ATOMIC REACTORS

The House Appropriations Committee voted funds to begin construction of a convertible plutonium reactor opposed by the administration. The committee action came as it approved a $3,100,000,000 appropriation bill for the Atomic Energy Commission and a dozen other federal agencies needing funds for the fiscal year which began July 1.

RAILROAD CHARGE

Clair M. Roddeweig, president of the Association of Western Railways, charged Congress is considering legislation that would impose "crushing costs" on the nation's railroads. He was commenting on bills aimed at increased benefits under the railroad Retirement and Unemployment Insurance Act.

INDIAN TAXES

The Treasury Department said it hopes to open talks in the near future with the government of India on an income tax agreement to eliminate double taxation and other tax obstacles to the flow of trade and investment capital. The talks are set to start in September.

NAVY CONTRACT

The Navy has awarded a $1,600,000 contract to American Bosch Arma Corp. for fire control equipment used in guns and missiles; a $1,300,000 contract to Thompson Products Inc. for guided missile launcher components; and a $1,250,000 to the National Carbon Co. NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures were lower today as the market encountered profit taking and hedging following market advances earlier in the week.

Declines in the near months were checked by mill covering operations as dealers reported fairly active buying of print cloth and sheetings today in the cotton textile market.

Late afternoon prices were unchanged to 75 cents a bale lower than the previous close. Oct. 36.80, Dec. 37.01, March 37.35.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department announced Friday that a penalty of 19.3 cents a pound will be assessed against growers selling 1958 crop upland cotton in excess of marketing quotas under a crop control program.

Likewise, a penalty of 41.6 cents a pound will be levied against excess sales of extra long staple cotton.

These penalties are more than half the current market prices.

Quotas for both types of cotton have been approved by growers voting in referendum.

A growers quota is the amount of cotton grown on acres allotted the farm for planting to controlled crops.

Market Up To Highest Of Season

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market Friday churned irregularly to another new peak for the year and did it on the heaviest volume of the week.

It was the market's fourth straight three-million-share day, the total of 3,350,000 shares topping Thursday's 3,180,000. For this year it was second only to the 3,950,000 shares traded Jan. 16.

Once again, defense-related stocks got a big play in a continued reflection of the international crisis. But profit taking late in the day erased or slashed many gains, leaving the overall list in a highly mixed state.

The industrials carried the ball in the rise and steels were again the favorites, five issues in this group being among the 15 most active stocks. Rails and utilities showed a lower tendency.

Most aircrafts, base metals, rubbers and electronics made gains. Gains by oils were clipped severely.

Eleven of the 15 most active stocks rose, three fell and one was unchanged.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 10 cents to its new 1958 high of $178.10 with the industrials up 70 cents to a new high for the year, the rails down 10 cents and the utilities down 30 cents.

Of 1,181 issues traded, 498 rose and 453 fell. There were 119 new highs for the year and 5 newslows.

American Stock Exchange prices were mixed on volume of 770,000 shares compared with 730,000 Thursday.

$7,900,000 PROGRAM

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Mayor Allen Thompson said Thursday the city's proposed bond program now totals $7,900,000, but that the figure is still tentative and may be changed before the resolution setting up a bond election Aug. 26. Money will go to airport and municipal improvements.

INSURANCE COST RISES

LONDON (UPI)— British insurance underwriters have boosted the "war risk" premium for ships using Iraqi ports sevenfold—from 10 cents to 70 cents per $280. Iraq, which is in the throes of a rebellion, has a short coastline along the Persian Gulf and is a major oil producer.

ACCIDENT IN EUROPE

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI)—European highway accidents killed or injured more than two persons every minute in 1956, the U.N. Economic Commission for Europe reported Friday. It said there were 40,042 deaths and 1,125,383 injuries in the 14 nations that took part in the survey.
